Ouster Asked

Agnew Attacks Yale President In New Clash

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Blaming campus violence on faculties that fail to guide students, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has singled out Yale University and called for the replacement of its president.

Speaking at a $250-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner Tuesday night, Agnew declared:

"The true responsibility for these aberrations and the nurturing of arrogance and contempt for constitutional authority rests not with the young people on campuses, but with those who so miserably fail to guide them.

Strike Endorsed

"I can well understand the attitude of the majority of the student body at Yale University when most of the Yale faculty voted to endorse a strike in support of members of an organization dedicated to criminal violence, anarchy and the destruction of the United States of America."

This was a reference to the Black Panthers, eight of whose members face trial on murder and kidnaping charges in New Haven.

Ouster Suggested

"And," Agnew added, "when the president of that respected university describes the election of a president of the United States by the people of the United States as a 'hucksterized process' under which they could not expect much better 'whichever package was bought or sold,' it is clearly time for the alumni of that fine old college to demand that it be headed by a more mature and responsible person.

"President Kingman Brewster of Yale has also stated that he does not feel that black revolutionaries can get a fair trial within our judicial system.

"I do not feel that the students of Yale University can get a fair impression of their country under the tutelage of Kingman Brewster."

No Immediate Comment

There was no immediate comment from Brewster.

The vice president said American universities have become a spawning ground and sanctuary for revolution and rebellion. He proposed a nine-point program for handling what he called "the criminal left."

Agnew's proposals included:

—Establish a clear set of rules for campus conduct with immediate expulsion for serious violations.

—End open door enrollment policies for unqualified students.

—Eliminate amnesty for lawlessness or violence.

—Bar campus organizations which publicly declare intention to violate the rules of an academic community and then do so.

Agnew said campus radicals are the offspring of "affluent, permissive upper middle class parents who learned their Dr. Spock and threw discipline out the window—when they should have done the opposite.

Soviets Flying Missions For Egypt: Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel charged today that Soviet pilots are flying operational missions for Egypt's air force but said so far they have stayed west of the Suez Canal combat zone.

The Israeli command also announced that Egyptian gunfire across the Suez Canal killed three Israeli soldiers and wounded 18 Tuesday, the highest one-day casualty toll on the waterway this year. A spokesman said artillery exchanges took place on the northern and central sectors of the canal.

The claim that Soviet pilots are flying in Egypt was made in a special announcement which said the development was "viewed with deep gravity" and "must cause concern not only to Israel but to all freedom-loving peoples."

A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman in Moscow said: "We have no information on this."

There was no immediate comment from Egypt.

The announcement indicated that the Soviet pilots were flying most of their missions over the Nile Delta, where Egypt reportedly has installed advanced Soviet SA3 ground-to-air missiles.

Israeli warplanes have been conducting an intensive campaign of raids against the missile sites but have not made any deep penetrations into the delta since April 13, when they struck positions east of the Nile near Cairo and Port Said.

Asks Arms Fund Cut

Solon Says Russian Threat Exaggerated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House military spending critic, firing opening salvos against a $20 24 billion defense bill, charges it exaggerates the Soviet missile threat and would escalate the arms race.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., made the charges Tuesday in a prelude to opponents' efforts to knock all $1 billion for MIRV multiple nuclear warheads and $660 million for the Safeguard antimissile system out of the weapons procurement authorization.

But House Armed Services Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said an expanding threat that could put the Soviets ahead of the United States in technology and strategic power in the mid-1970s makes the bill "the minimum that could safely be approved."

He cited figures released by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird last week that the Soviets are pulling even with the 1,710 U.S. missiles and have quadrupled their nuclear megatonnage. At the same time, Rivers said, U.S. megatonnage has decreased 40 per cent.

But Fraser accused Laird of misleading Congress with a graph showing a rapid, straight line Soviet missile buildup when the administration's own figures show the Soviet buildup has leveled off in the last two years.

Fraser said Laird's own figures show the Soviet buildup dropped from 320 missiles a year in 1966 and 1967 to 160 in 1968 and President Nixon recently announced the rate was 122 missiles a year.

Fraser said the $1 billion in the defense bill for MIRVs—Multiple Independently Targetable Re-entry Vehicles—is the start of a buildup that would give the United States nearly 10,000 nuclear warheads when it now has 4,200 to the Soviets' 1,350.

"If the United States plunges straight on building up this kind of arsenal," he said, "the Soviets instead of leveling off are going to have to go to a second round of armaments."

Long-Awaited Kennedy Case Records Due

BOSTON (AP) — The courtroom record unfolds at last today on the inquiry into events of the summer night Mary Jo Kopechne died in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's automobile.

Suffolk County Superior Court was to release the transcript and the findings of a secret inquest held in January into the drowning of the 28-year-old secretary.

She was killed last July 18 when Kennedy's car plunged from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and overturned into a pond below.

Kennedy failed to report the accident for more than 10 hours, a delay he later termed indefensible. He pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident, received a two-month suspended jail sentence and a year's probation.

The 764-page transcript and the 12-page report of Judge James A. Boyle, who presided behind the closed doors of Edgartown District Court, represent the last official installment in a case that shook American politics.

Reduction Seen In Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Vietnam troop withdrawals may lead to a reduction in draft calls this year to as few as 150,000 men, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says.

The Pentagon chief told a group of business and civil leaders Tuesday "We will be able to further reduce the draft calls for this calendar year" to between 150,000 and 180,000 men.

The 150,000 figure is the lowest estimate yet made and it comes, according to Laird, as "a direct result" of progress in Vietnamization—turning more of the fighting role over to the Saigon government.

Nearly 290,000 men were drafted last year, but the rate has been sharply cut since late 1969 and induction calls through May of this year total 84,500.

Wales Wins Long Border Struggle

LONDON (AP) — Wales won a border fight with England Tuesday after more than 400 years of skirmishing.

Monmouthshire, which was seized for England by King Charles II, will soon be a part of Wales officially, the House of Commons was told by George Thomas, Secretary of State for Wales.

S. Vietnamese Launch Offensive; U.S. Helps

Operation Inside Cambodia Pushed

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government announced thousands of its troops with U. S. combat support launched a new operation inside Cambodia today.

A Communique of the Defense Ministry did not make clear what it meant by combat support of American forces.

It said that in the operation South Vietnam's joint general staff "has requested and has got the support of American forces in combat support, logistics assistance and medical evacuation, etc."

The U. S. Command here and the White House and State Department in Washington declined to comment.

The South Vietnamese communique said the forces would pull out of Cambodia as soon as their mission was completed.

Seek To Neutralize

The Defense Ministry said the operation was launched "with a view to neutralize the North Vietnamese Communists' scheme of using the Cambodian territory as operation bases to infiltrate, shell and attack the territory of the Republic of Vietnam."

The operation is centered in an area inside Cambodia shown on military maps as the "Parrot's Beak," west and northwest of Saigon.

The communique gave no details of the opening stage of the effensive, though newsmen along the border region had recently observed a massive buildup of South Vietnamese troops and armored personnel carriers operating out of Tay Ninh City, 50 miles northwest of Saigon. The Cambodian operation is centered southwest of Tay Ninh City.

First Official Raid

It was the first official acknowledgment of armed forays into Cambodia by the South Vietnamese forces, although they have conducted at least half dozen others since the March 18 overthrow of the Cambodian chief of state, Norodom Sihanouk.

The communique said, "This operation is also a necessary measure in the framework of the policy of the Republic of Vietnam to gradually take more of the responsibility to defend its land and to replace American troops by Vietnamese troops."

The U.S. Command had no immediate comment on the South Vietnamese announcement.

The communique did not elaborate further on American involvement. It did not say exactly what the U.S. troops were doing. The U.S. Command has said that no American forces are authorized to cross into Cambodia for the purpose of taking part in military operations. In previous South Vietnamese operations into Cambodia, American forces have given support by flying supplies as far as the border where they then have been transferred to South Vietnamese transports.

GIs Blocking Force

American infantrymen also have acted as blocking forces just on the South Vietnamese side of the border in order to trap any enemy forces that might move back across the frontier while attempting to elude South Vietnamese units in Cambodia.

Decision Near On Blackmun

WASHINGTON (AP) — A friendly Senate Judiciary Committee called Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota today before what shaped up as a one-day hearing on his nomination to the Supreme Court.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Judiciary chairman, said with no opposition witnesses expected, he would call a meeting Thursday to act on the 61-year-old judge's nomination.

Blackmun, a member of the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals for 11 years, has the endorsement of all his fellow judges on the circuit and of the American Bar Association's federal judiciary committee.

The ABA committee reported in a letter to Eastland Tuesday that Blackmun "meets high standards of professional competence, temperament and integrity," its highest recommendation.

Blackmun was chosen by President Nixon to fill the seat vacated by Abe Fortas after the Senate rejected his first two nominees, Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., and G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Cambodia Aid Could Backfire On GOP, Belief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's impending decision on Cambodia's military aid request comes against the reemergence of Vietnam as an important national political issue.

Although many political leaders in Washington have said Nixon's Vietnamization policy has neutralized the political impact of the war, a recent swing through five Western states indicates the war lurks as a potential hazard for the President and the Republican party.

Vietnam always has been a key issue in such states as New York and California, but now it appears to be resurfacing in smaller, more conservative states.

"People feel that something is being done to de-escalate," said Max Rich, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce in Salt Lake City. But he added any reversal in the withdrawal process, or anything indicating an extension of U.S. commitmenst in Southeast Asia, could carry political dynamite for the GOP.

Granting aid to Cambodia carries just such a risk for the GOP, many politicians believe.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said one panel member cautioned Secretary of State William P. Rogers Monday of the potential political effect of U.S. aid to Cambodia.

"If you do this, we can't elect a dog catcher," Fulbright quoted the unidentified GOP senator as telling the secretary.

Yet, many Republican leaders say Vietnam as a political issue is more help than danger to the Republicans.

Pentagon Says Aid Needed To Protect GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today the United States will send advisers, tactical air strikes and other support for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. It called the move "a necessary and effective measure" to have U. S. and other allied lives.

The Pentagon thus confirmed an announcement by the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry in Saigon that U.S. combat and other support for a major operation in the "parrot beak" area of Cambodia jutting into South Vietnam about 35 miles from Saigon.

President Nixon moved quickly to explain the move to the American people. The White House said he has asked the television and radio networks for air time Thursday evening to discuss the situation "as it relates to both Cambodia and to U.S. forces in Vietnam."

Asst. Secretary of Defense Daniel Z. Henkin read a statement to newsmen saying:

"The United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV) in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

"This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation, and some logistics assistance."

"Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted. The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and strengthen the Vietnamization program."

Thus, the Pentagon—speaking for the Nixon administration—cast the new development in terms of supporting the over-all objective of shifting the Vietnam war burden to the South Vietnamese and gradually withdrawing U.S. troops.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a "major escalation" of the Indo-Chinese warfare.

Decline Noted In Wholesale Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department today reported tentative figures showing the first decline in wholesale prices of food and a broad range of industrial raw materials in nearly two years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Wholesale Price Index declined one-tenth of one per cent this month in the preliminary calculation and that "If later confirmed by more complete figures, the decrease would be the fifrst since August 1968."

The reported decline brought the index down to 116.5 per cent of its 1957-59 base. The fifgure means it cost $116.50 in April on the average for wholesale commodities worth $100 in 1957-59.

However, the decline was based entirely on a sharp drop in wholesale prices for farm products, processed foods and feeds, which can fluctuate sharply from time to time.

Industrial commodities, including metals, rubber, lumber, textiles and many other raw materials, rose an average of three-tenths of one per cent, the bureau said.

Farm products declined 2.8 per cent while processed foods and feeds dropped two-tenths, the report said.

Ex-Teacher Wants More Bicycles On Nation's Streets

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Miss Caroline Killeen is pedaling her way to Detroit to try and talk automakers into making bicycles available for city travel.

The 44-year-old former teacher left Tucson, Ariz., March 7 and reached St. Louis Monday. She plans to arrive in Detroit about the second week in May.

She wants the manufacturers to buy bicycles and finance a multitude of relay stations where city dwellers can get a bike for a small fee and ride it to their local destination.

"Automobiles have their place on the open road, bicycles should be used for inner city travel," she said "I think bicycles should be used to supplement automobiles."

Miss Kileen describes herself as a longtime "bicycle addict," having made several long-distance trips. She said the use of bicycles instead of autos would help reduce smog, traffic congestion and waistlines.

RIVER ROUGE, Mich. (AP) —Police remained on guard today in this industrial city on the Detroit River, where two days of skirmishes involving whites, blacks and police have left raw nerves of racial unrest exposed.

River Rouge High School, focal point of two months of unrest punctuated by incidents of violence, is closed indefinitely. The community of 18,147 remains under a 6 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

Black youths and about 200 police, fought running skirmishes through the day Tuesday.

Police used teargas to disperse a crowd gathered in the streets near the high school in the afternoon. Tear gas was used again to break up a group at the high school and then again and again along Visger Street, where stores were looted and three were burned the night before.

Passers-by and police were pelted with rocks and bottles on streets in the area. There were no reports of serious injuries, although one Detroit policeman was hit in the mouth with a rock.

A total of 34 persons were arrested in River Rouge Tuesday, 19 of them for curfew violation, said Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas. Another 20 were arrested in Detroit, said Detroit Chief Inspector Anthony Bertoni. The Detroit city line is about three blocks from the center of trouble in River Rouge.

Many of those arrested were juveniles, but there was no immediate breakdown of those arrested by age or charges.

Calm returned after heavily armed officers moved through the area at dusk, ordering everyone inside and arresting those who stayed on the streets.

Solon Says Russian Threat Exaggerated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House military spending critic, firing opening salvos against a $20 24 billion defense bill, charges it exaggerates the Soviet missile threat and would escalate the arms race.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., made the charges Tuesday in a prelude to opponents' efforts to knock all $1 billion for MIRV multiple nuclear warheads and $660 million for the Safeguard antimissile system out of the weapons procurement authorization.

"If the United States plunges straight on building up this kind of arsenal," he said, "the Soviets instead of leveling off are going to have to go to a second round of armaments."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today the United States will send advisers, tactical air strikes and other support for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. It called the move "a necessary and effective measure" to have U. S. and other allied lives.

The Pentagon thus confirmed an announcement by the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry in Saigon that U.S. combat and other support for a major operation in the "parrot beak" area of Cambodia jutting into South Vietnam about 35 miles from Saigon.

President Nixon moved quickly to explain the move to the American people. The White House said he has asked the television and radio networks for air time Thursday evening to discuss the situation "as it relates to both Cambodia and to U.S. forces in Vietnam."

Asst. Secretary of Defense Daniel Z. Henkin read a statement to newsmen saying:

"The United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV) in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

"This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation, and some logistics assistance."

"Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted. The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and strengthen the Vietnamization program."

Thus, the Pentagon—speaking for the Nixon administration—cast the new development in terms of supporting the over-all objective of shifting the Vietnam war burden to the South Vietnamese and gradually withdrawing U.S. troops.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a "major escalation" of the Indo-Chinese warfare.

Decline Noted In Wholesale Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department today reported tentative figures showing the first decline in wholesale prices of food and a broad range of industrial raw materials in nearly two years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Wholesale Price Index declined one-tenth of one per cent this month in the preliminary calculation and that "If later confirmed by more complete figures, the decrease would be the fifrst since August 1968."

The reported decline brought the index down to 116.5 per cent of its 1957-59 base. The fifgure means it cost $116.50 in April on the average for wholesale commodities worth $100 in 1957-59.

However, the decline was based entirely on a sharp drop in wholesale prices for farm products, processed foods and feeds, which can fluctuate sharply from time to time.

Industrial commodities, including metals, rubber, lumber, textiles and many other raw materials, rose an average of three-tenths of one per cent, the bureau said.

Farm products declined 2.8 per cent while processed foods and feeds dropped two-tenths, the report said.

Ex-Teacher Wants More Bicycles On Nation's Streets

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Miss Caroline Killeen is pedaling her way to Detroit to try and talk automakers into making bicycles available for city travel.

The 44-year-old former teacher left Tucson, Ariz., March 7 and reached St. Louis Monday. She plans to arrive in Detroit about the second week in May.

She wants the manufacturers to buy bicycles and finance a multitude of relay stations where city dwellers can get a bike for a small fee and ride it to their local destination.

"Automobiles have their place on the open road, bicycles should be used for inner city travel," she said. "I think bicycles should be used to supplement automobiles."

Miss Kileen describes herself as a longtime "bicycle addict," having made several long-distance trips. She said the use of bicycles instead of autos would help reduce smog, traffic congestion and waistlines.

River Rouge Tension Still Running High

RIVER ROUGE, Mich. (AP) —Police remained on guard today in this industrial city on the Detroit River, where two days of skirmishes involving whites, blacks and police have left raw nerves of racial unrest exposed.

River Rouge High School, focal point of two months of unrest punctuated by incidents of violence, is closed indefinitely. The community of 18,147 remains under a 6 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

Black youths and about 200 police, fought running skirmishes through the day Tuesday.

Police used teargas to disperse a crowd gathered in the streets near the high school in the afternoon. Tear gas was used again to break up a group at the high school and then again and again along Visger Street, where stores were looted and three were burned the night before.

Passers-by and police were pelted with rocks and bottles on streets in the area. There were no reports of serious injuries, although one Detroit policeman was hit in the mouth with a rock.

A total of 34 persons were arrested in River Rouge Tuesday, 19 of them for curfew violation, said Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas. Another 20 were arrested in Detroit, said Detroit Chief Inspector Anthony Bertoni. The Detroit city line is about three blocks from the center of trouble in River Rouge.

Many of those arrested were juveniles, but there was no immediate breakdown of those arrested by age or charges.

Calm returned after heavily armed officers moved through the area at dusk, ordering everyone inside and arresting those who stayed on the streets.

Commission Issues Final Mead Permit

LANSING — The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission Tuesday gave the final approval for a construction permit for a $65.9 million kraft pulp mill for the Escanaba Paper Co.

Action came a week after a temporary permit had been issued by the commission.

Vote on the final permit was 7 to 1 with Commissioner Morton Sterling of Detroit opposing on a technical point.

There were few changes in the stipulations attached to the temporary permit, according to John Soet, chairman of the commission and chief of the division of occupational health of the Michigan Dept. of Public Health.

The most significant change, Soet said, was the change of the word "any" to "unlawful" in the first special condition attached to the permit regarding pollution.

Word Changed

In the temporary permit, the language read that the "facility is to be designed, installed and operated so as not to cause any nuisance and/or odor problems or visability interference problems in the community."

The final permit reads that the "facility is to be designed, installed and operated so as not to cause unlawful nuisance and/or odor problems or visability interference problems in the community."

Soet conceded that the change liberalized the permit in favor of the Mead Corp., parent company of the Escanaba Paper Co., but pointed out that the word "unlawful" ties the corporation to state, federal and local laws and standards incorporated in them.

Local Ordinance

The Delta County Board of Supervisors adopted a local air pollution control ordinance last month. The legal status of the ordinance is currently being reviewed by the staff of the Michigan Attorney General.

Besides the change to the word "unlawful," the final permit includes a seventh provision not included on the temporary permit, Soet said.

The provision specifies that notwithstanding the stipulations in the permit, Mead cannot violate the Air Pollution Control Commission's Rule 46, a general nuisance clause. Under the clause, if at any time a citizen or group of citizens wishes to complain that Mead is causing a general nuisance through operation of the new pulp mill, the individual or group can return to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission for a hearing.

No "Numbers" Changed

Soet said all of the other changes made in the final permit were minor, primarily language changes suggested by legal counsel.

There were no changes made in the "numbers" of the permit, he said.

Members of the Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air had objected to specifying 10 parts per million emission of hydrogen sulfide as a "serious condition which shall be permitted for a maximum time of six hours."

The committee had urged the standard to be lowered to 3 parts per million, a level which under the final permit will be considered an "alert condition."

Mead officials said the control equipment is designed to operate at less than 1 part per million.

Under the final stipulations, "in the event that the applicant (Mead) is unable to reduce the hydrogen sulfide condition to less than 10 parts per million within the six hour period the furnace will be shut down until such time as satisfactory conditions can be attained."

There was no action Tuesday by the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission on the Chicago & North Western Railway Co. situation in Escanaba because of a time problem, Soet said. The proposal of the C&NW for dust control equipment at its Escanaba iron ore terminal will be considered at the commission's May 19 meeting in Lansing.

Black Student Counsellor Gets Term In Prison

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A University of Michigan black student counsellor was sentenced Tuesday to 12 days in jail for four counts of contempt of court stemming from perjuries committed in circuit court during the past two weeks.

Circuit Court Judge Ross W. Campbell said that the contempt citations given Shawn Tarrant were for Tarrant's statements that he never attended Northwestern High School in Detroit, that he has never been convicted of a criminal offense and that he holds degrees from Michigan State University and Hunter College of New York.

Campbell said that, in fact, Tarrant did graduate from Northwestern, has been convicted of a felony and other offenses, and never graduated from MSU or even attended Hunter.

Despite Market Decline

Nixon Still Optimistic About Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid growing concern over the stock market's long and sharp decline, President Nixon again has expressed optimism the nation's economy will pick up steam this summer after a painful leveling off process.

"Frankly, if I had any money I'd be buying stocks right now," Nixon told a visiting business group Tuesday in an informal 35-minute chat on the troubled economy.

Economy Report Due

The President, said a spokesman for the group, said he will make a major report to the nation dealing with the economy and other matters in about two weeks.

As Nixon exuded confidence in the economy, Dr. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said in Dallas the economic slowdown that began last year should mean price increases will begin to level off later this year.

In contrast to the administration's optimism, the gloom on Wall Street continued. The stock market dove again Tuesday and reached the lowest point in six years for the second day in a row.

Lowest Since JFK Death

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 10.82 points to 724.33, the lowest since the day President Kennedy was assassinated in November 1963. The industrial average had fallen Monday by 12.14 points.

The market slump has been blamed in part on the business community's growing concern about the Nixon administration's ability to bring inflation under control—and also over generally poor earnings by major companies.

Another sign of the slowdown appeared Tuesday when the nation's big three steel companies announced their profits had dipped by more than 30 per cent despite increased revenues during the first quarter of the year.

U.S. Steel said profits dropped just over 30 per cent, Bethlehem 34 per cent, and Republic Steel 34 per cent.

Profits Decline

The nation's largest automakers have reported similar profit declines.

On Wall Street, analysts said traders were becoming more concerned with the state of the economy. "We have discovered that inflation is bad for stocks," said Sidney Homer, an economist for a New York investment banking firm.

In Washington, Nixon's message to the executive committee of the American Society of Association Executives was: "keep your faith in the American economy."

Don't Lose Faith: Nixon

John L. Spafford, Houston, Tex., president of the society, saying Nixon told them they were free to pass on his words, quoted the President as saying:

"I'm going to urge the people not to let such factors as employment being down, business being off and the stock market being down cause you to become deeply concerned to the point where you lose faith in the economy.

"It is a leveling off process. I'll tell you what is going to happen: You will begin to see, in the third quarter of the year, the economy leveling off. It will begin to turn, then in the fourth quarter you will begin to see more encouraging signs of the upturn."

Action Promised

As for the economy's troubles, Nixon was reported to have said, "The administration won't let it get out of hand."

A White House spokesman said no time has been fixed for Nixon's address.

In Dallas, McCracken told a meeting of the Financial Analysts Federation the administration's moves to control inflation will begin to reap benefits later in the year.

The same prediction was made by Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz in a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington. The secretary also spoke out against labor-management agreements which, he said, feed inflation at the expense of the rest of the nation.

But the government's index of leading indicators designed to predict what the economy may do in the future declined slightly in March.

The Commerce Department said the index fell one-tenth of one per cent, after an increase of eight-tenths of one per cent in February. The slight decrease brought the index to 150.8 per cent of the 1963 average.

The latest report continues the indicators' up-and-down behavior, which began last September after reaching an all-time high point of 153.4 per cent.

Reorganization Plan Of GOP Worries Some

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House reorganization plan has brought congressional concern that it will raise a screen between the executive and legislative branches.

The proposal to establish an Office of Management and Budget and a Domestic Council to handle at-home affairs similar to the way the National Security Council deals with foreign problems was outlined Tuesday at a House government operations subcommittee hearing.

Reps. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, and Chet Holifield, D-Calif., indicated doubt at the hearing that the new organizations would be responsive to Congress.

"What concerns me is that the chairman of this council could be someone whose testimony could not be required by Congress," Brown said.

Holifield said "today we can get the Budget Bureau up here to get the straight of it, but the executive director of the council could claim executive privilege and not be called."

Behind the proposal is the frustration, expressed by several presidents, that plans, programs and policies are made with little or no guarantee that they can be carried out.

The OMB would fold the present Bureau of the Budget into a super agency that would, in the view of the planners, combine the latest techniques of management and cost effectiveness.

Roy L. Ash, president off Litton Industries and chief of the advisory group that drew up the proposal, told the subcommittee:

"No one adequately sees to it that organization form continues to fit the intended purpose. The result is to lock the executive branch into patterns of disorganization that persist into the future.

"Almost every president in this century has commented that resistance to organization changes is one off the chief obstacles to effective government," Ash said.

The Domestic Council would consolidate several existing White House groups into a series of study agencies and a permanent staff.

The reorganization plan did draw some support during the hearing.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., said the President should be allowed to make whatever changes he sees fit, he should be able to "speak with one voice."

Besides evaluation and monitoring of programs, Ash said at another point, the council would tie together inter-agency planning, valuable since so many programs today cross department lines.

Roy L. Ash, president off Litton Industries and chief of the advisory group that drew up the proposal, told the subcommittee:

"No one adequately sees to it that organization form continues to fit the intended purpose. The result is to lock the executive branch into patterns of disorganization that persist into the future.

"Almost every president in this century has commented that resistance to organization changes is one off the chief obstacles to effective government," Ash said.

The Domestic Council would consolidate several existing White House groups into a series of study agencies and a permanent staff.

The reorganization plan did draw some support during the hearing.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., said the President should be allowed to make whatever changes he sees fit, he should be able to "speak with one voice."

Besides evaluation and monitoring of programs, Ash said at another point, the council would tie together inter-agency planning, valuable since so many programs today cross department lines.

Scotland Yard Busy As Kidnap Rumors Erupt

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard put security guards on five more children of Britain's royal family today as it continued investigating an anonymous report of a plot to kidnap Princess Margaret's 8-year-old son.

Police sources said the guard was precautionary and there was no definite sign the children were in danger.

The 19-year-old daughter of a rich member of Parliament also was guarded after a report that she, too, was marked for kidnaping.

Young Viscount Linley, Princess Margaret's son, returned to Ashdown House boarding school south of London Tuesday under what were said to be the strictest security rules ever put around a royal child. Police manned a roadblock at the school gates and patrolled the grounds with walkie-talkies and a dog. A detective slept in a room near the boy's.

Two Men Arrested After City Chase

City Police officers were involved in a wild chase Tuesday trying to apprehend a vehicle and its occupants for reckless driving.

After chasing the car at speeds of up to 85 miles per hour in the city, police officers stopped the car on Stephenson Ave., and were attempting to talk to the driver, Charles Carlson, 22, of Menominee and a passenger, Richard J. Konkel, 24, also of Menominee, when the two men ran from the scene.

Officers caught up and were bringing Carlson and Konkel back to the patrol car for questioning but when Konkel was asked for his identification, he reached into his pocket for his wallet and then bolted away again.

One of the officers gave chase and caught Konkel after he tripped and fell. Police said Konkel was put in the back seat of the patrol car, but then tried to get into the front seat. He stepped on the officers' hats and when the officers tried to control him, he began kicking and swinging at the officers, police said.

Konkel was arrested for being drunk and disorderly and Carlson was charged with reckless driving.

In another incident, a patrol car was stopped for a stop light on Ludington St. and 10th, heading west, when officers noticed a car on the other side of the intersection heading east.

Police said the car made a left turn over four lanes of traffic and officers noticed that the driver was almost laying on the seat and could not see where he was driving. The car then hit four legally parked vehicles. James F. Botrow, 47, 601 S. 11th St., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol. He will be arraigned in District Court.

Mercury Study

Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) strayed a little away from his northern Michigan district last week to recommend to President Nixon a five-point federal program to deal with mercury pollution of the Great Lakes.

The congressman pointed out the recent mercury pollution problems in the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and Lake Erie and said he fears "mercury pollution may represent an international threat to sports and commercial fishing . . ."

He suggests the following actions:

1, a high-level blue ribbon science commission launch a crash, research oriented investigation on the possible hazardous effects of mercury pollution; 2, The federal government expand the current investigation of the Great Lakes and launch a national mercury concentration identifications program to determine how widespread the problem may be. In conjunction, the federal government should survey all companies and organizations who use mercury in their process and may be contributing to this kind of pollution; 3, Existing statutes should be used to force all offending companies to end mercury pollution; 4, That the Corps of Engineers determine whether it is possible to dredge, pump or otherwise recover deposits of mercury which otherwise could take 30 to 50 years to be eliminated by natural processes, and 5, that the State Department enter negotiations with Canada and launch an international program for ending this new threat to our environment.

Ruppe's suggestions for a federal investigation make sense, but it's harsh testimony on the state of current knowledge and environmental control procedures that they should be needed at all.

Ruppe points out that the results of fish testing are inconclusive.

"We don't know exactly what a dangerous level of mercury is," he says.

Not long ago, there was another situation in regard to DDT which was not entirely different from the current problems with mercury. The pesticide was showing up in substantial concentrations in coho salmon caught in Lake Michigan. The government at that time, too, seemed to be quite confused about what was a dangerous level.

In the mercury case, Michigan didn't even have laboratory facilities to analyize the mercury content of fish to be tested. Tests had to be completed in Wisconsin and in Canada.

If the president elects to act on Ruppe's suggestions, he would be wise to expand the investigation to include any and all chemical or bacteriological contamination of Great Lakes fish. A couple of years ago it was DDT. A couple of weeks ago it was mercury. A few weeks from now it might be something else.

Contamination of the environment is nothing new, but the mercury case only serves to point out how ill-equipped the environment is to deal with the problem. Michigan Department of Natural Resources might take the hint.

If damaging effects to the environment are to be controlled, someone is going to have to determine exactly what they are. Banning DDT, cyanide and mercury may not help a bit, if another chemical unchecked will produce the same results in the end.

Invasion Of Privacy

Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, has been a longtime champion of the individual's right to privacy.

His first campaign against snooping by the federal government was directed at the 1970 census which already has been distributed to the American people. Betts felt that many questions asked things about people which the government has no right to know. He managed, with the help of conservatives and liberals, to remove some of the more objectionable questions but many of them still remain.

His second compaign has been directed at the possible threat of federal data banks which would keep intimate files on millions of Americans who have had dealings with the government, for example, service personnel and welfare recipients. Several proposals have been brought forward, the most recent in Nixon's welfare "reform," to computerize and store information that the government has on people. The data would be sorted in center facilities which any federal agency might have access to.

Betts warned that the individual would have little protection under current laws to provide him with safe-guards against indiscriminate snooping into his files. He would, in fact, have little way of knowing that the confidentiality of his files had been violated. Perhaps worse, he might never know if his file contained incorrect information on which he was judged.

In some cases, as with the Nixon proposal for collecting and retaining information on welfare recipients in order to help them find jobs, the data bank has a good purpose. But the potential for abuse is great and far too tempting.

It would be a relatively easy matter to use a person's file in order to find out his financial status, his family problems, his habits, etc. His file, in fact, could be used to destroy him.

The public should be alerted to the attempts to establish federal data banks. The government already has invaded the individual's privacy far too much without still further intrusion. Many of the things a person thinks and does are just plain none of the government's business.

Educational Voucher Plan Fails To Move

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When the White House temporizes on issues that seriously divide Republicans, it is understandable. Yet when President Nixon takes no action on a program that would be acceptable to both the conservative and liberal wings of the Republican Party, it is another story.

In the whole area of what Peter Drucker has called "reprivatization" there is, actually, very little quarrel between the conservatives and the liberals. Take, for example, the subject of promoting competition between public and private schools.

The so-called "voucher system," which would allow individuals to receive tuition vouchers from the state and use them to help pay the cost of a child's education in any school, whether public, private or parochial, commends itself to Republicans all across the spectrum.

On the right, the American Conservative Union, Young Americans for Freedom and the writers who contribute to the Washington publication, "Human Events," have all advocated the idea of government subsidization of schooling rather than schools. Professor Milton Friedman, one of Nixon's economic advisers, was, if I am not mistaken, the first person in this country to suggest the use of educational vouchers.

Before that the idea had a run in England, where people have become disillusioned about the cost and the quality of state education. Surprisingly, the Ripon Society, an organ of the Republican left, has also supported a voucher system.

Indeed, there has been some talk of getting up a right-left manifesto favoring the voucher idea and presenting it to Nixon as a "total" Republican demand.

According to the White House grapevine, Roger Freeman, the economist who is one of Nixon's special assistants, has been working up a paper that would let the individual take his share of the education tax money for use in the school of his choice. But Pat Moynihan, according to the same grapevine, has been sitting on the Freeman proposal. So nothing stirs.

Recourse to the voucher idea would automatically end the fear of state domination of education. It would take the sting out of the issue of giving state support to religious schools.

With every parent free to select an institution of his own choice, nobody could complain of forced indoctrination.

The competition would be in the field of excellence; the private school would have to come up with good teachers and good subject matter in order to compete with the public school system. The educators would have to be on their toes; nobody would be able to take refuge in bureaucratic domination of the educational scene.

There has been concern that the voucher idea would encourage the expansion of schools designed to perpetuate segregation. However, the state would still have the duty of licensing schools to operate. Certain standards would have to be met by the individual school in order to qualify for the right to cash the vouchers for money. A voucher system would enable a black parent to take advantage of private education in many places where the possibility of now doing so is precluded for economic reasons.

The voucher idea does not satisfy those who are ideologically committed against state-supported education of any type. However, the ideologues have long since lost the battle against the idea of the public school.

The best possible compromise in this day and age is to establish some sort of open competition between the public and the private idea. With vouchers, the state would not be limited to subsidizing schools; it would, so to speak, be subsidizing pupils.

Dr. John Howard, the president of Rockford College in Illinois, has suggested that Federal aid to higher private education should take the form of tax rebates to those who give money to the college of their choice. This is an extension of voucher idea thinking.

Since the Republican Party is committed to adventures in "reprivatization," there is no good reason why the months go by without Administration action in this sphere.

Let's hear something on the subject from the White House before Nixon's second term is upon us.

Democrats Seek Financial Data Of Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detailed records of the financial interests of Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun have been requested by four Democratic senators.

Sens. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland made the request in a letter to Senate Judiciary Committee chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The committee begins hearings on the nomination Wednesday, and sources said Blackmun was scheduled today to visit privately with members of the committee.

The committee has been advised by the Justice Department that Blackmun took part in three court cases involving companies in which he held stock.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said, however, that the stock interest held by Blackmun, an 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge since 1959, was insignificant.

Productivity Gains Low Despite Boom In 1960s

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — During the boom years of the 1960s, when jobs were so plentiful that employers were forced to relax standards, some workers prematurely instituted the four-day week: They got "sick" on Fridays or Mondays.

One effect of such deception was to help ruin a good thing: productivity per manhour went down, prices went up, inflation caught hold, the government forced a slowdown, layoffs began. . .

Productivity Down

The country is now being forced to recognize the embarrassing and dangerous fact that the productivity gains of the American worker, on average, fell to less than one per cent last year, or about one-quarter of the average postwar rate.

Absenteeism wasn't the only cause, of course. There were many other factors, among them:

--Industry was forced to employ marginal workers in order to keep pace with the boom. Their skills were few, their output below average.

—Management became lax in its habits and permitted all sorts of costly inefficiencies to develop. Some managements were not innovative. They failed to develop technology and methods that would have improved productivity.

Workers Change Jobs

—Secure in the knowledge that their skills were tradeable, workers felt free to change jobs frequently. During their periods of adaptation, their skills were lost to both the old and the new employer.

One result of this slackening in the rate of productivity was to put both worker and management on a treadmill. Despite higher sales, corporate profits ceased to keep pace. Because of higher prices, pay increases evaporated.

No matter how many reasons are given for the declining rate of productivity absenteeism must be high among them. A report by Morgan Guaranty Trust notes that nonagricultural absenteeism last year was 77 per cent higher than in 1961.

Absenteeism High

Disturbed by the trend, General Motors Chairman James Roche commented recently:

"Many have suggested that higher absenteeism is a byproduct of the affluence of the '60s. If so, I suggest that it is time the fundamentals of our affluence be recognized for what they are.

"Our ability to improve our standard of living depends directly on our willingness to work to create the goods and services we enjoy."

So long as production increases, wages can be raised without any inflation resulting. But productivity hasn't kept pace with wage and price increases. The result: inflation.

Remedies Difficult

The remedies for this laxness by both management and labor are going to be difficult. First off, one remedy entails jobs; unemployment is rising steadily after being near an all-time low late in the 1960s.

As unemployment continues to rise—a direct result of government attempts to wring inflation out of the economy—management is going to be in a better position to crack the whip. "Illness" will be a less acceptable excuse.

Eye More Efficiency

Attempts will be made also to root out inefficiency at the management level. White collar laxness, although better disguised, has a more pervasive effect on prices than that of skilled labor; one manager's actions might affect 1,000 blue collar workers.

The goal of these attempts is more efficiency, more productivity per manhour.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has named retired Adm. George W. Anderson Jr. to succeed retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor as chairman of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board.

Opening lead—four of diamonds.

In tournaments you run into all kinds of bidding. Players may use any system or convention they want to, if it can be readily explained to their opponents. Private understandings are taboo, just as in rubber bridge.

It is entirely normal for a pair to announce that they play Gerber, or Texas, or Stayman, or Kaplan-Sheinwold, or anything else that pleases their fancy.

Once upon a time I was playing in a national championship when a pair came to our table and said they were playing "Goldschmidt." This was a brand new one to us. They started to explain the convention, but we suggested that they hold it until the situation to which Goldschmidt applied came up.

It never did come up. On the first of the two deals we played, our opponents overbid a little, got doubled, and went down four vulnerable—1,110. On the next deal, the one shown, they got to one notrump doubled.

I was East. I won the diamond lead with the king and returned the three. My partner cashed the A-J and continued with the five. I won with the seven and shifted to the jack of hearts, not bothering to cash my fifth diamond.

West took the queen with the king and returned a heart, my nine forcing the ace. When declarer now led the king of clubs, I took the ace and cashed two hearts and a diamond.

When I cashed the diamond, South—who had the K-J-10 of spades and queen of clubs left—was squeezed. West at this point had the A-Q-9 of spades and the jack of clubs. South discarded a spade, West a club, and my spade return gave us the rest of the tricks.

So the outcome was that South took only one trick, the ace of hearts. He went down six — 1,110 points — again.

Never did find out about Goldschmidt!

Nurse Gives Advice On Cleaning The Ears

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are read and quoted by millions of people will you please say something to the thousands of ignorant fools who are wrecking their ears? As an otologist's nurse I can vouch for that old saying, "nothing smaller than the elbow should go into ears" — but hardly anyone listens. People insist on "cleaning" their ears with cotton swabs, hairpins, keys, pencils, pins, wires, etc., ect. As a result we get several calls a day from people who are suffering the tortures of the damned. The doctor gives them a lecture and prescribes medication but they keep coming back time after time for the same old thing. The most pathetic cases are infants who are brought in for treatment. Cotton swabs not only pack the ear wax tighter and clog the canal but carelessly used, they can scratch the fine lining of the canal and start infections.

Infections can lead to chronic draining and a loss of hearing. Please tell your readers that the normal ear cleans itself and does not require anyone digging in it. If, by chance, the ears do not secrete their own wax and debris, they should be cleaned by a doctor, not an amateur.

You do a lot of good in this world, Ann. Do a little more and print this. — Office Nurse

Dear Nurse: Here 'tis and I hope somebody listens.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I decided on the spur of the moment to have my fortune told. The fortune teller was a woman who worked with a deck of cards.

The very first thing she said was, "I see something very bad here. Your husband is going to die young. He will not live to raise his small children."

I felt as if someone had hit me in the head with a brick. She asked me if I wanted to know more and I said, "No — that's enough." I staggered out of the tent and had to sit down on a bench for ten minutes before I could go on home.

I've talked to several people about this and they all say" Forget it!" But I can't erase that horrible experience from my mind. It haunts me night and day.

When my husband complains of a slight headache I'm sure he has the begining of a brain tumor. If he has a little stomach upset I'm certain he is having a heart attack. If he is ten minutes late for dinner I imagine he has been killed in a car accident.

Please give me some help. How can I free myself from this prison of fear? — Alice

Dear Alice: That "fortune teller" did a cruel piece of mischief. She must be a sadist, as well as a charlatan. I suggest professional help. You need to talk out this obsession until you are free of it.

Mercury Study

Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) strayed a little away from his northern Michigan district last week to recommend to President Nixon a five-point federal program to deal with mercury pollution of the Great Lakes.

The congressman pointed out the recent mercury pollution problems in the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and Lake Erie and said he fears "mercury pollution may represent an international threat to sports and commercial fishing . . ."

He suggests the following actions:

1, a high-level blue ribbon science commission launch a crash, research oriented investigation on the possible hazardous effects of mercury pollution; 2, The federal government expand the current investigation of the Great Lakes and launch a national mercury concentration identifications program to determine how widespread the problem may be. In conjunction, the federal government should survey all companies and organizations who use mercury in their process and may be contributing to this kind of pollution; 3, Existing statutes should be used to force all offending companies to end mercury pollution; 4, That the Corps of Engineers determine whether it is possible to dredge, pump or otherwise recover deposits of mercury which otherwise could take 30 to 50 years to be eliminated by natural processes, and 5, that the State Department enter negotiations with Canada and launch an international program for ending this new threat to our environment.

★ ★ ★

Ruppe's suggestions for a federal investigation make sense, but it's harsh testimony on the state of current knowledge and environmental control procedures that they should be needed at all.

Ruppe points out that the results of fish testing are inconclusive.

"We don't know exactly what a dangerous level of mercury is," he says.

Not long ago, there was another situation in regard to DDT which was not entirely different from the current problems with mercury. The pesticide was showing up in substantial concentrations in coho salmon caught in Lake Michigan. The government at that time, too, seemed to be quite confused about what was a dangerous level.

In the mercury case, Michigan didn't even have laboratory facilities to analyize the mercury content of fish to be tested. Tests had to be completed in Wisconsin and in Canada.

If the president elects to act on Ruppe's suggestions, he would be wise to expand the investigation to include any and all chemical or bacteriological contamination of Great Lakes fish. A couple of years ago it was DDT. A couple of weeks ago it was mercury. A few weeks from now it might be something else.

Contamination of the environment is nothing new, but the mercury case only serves to point out how ill-equipped the environment is to deal with the problem. Michigan Department of Natural Resources might take the hint.

If damaging effects to the environment are to be controlled, someone is going to have to determine exactly what they are. Banning DDT, cyanide and mercury may not help a bit, if another chemical unchecked will produce the same results in the end.

Invasion Of Privacy

Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, has been a longtime champion of the individual's right to privacy.

His first campaign against snooping by the federal government was directed at the 1970 census which already has been distributed to the American people. Betts felt that many questions asked things about people which the government has no right to know. He managed, with the help of conservatives and liberals, to remove some of the more objectionable questions but many of them still remain.

His second compaign has been directed at the possible threat of federal data banks which would keep intimate files on millions of Americans who have had dealings with the government, for example, service personnel and welfare recipients. Several proposals have been brought forward, the most recent in Nixon's welfare "reform," to computerize and store information that the government has on people. Remedies Difficult

The remedies for this laxness by both management and labor are going to be difficult. First off, one remedy entails jobs; unemployment is rising steadily after being near an all-time low late in the 1960s.

As unemployment continues to rise—a direct result of government attempts to wring inflation out of the economy—management is going to be in a better position to crack the whip. "Illness" will be a less acceptable excuse.

Eye More Efficiency

Attempts will be made also to root out inefficiency at the management level. White collar laxness, although better disguised, has a more pervasive effect on prices than that of skilled labor; one manager's actions might affect 1,000 blue collar workers.

The goal of these attempts is more efficiency, more productivity per manhour.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Dble	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead—four of diamonds.

In tournaments you run into all kinds of bidding. Players may use any system or convention they want to, if it can be readily explained to their opponents. Private understandings are taboo, just as in rubber bridge.

It is entirely normal for a pair to announce that they play Gerber, or Texas, or Stayman, or Kaplan-Sheinwold, or anything else that pleases their fancy.

Once upon a time I was playing in a national championship when a pair came to our table and said they were playing "Goldschmidt." This was a brand new one to us. They started to explain the convention, but we suggested that they hold it until the situation to which Goldschmidt applied came up.

It never did come up. On the first of the two deals we played, our opponents overbid a little, got doubled, and went down four vulnerable—1,110. On the next deal, the one shown, they got to one notrump doubled.

I was East. I won the diamond lead with the king and returned the three. My partner cashed the A-J and continued with the five. I won with the seven and shifted to the jack of hearts, not bothering to cash my fifth diamond.

West took the queen with the king and returned a heart, my nine forcing the ace. When declarer now led the king of clubs, I took the ace and cashed two hearts and a diamond.

When I cashed the diamond, South—who had the K-J-10 of spades and queen of clubs left—was squeezed. West at this point had the A-Q-9 of spades and the jack of clubs. South discarded a spade, West a club, and my spade return gave us the rest of the tricks.

So the outcome was that South took only one trick, the ace of hearts. He went down six — 1,110 points — again.

Never did find out about Goldschmidt!

Nurse Gives Advice On Cleaning The Ears

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are read and quoted by millions of people will you please say something to the thousands of ignorant fools who are wrecking their ears? As an otologist's nurse I can vouch for that old saying, "nothing smaller than the elbow should go into ears" — but hardly anyone listens. People insist on "cleaning" their ears with cotton swabs, hairpins, keys, pencils, pins, wires, etc., ect. As a result we get several calls a day from people who are suffering the tortures of the damned. The doctor gives them a lecture and prescribes medication but they keep coming back time after time for the same old thing. The most pathetic cases are infants who are brought in for treatment. Cotton swabs not only pack the ear wax tighter and clog the canal but carelessly used, they can scratch the fine lining of the canal and start infections.

Infections can lead to chronic draining and a loss of hearing. Please tell your readers that the normal ear cleans itself and does not require anyone digging it. If, by chance, the ears do not secrete their own wax and debris, they should be cleaned by a doctor, not an amateur.

You do a lot of good in this world, Ann. Do a little more and print this. — Office Nurse

Dear Nurse: Here 'tis and I hope somebody listens.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I decided on the spur of the moment to have my fortune told. The fortune teller was a woman who worked with a deck of cards.

The very first thing she said was, "I see something very bad here. Your husband is going to die young. He will not live to raise his small children."

I felt as if someone had hit me in the head with a brick. She asked me if I wanted to know more and I said, "No — that's enough." I staggered out of the tent and had to sit down on a bench for ten minutes before I could go on home.

I've talked to several people about this and they all say" Forget it!" But I can't erase that horrible experience from my mind. It haunts me night and day.

When my husband complains of a slight headache I'm sure he has the begining of a brain tumor. If he has a little stomach upset I'm certain he is having a heart attack. If he is ten minutes late for dinner I imagine he has been killed in a car accident.

Please give me some help. How can I free myself from this prison of fear? — Alice

Dear Alice: That "fortune teller" did a cruel piece of mischief. She must be a sadist, as well as a charlatan. I suggest professional help. You need to talk out this obsession until you are free of it.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits — the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Set Crackdown On Billboards

LANSING (AP) — A crackdown on illegal billboards along Michigan highways has been announced by the attorney general's office and the State Highway Department.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Highway Director Henrick Stafseth said owners of 19 signs along a 55 - mile stretch of I 96 and I 496 between Lansing and Farmington have been ordered to remove the signs within 30 days.

If they do not, the state can take them down at the owners' expense.

Kelley said only one of the owners has been found to be a resident of Michigan.

Stafseth said the next targets will be signs along I 69 on a 39 - mile stretch from the Indiana border north to I 94 near Marshall and a part of I 75 between Standish and Alger in Arenac County.

The signs under attack are those which have been erected since Jan. 1, 1968, and are within 660 feet of the roadway. They fall under a 1966 act regulating outdoor advertising. Kelley and Stafseth said signs erected before then and which violate other statutes may be ordered removed, but the state must reimburse the owners and does not now have the funds for that purpose.

Stafseth said an inventory in 1966 showed more than 38,000 billboards within 660 feet of Interstate and primary right-of-way in Michigan. He said another inventory completed this month shows an additional 2,077 billboards have gone up since then.

He said several hundred of these undoubtedly are illegal.

The announcement said the illegal signs generally are the work of "outlaw" or "wildcat" operators and are "not the responsibility of the legitimate billboard industry in this state. That industry has to a great extent carefully followed the new law..."

Kelley said a court challenge is expected from some billboard owners.

"We are prepared to meet that legal attack," he added.

Kelley said the illegal signs "seems to be proliferating more on the interstate roads because of the greater traffic there."

Gov. William Milliken issued a release saying the crackdown should help combat "visual pollution" in Michigan.

Group Seeks Release Of Marquette Inmate

LANSING (AP)—The family and followers of imprisoned White Panther party leader John Sinclair came to the capitol Tuesday to plead their case for his release from a narcotics sentence and for revision of Michigan's marijuana laws.

Seated behind the gleaming wooden bench for the former State Supreme Court Chamber, Sinclair's wife, carrying their infant daughter and five members of the Ann Arbor-based political party, pleaded for Sinclair's release.

Sinclair is serving a 9½-to-10-year term in Northern Michigan Prison at Marquette for possession of two marijuana cigarettes.

Followers of sinclair's political action group plan a demonstration Thursday at the Capitol to urge support for revision of narcotics laws. Panthers said the demonstration would draw some 100 persons "if they all come."

Pending bills, supported by Gov. William Milliken, propose to remove marijuana from narcotics laws and reduce sentences for having it.

"We've waited too long already," said Mrs. Sinclair. "We just want to advise these people in this building to move fast on this issue."

Skip Taube, Panther information minister, said the planned demonstration would be peaceful.

He said he doubted if it would involve a "smoke-in."

"We would never announce anything like that," Taube said. "It's illegal."

Sinclair's brother, David, White Panther chief of staff, said "I think it would be appropriate, however."

State Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, who arranged for the group to use the former courtroom, now a legislative hearing room, called marijuana a generation-gap issue and compared its abuses to those of alcohol.

"I don't think the burning social issue of our time is legalization of marijuana," Craig said. "I don't want my 14-year-old daughter smoking marijuana, I don't want her drinking liquor, even beer.

"But we are more concerned with the outside of people's heads than with the inside," Craig said.

Craig called Sinclair's sentence absurd.

"Two Detroit policemen got no penalty or prosecution for paying off a rape charge with a $5,000 check," Craig said, "But John Sinclair got 9½ to 10 years for giving away one marijuana cigarette.

"It is my firm conviction that he is in prison only because he was a funny looking person who said funny things," Craig added.

Eyes Third Term

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Hal W. Ziegler, R-Jackson, says he will seek a third consecutive term in the Michigan Legislature. Ziegler is assistant Republican floor leader.

Timber Wolf Now Official State Animal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The timber wolf survived the japes and jokes of Michigan Senators Tuesday and came out with the designation — "official animal of the State of Michigan."

The Senate approved 21-11 and sent to the House a measure making the timber wolf Michigan's state animal.

Michigan has a state bird (robin), state flower (apple blossom), state fish (trout) and state stone (Petoskey), but no official animal.

Under the bill, sponsored by Sen. Oscar Bouwsma, R-Muskegon, Michigan would maintain its "wolverine State" nickname, but would adopt the timber wolf as its own.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, didn't mention the University of Michigan "Wolverines" at Ann Arbor, but told colleagues "the timber wolf is subject to bounty in Canada.

"I think this makes us look a little strange," Bursley said; "having a bountied animal as our official state animal."

Besides, he added, "the only place there are any timber wolves" is in the northern part of the state. "There are six wolverines in the Detroit Zoo," Bursley said, "and no timber wolves."

Bursley suggested also that the Senate should decide on a "state mammal" rather than a "state animal." "Someone might want to suggest a state insect someday," he said.

Police Seeking 4 On Ferris College Narcotics Charge

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — State Police are still seeking four persons on narcotics charges in connection with a series of raids which led to the arrest of 14 Ferris State students in the Big Rapids area and a 15th person in Ypsilanti on drug charges.

The 14, one of whom was the daughter of a Big Rapids district judge, were arraigned Tuesday in Mecosta County District Court before Judge Frank Miltner of Cadillac on charges which included the sale and possession of narcotics, hashish, marijuana and LSD.

Miltner became involved in the case after Big Rapids District Judge George Worcester, whose 18-year-old step-daughter Sara was among the 14 charged, disqualified himself from case.

Bond on the 14 was set at $1,000 and preliminary examinations were scheduled to start next Tuesday.

Douglas Bruce of Ypsilanti, arrested by Ypsilanti State Police, was to be arraigned today in Big Rapids. He was charged with the sale and possession of both marijuana and LSD.

State Police Det. Wayne Johns said there are unserved warrants for the arrest of four more youths and that the investigation is continuing.

The arrests took place Monday night and early Tuesday.

Being Bachelor Puts Alvin In Spotlight

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a bachelor gets tired of hearing:

"What's the matter with you, Alvin, are you afraid of women?"

"How about borrowing your pad tomorrow night, old pal? An old girl friend of mine blew into town and I'd like a quiet place where we could just sit and talk quietly together alone."

"Well, if the worst comes to the worst, we can ask Alvin. He's always available."

"You'll like this girl, Alvin. She's a real swinger-plays the harp and everything."

"Our regular baby sitter is tied up this evening, Alvin. Can't you come over and take her place just this once? It's a real emergency-honest."

"Oh, yes, he can sew on buttons and everything."

"Boy, I bet if your apartment could speak, it could tell a lot-eh, Alvin, you dog, you:"

"It must be lonely for you coming home every night to an empty apartment. After all, you can't put your arms around a television set."

"I hear Alvin lost his girl in kindergarten to a better man and has been sour on the ladies ever since."

"Me jelous of Alvin, Jan? That's a laugh. I'd sooner be jealous of a coatrack."

"You'll really go for this girl, Alvin. She got a degree in Greek from Radcliffe and likes to go bike riding in Greenwich Village after midnight."

"It isn't so much fun being single when you have to pay your income tax, is it, Alvin?"

"Often a best man, never the bridegroom."

You may be having the time of your life now, young man, but have you ever given thought to what it will be like when you're old and gray and have no one to take care of you?"

"It's nice having you as an escort, Alvin. A woman feels so safe with you."

"You'll be simply mad about this girl, Alvin. She has a fine mind, can dance up a windstorm, and has preactically completely, whipped her drinking problem."

"What makes Alvin think he'd be such a catch? I wouldn't marry him if I could get him free by sending away a box top."

"Did you see in the papers, Alvin, that bachelors don't live as long as either married men or widowers?"

"About the only worthwhile thing you can say about Alvin is that he is certainly doing his bit to keep down the population explosion."

"You'll go absolutely ga-ga about this girl, Alvin. She's a bit bowlegged, I'll admit, but all her family are. They get that way carring their loot to the bank."

Set Crackdown On Billboards

LANSING (AP) — A crackdown on illegal billboards along Michigan highways has been announced by the attorney general's office and the State Highway Department.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Highway Director Henrick Stafseth said owners of 19 signs along a 55 - mile stretch of I 96 and I 496 between Lansing and Farmington have been ordered to remove the signs within 30 days.

If they do not, the state can take them down at the owners' expense.

Kelley said only one of the owners has been found to be a resident of Michigan.

Stafseth said the next targets will be signs along I 69 on a 39 - mile stretch from the Indiana border north to I 94 near Marshall and a part of I 75 between Standish and Alger in Arenac County.

The signs under attack are those which have been erected since Jan. 1, 1968, and are within 660 feet of the roadway. They fall under a 1966 act regulating outdoor advertising. Kelley and Stafseth said signs erected before then and which violate other statutes may be ordered removed, but the state must reimburse the owners and does not now have the funds for that purpose.

Stafseth said an inventory in 1966 showed more than 38,000 billboards within 660 feet of Interstate and primary right-of-way in Michigan. He said another inventory completed this month shows an additional 2,077 billboards have gone up since then.

He said several hundred of these undoubtedly are illegal.

The announcement said the illegal signs generally are the work of "outlaw" or "wildcat" operators and are "not the responsibility of the legitimate billboard industry in this state. That industry has to a great extent carefully followed the new law..."

Kelley said a court challenge is expected from some billboard owners.

"We are prepared to meet that legal attack," he added.

Kelley said the illegal signs "seems to be proliferating more on the interstate roads because of the greater traffic there."

Gov. William Milliken issued a release saying the crackdown should help combat "visual pollution" in Michigan.

Group Seeks Release Of Marquette Inmate

LANSING (AP)—The family and followers of imprisoned White Panther party leader John Sinclair came to the capitol Tuesday to plead their case for his release from a narcotics sentence and for revision of Michigan's marijuana laws.

Seated behind the gleaming wooden bench for the former State Supreme Court Chamber, Sinclair's wife, carrying their infant daughter and five members of the Ann Arbor-based political party, pleaded for Sinclair's release.

Sinclair is serving a 9½-to-10-year term in Northern Michigan Prison at Marquette for possession of two marijuana cigarettes.

Followers of sinclair's political action group plan a demonstration Thursday at the Capitol to urge support for revision of narcotics laws. Panthers said the demonstration would draw some 100 persons "if they all come."

Pending bills, supported by Gov. William Milliken, propose to remove marijuana from narcotics laws and reduce sentences for having it.

"We've waited too long already," said Mrs. Sinclair. "We just want to advise these people in this building to move fast on this issue."

Skip Taube, Panther information minister, said the planned demonstration would be peaceful.

He said he doubted if it would involve a "smoke-in."

"We would never announce anything like that," Taube said. "It's illegal."

Sinclair's brother, David, White Panther chief of staff, said "I think it would be appropriate, however."

State Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, who arranged for the group to use the former courtroom, now a legislative hearing room, called marijuana a generation-gap issue and compared its abuses to those of alcohol.

"I don't think the burning social issue of our time is legalization of marijuana," Craig said. "I don't want my 14-year-old daughter smoking marijuana, I don't want her drinking liquor, even beer.

"But we are more concerned with the outside of people's heads than with the inside," Craig said.

Craig called Sinclair's sentence absurd.

"Two Detroit policemen got no penalty or prosecution for paying off a rape charge with a $5,000 check," Craig said, "But John Sinclair got 9½ to 10 years for giving away one marijuana cigarette.

"It is my firm conviction that he is in prison only because he was a funny looking person who said funny things," Craig added.

Timber Wolf Now Official State Animal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The timber wolf survived the japes and jokes of Michigan Senators Tuesday and came out with the designation — "official animal of the State of Michigan."

The Senate approved 21-11 and sent to the House a measure making the timber wolf Michigan's state animal.

Michigan has a state bird (robin), state flower (apple blossom), state fish (trout) and state stone (Petoskey), but no official animal.

Under the bill, sponsored by Sen. Oscar Bouwsma, R-Muskegon, Michigan would maintain its "wolverine State" nickname, but would adopt the timber wolf as its own.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, didn't mention the University of Michigan "Wolverines" at Ann Arbor, but told colleagues "the timber wolf is subject to bounty in Canada.

"I think this makes us look a little strange," Bursley said, "having a bountied animal as our official state animal."

Besides, he added, "the only place there are any timber wolves" is in the northern part of the state. "There are six wolverines in the Detroit Zoo," Bursley said, "and no timber wolves."

Bursley suggested also that the Senate should decide on a "state mammal" rather than a "state animal." "Someone might want to suggest a state insect someday," he said.

Eyes Third Term

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Hal W. Ziegler, R-Jackson, says he will seek a third consecutive term in the Michigan Legislature. Ziegler is assistant Republican floor leader.

Police Seeking 4 On Ferris College Narcotics Charge

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — State Police are still seeking four persons on narcotics charges in connection with a series of raids which led to the arrest of 14 Ferris State students in the Big Rapids area and a 15th person in Ypsilanti on drug charges.

The 14, one of whom was the daughter of a Big Rapids district judge, were arraigned Tuesday in Mecosta County District Court before Judge Frank Miltner of Cadillac on charges which included the sale and possession of narcotics, hashish, marijuana and LSD.

Miltner became involved in the case after Big Rapids District Judge George Worcester, whose 18-year-old step-daughter Sara was among the 14 charged, disqualified himself from case.

Bond on the 14 was set at $1,000 and preliminary examinations were scheduled to start next Tuesday.

Douglas Bruce of Ypsilanti, arrested by Ypsilanti State Police, was to be arraigned today in Big Rapids. He was charged with the sale and possession of both marijuana and LSD.

State Police Det. Wayne Johns said there are unserved warrants for the arrest of four more youths and that the investigation is continuing.

The arrests took place Monday night and early Tuesday.

Being Bachelor Puts Alvin In Spotlight

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a bachelor gets tired of hearing:

"What's the matter with you, Alvin, are you afraid of women?"

"How about borrowing your pad tomorrow night, old pal? An old girl friend of mine blew into town and I'd like a quiet place where we could just sit and talk quietly together alone."

"Well, if the worst comes to the worst, we can ask Alvin. He's always available."

"You'll like this girl, Alvin. She's a real swinger-plays the harp and everything."

"Our regular baby sitter is tied up this evening, Alvin. Can't you come over and take her place just this once? It's a real emergency-honest."

"Oh, yes, he can sew on buttons and everything."

"Boy, I bet if your apartment could speak, it could tell a lot-eh, Alvin, you dog, you:"

"It must be lonely for you coming home every night to an empty apartment. After all, you can't put your arms around a television set."

"I hear Alvin lost his girl in kindergarten to a better man and has been sour on the ladies ever since."

"Me jelous of Alvin, Jan? That's a laugh. I'd sooner be jealous of a coatrack."

"You'll really go for this girl, Alvin. She got a degree in Greek from Radcliffe and likes to go bike riding in Greenwich Village after midnight."

"It isn't so much fun being single when you have to pay your income tax, is it, Alvin?"

"Often a best man, never the bridegroom."

You may be having the time of your life now, young man, but have you ever given thought to what it will be like when you're old and gray and have no one to take care of you?"

"It's nice having you as an escort, Alvin. A woman feels so safe with you."

"You'll be simply mad about this girl, Alvin. She has a fine mind, can dance up a windstorm, and has preactically completely, whipped her drinking problem."

"What makes Alvin think he'd be such a catch? I wouldn't marry him if I could get him free by sending away a box top."

"Did you see in the papers, Alvin, that bachelors don't live as long as either married men or widowers?"

"About the only worthwhile thing you can say about Alvin is that he is certainly doing his bit to keep down the population explosion."

"You'll go absolutely ga-ga about this girl, Alvin. She's a bit bowlegged, I'll admit, but all her family are. They get that way carring their loot to the bank."

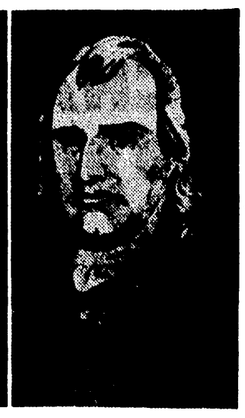
William O. Douglas



Samuel Chase

THE HULLABALOO surrounding Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas recalls that only once before has a justice been impeached. That was Samuel Chase, and he was acquitted in 1805. Discontentment with Douglas revolves around some of his "offbeat" decisions and the $12,000-a-year pay he received from a foundation with financial roots in Las Vegas gambling. He resigned that post in May 1969.

Atoms May Aid Cancer Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of four nations are rushing to complete powerful new atom smashers that may prove useful in treating cancer and desalting and purifying water.

The devices, nuclear accelerators, are designed to create new superheavy chemical elements that scientists hope will have many practical uses.

But how these elements are to be produced may give science bonus benefits in medicine and in making salt water drinkable, reports at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society revealed.

The machines sport powerful beams of subnuclear "bullets" of a chemical element to bombard another element in an effort to produce new superheavy material.

But Dr. H. Marshall Blann of the University of Rochester told in his report how the subnuclear beams hold promise in other fields.

"Outside of nuclear physics there is great interest in the beams for possible applications ranging from radiotherapy (against cancer and other diseases) to water desalinization and purification," he said.

The nations involved in the race to complete the machines are the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Germany.

Report Recovery Of 4,000 Frozen Pizzas In State

LANSING (AP) — Concentrated efforts by federal, state and local authorities have resulted in the recovery of over 4,000 frozen pizzas in Michigan that may have been contaminated with deadly botulism poisoning.

Officials said Tuesday an estimated 10,000 pizzas were believed distributed in Michigan since April 1, with the heaviest concentration in the Lansing, Saginaw and Grand Rapids areas.

It is believed the remaining 6,000 pizzas may have already been consumed although there are no reports of any illnesses. The botulism comes from canned mushrooms adorning the pizzas.

Over 1,000 wholesale customers of the Roman Pizza Company of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, have been notified by the Federal Food and Drug Administration and the state agriculture department. Acting F-D-A district director Arthur Beebe says now the "situation is well in hand."

FIFTEEN OF 24 freight cars of a Penn Central freight train were derailed just east of Albion early last week. There were no injuries and no toxic cargo was carried by the train. New Mayor

PONTIAC (AP) — Pontiac city commissioners have chosen as mayor Robert Jackson, 43, a self-employed real estate appraiser. He succeeds William Taylor Jr., who did not run for re-election as a commissioner. Jackson was elected last week to his second two-year term on the commission.

GERALD E. PLANTE, Garden, was promoted from Airman First Class to the rank of Sergeant on April 1. He is now stationed at Forbes Air Force Base in Kansas after spending a 15-day leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Plante, and visiting other relatives in the Garden area.

William O. Douglas Samuel Chase

THE HULLABALOO surrounding Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas recalls that only once before has a justice been impeached. That was Samuel Chase, and he was acquitted in 1805. Discontentment with Douglas revolves around some of his "offbeat" decisions and the $12,000-a-year pay he received from a foundation with financial roots in Las Vegas gombling. He resigned that post in May 1969.

Atoms May Aid Cancer Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of four nations are rushing to complete powerful new atom smashers that may prove useful in treating cancer and desalting and purifying water.

The devices, nuclear accelerators, are designed to create new superheavy chemical elements that scientists hope will have many practical uses.

But how these elements are to be produced may give science bonus benefits in medicine and in making salt water drinkable, reports at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society revealed.

The machines sport powerful beams of subnuclear "bullets" of a chemical element to bombard another element in an effort to produce new superheavy material.

But Dr. H. Marshall Blann of the University of Rochester told in his report how the subnuclear beams hold promise in other fields.

"Outside of nuclear physics there is great interest in the beams for possible applications ranging from radiotherapy (against cancer and other diseases) to water desalinization and purification," he said.

The nations involved in the race to complete the machines are the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Germany.

Report Recovery Of 4,000 Frozen Pizzas In State

LANSING (AP) — Concentrated efforts by federal, state and local authorities have resulted in the recovery of over 4,000 frozen pizzas in Michigan that may have been contaminated with deadly botulism poisoning.

Officials said Tuesday an estimated 10,000 pizzas were believed distributed in Michigan since April 1, with the heaviest concentration in the Lansing, Saginaw and Grand Rapids areas.

It is believed the remaining 6,000 pizzas may have already been consumed although there are no reports of any illnesses. The botulism comes from canned mushrooms adorning the pizzas.

Over 1,000 wholesale customers of the Roman Pizza Company of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, have been notified by the Federal Food and Drug Administration and the state agriculture department. Acting F-D-A district director Arthur Beebe says now the "situation is well in hand."

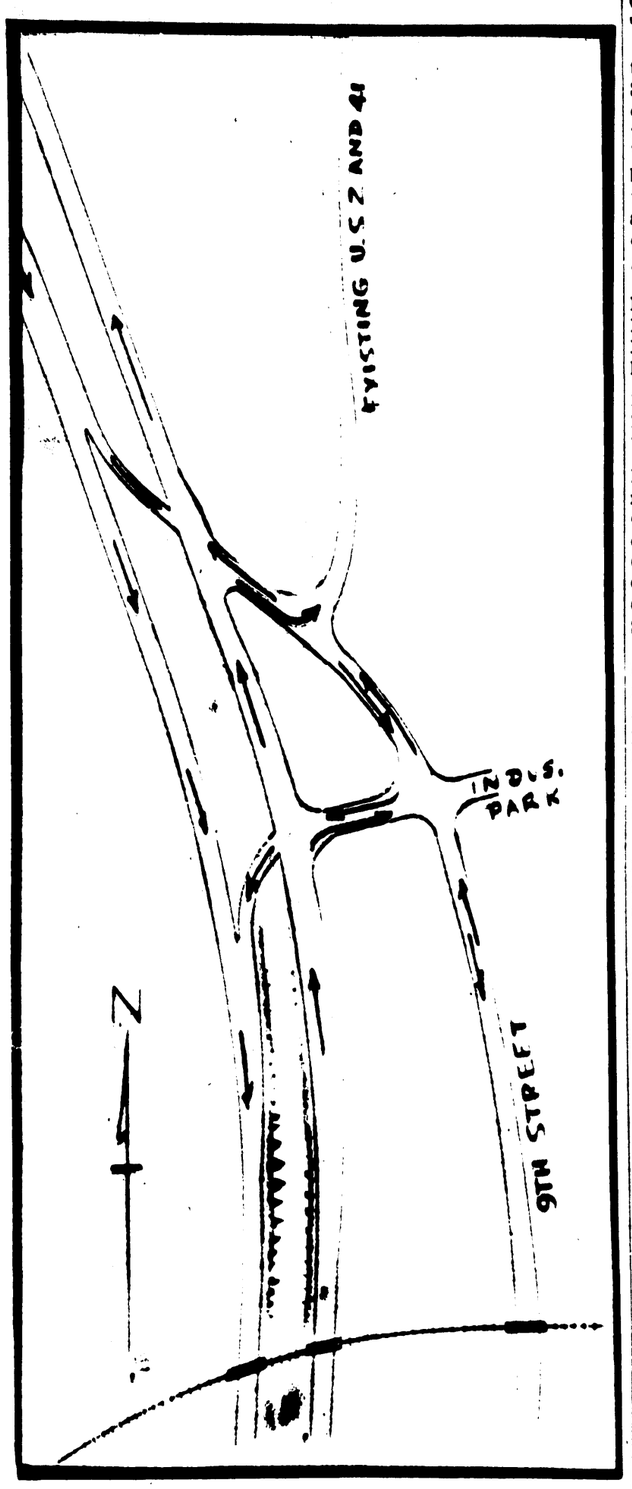
GLADSTONE



THIS IS A DRAWING prepared by the Michigan Highway Dept. staff in Escanaba of the planned intersection at north Gladstone for the Gladstone to Rapid River Freeway. Motel owners in the North Gladstone Area objected to the plan Monday night at the City Commission meeting, pointing out that southbound traffic would have to make a right angle turn left across the northbound lanes and then have to turn another 120 degrees to reach the existing roadway into the resort area. Arrows on the map indicate traffic flow in the area of the planned interchange, which would be constructed at grade level. Another exit from the planned controlled-access freeway is provided at the north city limits road. It is not shown on this map. Bids for the project are scheduled to be let in June.

Prizes Awarded In Recent Bike Safety Rodeo

Many prizes were awarded to participants in the Bicycle Safety program in Gladstone on Saturday. In addition to the two bicycles awarded to Scott Wigger and Chris Cannon, baskets, horn-lights, combination locks, lights, mirrors and air pumps were given at the conclusion of the safety program.

Baskets were awarded to Barb McCarthy, Laurie Smith, Rachelle Boden, John Clark, Ray Demeuse and David Hopkins. Horn Lights went to Ann Anglim, Carol Cannon, Polly Danhoff, John Marshall, Joe Roberts and Charles Wnuck.

Combination locks: Joanne Burton, Cheryl Campbell, Larry Carignan, Bruce Collins, Charles Myers, Janet Shandonay, Randy Vincent and Cheryl Weeter. Iights: Joel Carlson, Tom Demeuse, Carol Gerard, Diane Richards, Tom Seronko and Gesele Thennes.

Mirrors: Rose Aird, John Hermanson, Jeff Johnson, Jean LaFave, Troy John McCully and Rosemary Trotter. Air pumps were awarded to Cathy Brow and Todd Davis.

Briefly Told

The name of Mrs. Robert Hartman was inadvertently omitted from the list of first place ribbons at the Hobby Fair. Mrs. Hartman was awarded first place for her cake decoration display.

Ground-up ladybugs once were considered a remedy for toothaches, colic and measles.

School To Host 'Magic Of Stage'

"The Magic of the Stage," survey of theatre from the time of the ancient Greeks to modern poetic drama, will be presented in Gladstone by a troupe of young professional players from the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program May 15.

The presentation is sponsored by the Community School at 10:30 a.m. in the high school gym under a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

This year's presentation consists of scenes from Sophocles' "Antigone", Carlo Goldoni's "The Servant of Two Masters", Shakespeare's "Othello", Moliere's "The Misanthrope", Edmund Rostand's "Cyrano De Bergerac" and Edgar Lee Master's "Spoon River Anthology."

"The Magic of the Stage" features a company of young professional actors selected by the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program at nation-wide auditions. They are James Baffico, Donna Haley, James Hosbein, Kathleen McGill, and William Tate.

This new production of "The Magic of the Stage" was conceived by the production's co-directors James Hosbein and Kathleen McGill. Scenic design is by Stuart K. McDaniel.

All of the "Magic" personnel are currently graduate students in theatre at the University of Michigan, and have had extensive background with theatre organizations around the country.

Manager for the troupe is J. Roland Wilson, administrative assistant to the director of the Professional Theatre Program at the University of Michigan.

The presentation in Gladstone is part of a month-long tour of Michigan which will take the company to 20 different communities, including many in the Upper Peninsula.

Keeton Rules Out Leaves In Street

Gladstone residents are asked not to rake leaves into the street for removal as the city street sweeper is not equipped to remove piles of rakings.

City Manager Howard Keeton said rakings should be placed in plastic bags and put out where the garbage truck stops for the regular collection.

Events

Combined Circles

The combined circles of Evangelical Covenant Church will meet at the church at 8 p. m. Thursday. The program will include Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Einar Olson, and selections by a vocal trio composed of Susie Holmstrom, Sharon Brady and Marla Bengston, accompanied by Mrs. William Holmstrom. Hostesses will be Mrs. J. R. Olson and Mrs. Lloyd Nyberg.

DEAD DUCK—Clyde Bolin, Interior Department game management agent, holds a dead duck near Fremont, Ohio, a victim of oil and industrial waste in a pond. Bolin found 47 dead ducks in two days in the area. Owners of ponds used to store industrial waste promised to put up streamers to flutter and frighten ducks away.

Takes New Post

LANSING (AP) — James H. Hariston will become chief of the Department of Administration's motor transport division Monday, succeeding J. Wallace Warden, retired.

Dogs and reindeer were the first animals domesticated by man, possibly as early as 18,000 B.C.

Gladstone Bands To Feature NBC Trumpet Artist

Gladstone's Senior High Concert Band which earned a first division rating last Saturday in the Upper Peninsula Band and Orchestra festival at Menominee will present a concert of band music Sunday, May 17, in the GHS physical education building.

Featured soloist with the band will be Clark Terry, trumpet and flugelhorn virtuoso often featured on nationally-televised "Tonight" show.

A total of 17 bands and two orchestras participated in the Upper Peninsula festival and Gladstone's excellent performance of the Class A required number from the Michigan list, "First Suite In E Flat" by Gustav Holst earned compliments and a first division rating from both judges.

Terry is one of the great contemporary individualists in jazz, according to Paul F. Cowen, director of the Gladstone band.

The seventh child and youngest boy in a large St. Louis family, Terry became fascinated at an early age by the trumpet and realized his ambition to play the instrument when he joined his high school band.

Terry's background includes work with Charlie Barnet, Charlie Ventura and Eddin Vinson bands, several years with Count Basie and eight years with Duke Ellington. In 1959, he went to Europe with the Quincy Jones band and in 1960 joined the National Broadcasting Co. staff, playing with Doc Severinsen's band.

The concert will include selections by both the Junior High and Senior High Concert Bands. Tickets can be purchased from any Junior or Senior high school band member.

Army Engineers Get Notice On Lake Dumpings

LANSING (AP) — The dumping of polluted dredge material into open waters of the Great Lakes should be stopped, Gov. William Milliken has told an Army Engineers official in Chicago.

Milliken said Tuesday in a letter to Brig. Gen. William Watkin Jr., of the North Central Army Engineer Division at Chicago that "the threat to the water environment is too great to continue such practices."

The governor said the disposal "should properly be a project cost and therefore not borne by state and local entities."

Milliken said that in regard to future disposal:

The nature and extent of pollution of bottom sediments should be examined by the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the Federal Water Quality Administration.

The amount of such material which needs to be dredged should be re-examined.

Michigan and Army Engineer staff should jointly determine the necessity of dredging polluted material this season.

An analysis should be made of the economic consequences of not dredging.

"Where it appears that dredging must proceed," the governor said, "I will ask the president for emergency funding to develop acceptable alternate disposal sites for polluted materials."

Priests To Run Family Movie House In City

DETROIT (AP)—Two priests in downtown Detroit parishes are planning to open their own family movie house to give moviegoers in their churches "an alternative to skin movies that dominate the downtown screens."

For openers, they're offering two films starring that noted drunk, swindler and misanthrope, W.C. Fields.

Father Richard J. Ward, pastor of St. Aloysius Church and Father John E. Nader of St. Mary's Church are renting a luxurious movie hall now closed.

They say their opening day offering of "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man" and "The Bank Dick" are "just to test the market for classics."

The two priests plan to follow with "Romeo and Juliet" and a mixture of classics with good modern films.

They promise good hot popcorn and low prices as part of the deal. It will cost kids and retired people 75 cents, adults $1.50.

"People in my parish, Catholics and non-Catholics, alike, have been telling me for years they are tired of sitting home because there is no alternative to the skin movies that dominate the downtown screens," Father Ward said.

The only films to be censored are what Father Ward describes as "pious piffle."

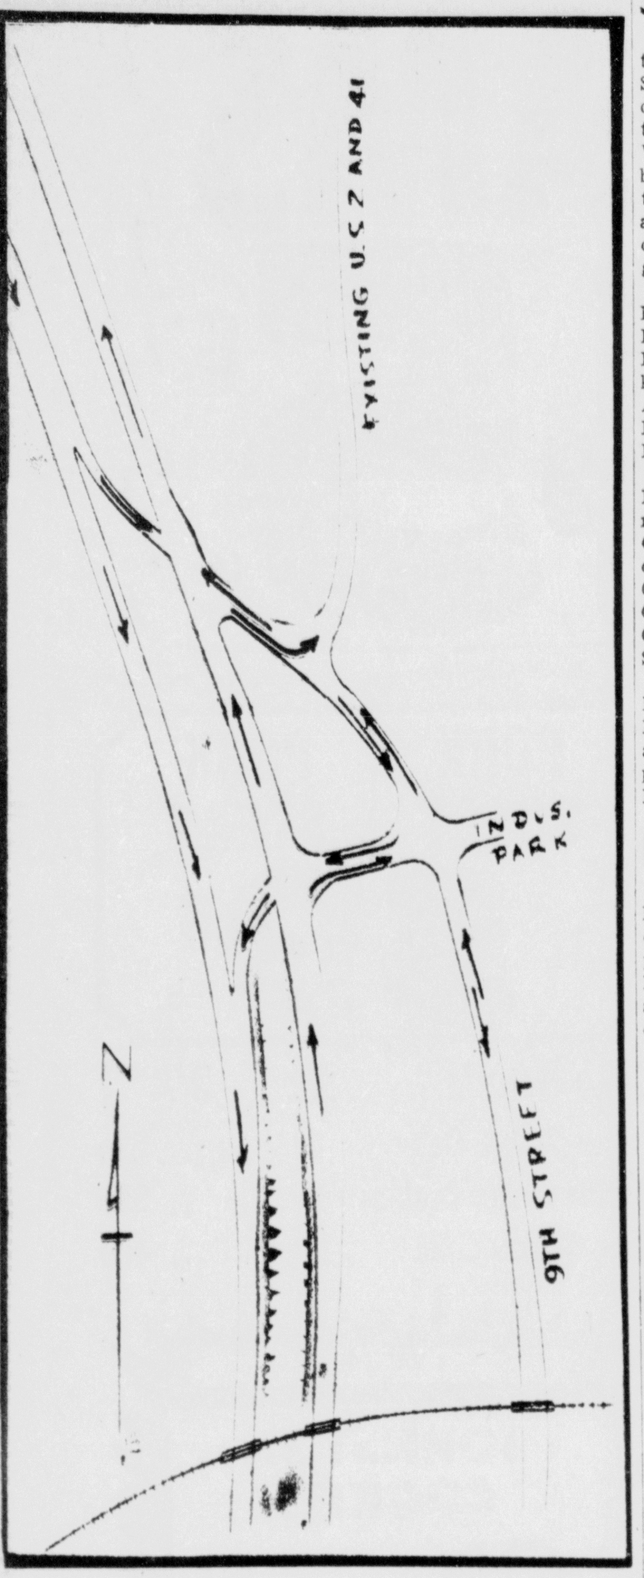
GLADSTONE



THIS IS A DRAWING prepared by the Michigan Highway Dept. staff in Escanaba of the planned intersection at north Gladstone for the Gladstone to Rapid River Freeway. Motel owners in the North Gladstone Area objected to the plan Monday night at the City Commission meeting, pointing out that southbound traffic would have to make a right angle turn left across the northbound lanes and then have to turn another 120 degrees to reach the existing roadway into the resort area. Arrows on the map indicate traffic flow in the area of the planned interchange, which would be constructed at grade level. Another exit from the planned controlled-access freeway is provided at the north city limits road. It is not shown on this map. Bids for the project are scheduled to be let in June.

The presentation is sponsored by the Community School at 10:30 a.m. in the high school gym under a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

This year's presentation consists of scenes from Sophocles' "Antigone", Carlo Goldoni's "The Servant of Two Masters", Shakespeare's "Othello", Moliere's "The Misanthrope", Edmund Rostand's "Cyrano De Bergerac" and Edgar Lee Master's "Spoon River Anthology."

The presentation in Gladstone is part of a month-long tour of Michigan which will take the company to 20 different communities, including many in the Upper Peninsula.

Keeton Rules Out Leaves In Street

Gladstone residents are asked not to rake leaves into the street for removal as the city street sweeper is not equipped to remove piles of rakings.

City Manager Howard Keeton said rakings should be placed in plastic bags and put out where the garbage truck stops for the regular collection.

Gladstone Bands To Feature NBC Trumpet Artist

Gladstone's Senior High Concert Band which earned a first division rating last Saturday in the Upper Peninsula Band and Orchestra festival at Menominee will present a concert of band music Sunday, May 17, in the GHS physical education building.

Featured soloist with the band will be Clark Terry, trumpet and flugelhorn virtuoso often featured on nationally-televised "Tonight" show.

A total of 17 bands and two orchestras participated in the Upper Peninsula festival and Gladstone's excellent performance of the Class A required number from the Michigan list, "First Suite In E Flat" by Gustav Holst earned compliments and a first division rating from both judges.

Terry is one of the great contemporary individualists in jazz, according to Paul F. Cowen, director of the Gladstone band.

The seventh child and youngest boy in a large St. Louis family, Terry became fascinated at an early age by the trumpet and realized his ambition to play the instrument when he joined his high school band.

Hunger, Malnutrition Set Mark Among Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hunger and malnutrition in the United States strikes preschool children and adolescents from povery-ridden families the hardest, resulting in reduced growth and possible mental retardation, a federal scientist reported.

In a survey prepared for the Senate Committee on Hunger and Human Needs, Dr. Samuel E. Schaefer said "by far the most frequently malnourished age groups are preschool children and adolescents.

Young Key Contributor

"The younger population is the key contributor to the finding of serious malnutrition in the sample population as a whole," said Schaefer, chief of the nutrition program of the U.S. Health Services and Mental Health Administration.

Schaefer also said "There is no longer any doubt that the incidence of malnutrition is related to poverty-level incomes. The poorer you are the more likely you are to suffer from serious malnutrition."

10 States In Survey

Schaefer's study, conducted under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, surveyed 10 states—large nd small, urban and rural, North and South.

As an example of the study's findings Schaefer said a survey of 13,373 persons in Louisiana and Texas—two of the 10 states included in the report—discovered malnutrition's symptoms in widespread growth retardation, anemia, and unacceptable levels of vitamins A and C and riboflavin.

He said the results of the survey have prompted state officials to act to improve welfare and food distribution programs.

Program Planned

"There are indications that the survey in the other eight states will stimulate similar action programs," he said.

But at the time of the survey, he said, less than 10 per cent of those surveyed in Texas participated in either the Food Stamp or Commodity Distribution programs, both federally financed. In Louisiana, he said, 29 per cent of those surveyed took part in the food stamp program and 12 per cent got surplus foods under the commodities programs.

Drawbacks Noted

"Lack of transportation to the source of the program, lack of understanding and eligibility regulations all exerted an influence on participation," he said.

In preliminary findings last year, Schaefer said, most children between one and three years of age were below the average height recorded for wellnourishd American children. In the final study most children between the ages of six months and six years were retarded in growth and some showed signs of retarded bone growth as well, he said.

Physical Growth Hindered

"Growth retardation is one of the first indications of malnutrition and reduced physical growth can be indicative of mental and neurological retardation." he added.

"The incidence of serious malnutrition—multiple nutritional deficiencies—is five times as high in persons at the bottom of the income scale," Dr. Schaefer said, adding that the bottom was considered $1,800 a year and below and the top $7,400 annually and above.

"The incidence of serious malnutrition among those persons in the middle of the poverty range—$1,800 to $3,600—was two times as high as those at the top," he said.

Puerto Rico Eyes Star On United States Flag

By GREGORY NOKES

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, its highways jammed with Detroit's cars and its beaches crowded with New York's tourists, appears set on a course aimed at putting its star on Old Glory as the 51st U.S. state.

The event may be 10 or more years off, or may never occur at all, but there's a "statehood" governor in the 450-year-old La Fortaleza mansion and many people regard it as a foregone conclusion. Some of those who favor statehood also fear it.

Approach Of Death?

"It's like the approach of death," says the wife of a San Juan architect. "You always know you will die some day, and we always knew we would eventually become a state. But the closer it gets, the more you dread it."

Many Puero Ricans fear complete Americanization of the island under statehood. They think all or most of what they hold dear from the Spanish heritage will he lost, especially the language. Gov. Luis A. Ferre, a leading advocate of statehood, insists this does not have to happen.

Statehood Opposed

One of those who opposes statehood, and favors independence, said in a recent speech that Puerto Rico's population growth is one of the last lines of resistance against the United States.

"Never should the density of our population be weakened, that wall which resists the destruction of our personality and our race," said Eladio Rodriguez Otero, president of the Ateneo Puertorriqueno, a cultural organization.

A current birth control program, he said, is primarily financed by federal funds and is "an anti-Puerto Rican plan." He asked, "What right is there to impede the increase of our population when there is no check on the entry, which is every day greater, of the thousands of people who arrive from the outside to our land to take up residence here?"

Eye Stronger U. S. Ties

The trend in Puerto Rico today, however, is toward stronger ties with the mainland. President Nixon and Gov. Ferre have a joint committee to study whether to let Puerto Ricans vote for president. There are one million registered voters in a population of about three million.

In 1973, Puerto Rico will pass through its 75th year of domination by the United States. The island was one of the spoils of the Spanish-American War.

Americans Puzzled

Few visiting Americans understand it. The island has operated under a commonwealth form of government since the 1940s, and only in recent years has there been major interest in statehood.

The debate over statehood, commonwealth and independence, the three status alternatives, is the major topic in Puerto Rico today, and every decision and every act by the government, no matter how trivial in appearace, is judged in that context.

Given U.S. citizenship and drafted into the U.S. armed forces, the Puerto Rican nevertheless lacks voting representation in Congress. He thinks of himself as something different from his fellow citizens to the north. He calls English-speaking mainlanders Americans or Americanos, while he refers to himself, with pride, as a Puerto Rican or Puertorriqueno.

200 Killed In War

More than 200 islanders have been killed in the Vietnam war.

Never independent since conquest by Spain's Ponce de Leon in the early 1500s, Puerto Rico is a product of the Spanish culture and a captive of the U.S. life-style.

The estimated 50,000 mainlanders living in Puerto Rico refer to themselves as "continentals." Most occupy well-paying jobs in industry, finance, the media and government, and most get along fine without knowing any Spanish. They send their children to private English-speaking schools, read an English newspaper, watch the English-language television or listen to one of the several English-language radio stations.

English Tourists Visit

They attend English-language churches and can even hear Ferre deliver an English-language speech when he is addressing a group of them

Several hundred thousand English-speaking tourists, mostly from the New York area, visit the island each year.

There is a large and growing bilingual Puerto Rican middle class. These people live in characterless suburbs which stretch through once fertile valleys south of San Juan. With 400,000 vehicles already crowding island roads, officials are considering a subway system.

Pope To Issue New Marriage Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI will issue new papal regulations permitting Catholics to marry non-Catholics without the presence of a priest, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops has announced.

In a statement Tuesday, the conference said the Pope would list 17 norms on mixed marriages in a 2,400-word letter to be issued Thursday.

The conference added the Pope took the action "on his own initiative." According to the conference, the two major deveolpments in the letter are:

—"Diocesan bishops may now permit mixed marriages involving Catholics to take place without the presence of a Catholic priest, provided there is some public form of marriage service. This dispensation from the required form of Catholic marriage may be granted only for serious reasons.

"In recent years such concessions had been made on an individual basis, but only by the Holy See. The new rule recognizes the local bishops' authority . . ."

—"The 1966 instruction on mixed marriages, now in force, asked that the non-Catholic party to a mixed marriage 'be invited to promise sincerely and openly that he will in no way impede' the obligation of the Catholic 'to guard, preserve, profess his (her) own faith and to baptize and educate the offspring in that faith.'

"The new regulation . . . eliminates any demand for a promise on the part of the non-Catholic. Instead it first affirms the Catholic party's responsibility: '. . . the Catholic party shall declare that he is ready to remove dangers of falling away from the faith.'

'He is also gravely bound to do all in his power to have all the children baptized and brought up in the Catholic Church . . . . At an opportune time the non-Catholic party must be informed of these promises . . . so . . . he is cognizant of the promise and obligation on the part of the Catholic.' "

Mixed-faith marriages will continue to be discouraged by the Pope, the conference added, and he will state the marriages "do not, except in some cases, help in re-establishing unity among Christians."

The last major papal document on mixed marriages was issued in 1966 and lifted excommunication of Roman Catholics who married outside their church.

Battle Lines Form In Abortion Hassle

LANSING (AP) — Emotional battle lines formed today as the Michigan Senate debated a bill aimed at liberalizing current state abortion law, condemned as "archaic, barbaric and hypocritical" by the only woman senator.

Members of the Michigan Organization for Repeal of Abortion Laws (MORAL) planned a morning demonstration—dubbed an "abort-in"—on the steps of the Capitol.

Another group, called "the right to life movement," took a half-page advertisement on the Lansing State Journal's Capitol Affairs Page Tuesday,printing an article it headlined: "Abortion—Killing Children—A Doctor Tells How It's Being Done."

Senators received stacks of telegrams from pro and anti-abortion reform forces. One urged a lawmaker to "please protect the lives of defenseless children by opposing abortion bill. Do not legalize infant murder."

The Senate began discussion, but took no formal action, Tuesday on the abortion reform question.

Awaiting consideration was a committee - approved substitute to a bill sponsored by Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor.

The substitute, which closely follows provisions of a reform measure endorsed by Gov. William Milliken, would allow a woman who had lived in Michigan for at least 90 days to have an abortion for any reason during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

Her doctor would have to take "all reasonable and diligent steps to notify the husband" if the woman were living with her spouse. The operation would be performed in a hospital, clinic or any other facility approved by the Michigan Public Health Department.

The bill, reported to the Senate floor by the Committee on Health, Social Services and Welfare, also includes provisions for pregnant women under 18 to have the consent of a parent or legal guardian for the operation.

Doctors would be exempt from criminal prosecution under a "conscience clause" and those pregnant for more than 90 days might obtain legal abortions if there were "significant risk" to the child.

Current law allows abortion only when the life of the mother is endangered.

The Senate defeated a less liberal abortion reform measure last year.

Altrusa Club Hosts South American Girls

On Monday, April 27, the Altrusa Club was host to five young ladies from South America. They were the senoritas Angelica Mellado of Concepcion, Chile, Patricia Schuffeneger of Santiago, Chile, Ximena Soza of Vina del Mar, Chile, and Christa Aranha and Valeria Loureiro, both of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Arrangements were made by the International Relations committee, Mrs. Ivan Wood chairman, Mrs. O. W. Brookes and Mrs. Donald Haapala.

Toured Escanaba

During the day the girls visited several places of interest in Escanaba. Conducted tours featured the Medicenter facilities and the First National Bank. The Board of Directors of Altrusa hosted a buffet-supper at the home of Mrs. Wood.

Seeking to promote intercultural understanding, an informal discussion was held in the evening for Altrusans and invited guests who were welcomed by President Vera Clairmont. The program was moderated by Mrs. Haapala and was held in the Hospitality Room of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Many of the the interesting slides shown pointed out the sharp geographical contrasts between Chile and Brazil. However, the discussion that followed, left the impression that the two countries are similar in many ways.

University Education

In both countries there is a growing middle class and a trend to seek a university education. The goals of the young people are much like those of the teenagers in the United States. More and more women are pursuing college degrees, although, if they marry, they are less likely to work than are women in the USA.

For centuries, it had been traditional for Latin-American families of European descent to send their children to Europe to be educated. Now there is a sharp increase in the number of young people who study in the USA. This has a great impact on mutual understanding, because students are returning to their native countries with a very real, first-hand knowledge of life in the United States.

The exchange-student programs offer an excellent opportunity for a youth to gain command of the English language. Though Portuguese is the national language of Brazil and Spanish of Chile, there is a growing use of English in the business world of South America.

Space Program

The girls said that the space program has created much interest in their countries, but their countrymen are also aware of our need to solve our social problems.

Though contact with returning exchange students had given them an accurate picture of American life, in general, they were not aware of our problems of pollution, the dangers of smoking or alcoholism.

Many differences between the countries are due to geography. Brazil is on the Atlantic where surfing is a popular pasttime. Chile's Pacific coastline is more rugged and the snowcapped mountains invite many ski fans.

Following the program, the women enjoyed visiting with the young ladies. The coffee hour was arranged by Miss Tyne Kangas and her committee.

ON MONDAY, five young ladies from South America were guests of the Altrusa Club of Escanaba. During the day the girls toured various places of interest in Escanaba and later were guests at a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Ivan Wood, which was hosted by the Board of Directors of the club. Now there is a sharp increase in the number of young people who study in the USA. This has a great impact on mutual understanding, because students are returning to their native countries with a very real, first-hand knowledge of life in the United States.

The exchange-student programs offer an excellent opportunity for a youth to gain command of the English language. Though Portuguese is the national language of Brazil and Spanish of Chile, there is a growing use of English in the business world of South America.

Space Program

The girls said that the space program has created much interest in their countries, but their countrymen are also aware of our need to solve our social problems.

Though contact with returning exchange students had given them an accurate picture of American life, in general, they were not aware of our problems of pollution, the dangers of smoking or alcoholism.

Many differences between the countries are due to geography. Brazil is on the Atlantic where surfing is a popular pasttime. Chile's Pacific coastline is more rugged and the snowcapped mountains invite many ski fans.

Following the program, the women enjoyed visiting with the young ladies. The coffee hour was arranged by Miss Tyne Kangas and her committee.

ON MONDAY, five young ladies from South America were guests of the Altrusa Club of Escanaba. During the day the girls toured various places of interest in Escanaba and later were guests at a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Ivan Wood, which was hosted by the Board of Directors of the club. Ex-Admiral, 104, Relates His Present Views

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The nation's oldest admiral has a glint in his blue eyes as he chuckles over women's fashions, criticizes the "now" generation and urges modernization of the fleet

"Women's fashions are like ocean waves," says Richard H. Jackson, who is two weeks away from his 104th birthday. "Their hemlines go up and come down again with a kind of predictable regularity."

Of sea power, he says: "We used to think the Russians were a pretty powerful land power but now they're using their new navy in a geat show of force.

"We want a fleet that can be in the right place at the right time and with the right weapons. We can't afford to have too many ships scattered about that can't do the job."

The American Battleship Association is arranging Jackson's May 10 birthday party, with President Nixon among those invited.

Jackson, who was 64 when he retired in 1930 as commander of the U.S. battle fleet, said of America's "now" generation:

"They think they know it all, but a lot of the old salts around know they don't. It takes a lot of years to learn the difference between opinion and experience."

Market Making Upward Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market began moving fractionally upward early today in very active trading.

A few minutes after the opening bell, the New York Stock Exchange tape was running one minute late.

At 10:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.25 to 725.58.

Declines outnumbered advances, however, by a good margin.

The stock market Tuesday declined sharply for the second day, throwing the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials once again to a new six year low.

The Dow average fell 10.82 to 724.33, lowest closing level since President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963, when the average closed at 711.49.

The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks dropped .66 to 44.08, the lowest since Jan. 4, 1967, when it stood at 43.82.

Analysts attributed the decline to the same factors that have caused the Dow average to fall nearly 50 points in the past five sessions. Lower first quarter earnings reports, concern over the Cambodian situation and fears of inflation. Also, the government reported Tuesday that its index of leading economic indicators—which tend to foreshadow broad movements in the economy—fell in March after showing a gain in February.

Volume was active, with 12.62 million shares changing hands.

Briefly Told

The U. P. Chiefs Motorcycle Club will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Trenary Townhall.

Gregory Viau, 21, Rte. 1 Rapid River, received minor injuries Tuesday when the handle bars broke on the motorcycle he was driving causing the motorcycle to upset, according to State Police. Officers said the accident occurred about 7:40 p.m. on U.S. 2 just east of Rapid River, and Viau was the only one invloved. Viau sought his own treatment for injuries, police said.

Round-The-World Sailor Nears Goal

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — With only four cats for company on a tossing sea, a tousled blond youth tacked his way up the coast today, almost within sight of his goal: To become the youngest person ever to travel alone around the world in a sailboat.

His parents and the attractive, now pregnant California girl he met and married during his trip expect to greet Robin Lee Graham here Thursday afternoon. He told the Coast Guard by radio Tuesday he was 150 miles away.

Robin was 16 when he set out from Long Beach four years and nine months ago in his 24-foot sloop "Dove."

Last March 5 he spent his 21st birthday painting the bottom of his newer, larger boat, "Return of the Dove," in the Galapagos Islands. His last, 3,600-mile leg started there.

He started out with two cats as companions, but one jumped ship in Samoa and the other was run over by a truck in Fiji. In South Africa he acquired two more cats, which two months ago had two kittens.

"I'll be relieved when he arrives," said Robin's father, Lyle Graham, a real estate man. The Grahams live in nearby Newport Beach.

Patti, his blue-eyed, smiling wife, said, "I'm very excited, of course." Has she been worried? "No, I have full confidence in his abilities. I believe there's a guardian angel on his shoulder."

Patti's father manages a marine hardware store in Long Beach. Now in her early 20s, she developed a taste for travel after attending Santa Monica City College.

A mutual friend introduced her and Robin in Fiji.

"Seven months later we met in Australia, where I was planning to stay," she said. "But he talked me into going to South Africa. I took a passenger liner."

After their marriage, Patti followed by ship and air and met him at Barbados in the Caribbean and more recently in the Galapagos Islands. Why didn't she accompany him on his voyage?

"He started out singlehanded, and he wanted to finish singlehanded," said the smiling wife.

She confided: "Robin will be a father in July."

Why did Robin undertake his solo journey? Because, he has explained, he wanted to see the world but not as a typical tourist.

In 1965 his father bought him the used, 24-foot fiberglass "dove" for his dream trip. They spent the summer outfitting it and charting a course that would take advantage of winds, currents and weather patterns.

Since St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands, Robin has sailed the 33-foot sloop "Return of the Dove," acquired with earnings from his writing and photographs.

The future? Patti says he plans to return to school and become an oceanographer.

Actress Eulogized By Robert Stack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "She was one of the beautiful people, the larger-than-life people who filled the screen," said Robert Stack, delivering the eulogy for Anita Louise.

Stack and four other actors—Henry Fonda, Anthony Quinn, Ricardo Montalban and Jim Backus—were among pallbearers Tuesday as the 55-year-old actress was buried at Forest Lawn in Glendale.

Miss Louise made more than 70 movies in a career of nearly 50 years. She had appeared recently in the "Mannix" and "Mod Squad" television series. She died Saturday of a stroke.

Halt Fighting At Dak Seang

By The Associated Press

Fighting came to a halt around the besieged Dak Seang Special Forces camp in South Vietnam today after the Viet Cong offered to release prisoners it has captured in the month-long siege.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said no POWs had been released by midafternoon. He reported that South Vietnamese observation planes were circling the area but had spotted "nothing unusual."

The Viet Cong radio said Tuesday night it would release its captives in the fighting around the camp in the Central Highlands if U.S. and South Vietnamese forces called off all war activity there today.

Saigon announced a "tactical halt in operations" beginning at noon. A military spokesman said he did not know when the cease-fire would end.

The Viet Cong did not say how many prisoners they would release. Saigon says nine government troops are missing at Dak Seang and 15 in recent fighting at the Dak Pek Special Forces camp 20 miles to the north.

In Cambodia, a military spokesman reported that government forces were battling Viet Cong and North vietnamese troops in two areas north of Phnom Penh.

Maj. Am Rong reported continuing heavy fighting at Chhlong, on the Mekong River 90 miles northeast of the capital, and near Senmonorom, 90 miles to the east and just across the border from South Vietnam.

Wounded Cambodian soldiers returning from the Chhlong area told newsmen they had been shot at by American helicopters near Krek, about 10 miles from the Vietnamese border. The tops of their trucks had bullet holes in them. But a U.S. spokesman in Saigon said he had heard no reports of firing into Cambodia.

Radioactive Fuel Cask Apparently Survived Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A cask of radioactive fuel aboard the Apollo 13 lunar module apparently survived re-entry into the earth's atmosphere and sank in the South Pacific near the Fiji Islands without releasing any radiation.

The Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday no increase in radiation was detected over a 300,000-square-mile test area.

The cask, made of graphite and beryllium, was strapped to the lunar lander, which burned up in the earth's atmosphere. The lander was jettisoned by astronauts James A. Lovell, Fred W. Haise and John L. Swigert shortly before their command ship entered the atmosphere.

The radioactive plutonium 238 in the cask was to have powered an electric generator on the moon.

"The absence of additional radiation indicates that the cask containing the plutonium fuel survived—as designed—the heat of re-entry in the South Pacific intact and sank to the ocean bottom," the AEC said.

Companies Given Warnings About New Generation

LONDON (AP) — Students who have demanded and won the right to participate in running their universities are going to demand the same thing when they take jobs in industry, Jack Straw, president of Britain's National Union of Students, said Tuesday.

"Industrialists would be naive if they did not take student demands seriously," he told a conference for businessmen and educators.

"Some of the ideas students develop in university are likely to rub off on industry," he added. "Industry will be faced with the same problems" as university authorities.

Straw urged businessmen to begin discussing now how to handle such problems.

Youth Charged In Auto Theft

Anthony J. Stevens, 17, of 1617 Lake Shore Dr., Gladstone, was arraigned in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman Monday on charges of auto theft and leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Police said Stevens was arrested after investigation into the theft Friday night of a car owned by Jeanette LaCrosse, 1323 Sheridan Rd. The car was taken from behind her home and involved in a series of accidents in the area, officers said.

Stevens requested a court appointed attorney and preliminary examination will be held within 10 days.

Police alleged that Stevens entered the LaCrosse home, opened a purse on a table, took the keys and went to the car. Officers said he backed the car into a fence belonging to Leslie Porath, ran into a storage shed at Nelson's Cash Store, and hit a tree, utility pole, and a car owned by Mary Kobasic.

Companies Given Warnings About New Generation

LONDON (AP) — Students who have demanded and won the right to participate in running their universities are going to demand the same thing when they take jobs in industry, Jack Straw, president of Britain's National Union of Students, said Tuesday.

"Industrialists would be naive if they did not take student demands seriously," he told a conference for businessmen and educators.

"Some of the ideas students develop in university are likely to rub off on industry," he added. "Industry will be faced with the same problems" as university authorities.

Straw urged businessmen to begin discussing now how to handle such problems.

Youth Charged In Auto Theft

Anthony J. Stevens, 17, of 1617 Lake Shore Dr., Gladstone, was arraigned in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman Monday on charges of auto theft and leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Police said Stevens was arrested after investigation into the theft Friday night of a car owned by Jeanette LaCrosse, 1323 Sheridan Rd. The car was taken from behind her home and involved in a series of accidents in the area, officers said.

Stevens requested a court appointed attorney and preliminary examination will be held within 10 days.

Police alleged that Stevens entered the LaCrosse home, opened a purse on a table, took the keys and went to the car. Officers said he backed the car into a fence belonging to Leslie Porath, ran into a storage shed at Nelson's Cash Store, and hit a tree, utility pole, and a car owned by Mary Kobasic.

Frost Damages Some Crops On Western Coast

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Frost did extensive damage overnight Tuesday to grape vines, fruits and row crops in the northern San Joaquin Valley, one of the nation's major agricultural regions. Money estimates were not yet available.

In the Hughson - Waterford area in eastern Stanislaus County the temperature was 29 degrees for much of the night and Walter Haatman of the U.S. Fruit Frost Warning Service said peaches and almonds were damaged.

Ex-Admiral, 104, Relates His Present Views

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The nation's oldest admiral has a glint in his blue eyes as he chuckles over women's fashions, criticizes the "now" generation and urges modernization of the fleet

"Women's fashions are like ocean waves," says Richard H. Jackson, who is two weeks away from his 104th birthday. "Their hemlines go up and come down again with a kind of predictable regularity."

Of sea power, he says: "We used to think the Russians were a pretty powerful land power but now they're using their new navy in a geat show of force.

"We want a fleet that can be in the right place at the right time and with the right weapons. We can't afford to have too many ships scattered about that can't do the job."

The American Battleship Association is arranging Jackson's May 10 birthday party, with President Nixon among those invited.

Jackson, who was 64 when he retired in 1930 as commander of the U.S. battle fleet, said of America's "now" generation:

"They think they know it all, but a lot of the old salts around know they don't. It takes a lot of years to learn the difference between opinion and experience."

Market Making Upward Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market began moving fractionally upward early today in very active trading.

A few minutes after the opening bell, the New York Stock Exchange tape was running one minute late.

At 10:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.25 to 725.58.

Declines outnumbered advances, however, by a good margin.

The stock market Tuesday declined sharply for the second day, throwing the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials once again to a new six year low.

The Dow average fell 10.82 to 724.33, lowest closing level since President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963, when the average closed at 711.49.

The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks dropped .66 to 44.08, the lowest since Jan. 4, 1967, when it stood at 43.82.

Analysts attributed the decline to the same factors that have caused the Dow average to fall nearly 50 points in the past five sessions. Lower first quarter earnings reports, concern over the Cambodian situation and fears of inflation. Also, the government reported Tuesday that its index of leading economic indicators—which tend to foreshadow broad movements in the economy—fell in March after showing a gain in February.

Volume was active, with 12.62 million shares changing hands.

Briefly Told

The U. P. Chiefs Motorcycle Club will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Trenary Townhall.

Gregory Viau, 21, Rte. 1 Rapid River, received minor injuries Tuesday when the handle bars broke on the motorcycle he was driving causing the motorcycle to upset, according to State Police. Officers said the accident occurred about 7:40 p.m. on U.S. 2 just east of Rapid River, and Viau was the only one invloved. Viau sought his own treatment for injuries, police said.

Round-The-World Sailor Nears Goal

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — With only four cats for company on a tossing sea, a tousled blond youth tacked his way up the coast today, almost within sight of his goal: To become the youngest person ever to travel alone around the world in a sailboat.

His parents and the attractive, now pregnant California girl he met and married during his trip expect to greet Robin Lee Graham here Thursday afternoon. He told the Coast Guard by radio Tuesday he was 150 miles away.

Robin was 16 when he set out from Long Beach four years and nine months ago in his 24-foot sloop "Dove."

Last March 5 he spent his 21st birthday painting the bottom of his newer, larger boat, "Return of the Dove," in the Galapagos Islands. His last, 3,600-mile leg started there.

He started out with two cats as companions, but one jumped ship in Samoa and the other was run over by a truck in Fiji. In South Africa he acquired two more cats, which two months ago had two kittens.

"I'll be relieved when he arrives," said Robin's father, Lyle Graham, a real estate man. The Grahams live in nearby Newport Beach.

Patti, his blue-eyed, smiling wife, said, "I'm very excited, of course." Has she been worried? "No, I have full confidence in his abilities. I believe there's a guardian angel on his shoulder."

Patti's father manages a marine hardware store in Long Beach. Now in her early 20s, she developed a taste for travel after attending Santa Monica City College.

A mutual friend introduced her and Robin in Fiji.

"Seven months later we met in Australia, where I was planning to stay," she said. "But he talked me into going to South Africa. I took a passenger liner."

After their marriage, Patti followed by ship and air and met him at Barbados in the Caribbean and more recently in the Galapagos Islands. Why didn't she accompany him on his voyage?

"He started out singlehanded, and he wanted to finish singlehanded," said the smiling wife.

She confided: "Robin will be a father in July."

Why did Robin undertake his solo journey? Because, he has explained, he wanted to see the world but not as a typical tourist.

In 1965 his father bought him the used, 24-foot fiberglass "dove" for his dream trip. They spent the summer outfitting it and charting a course that would take advantage of winds, currents and weather patterns.

Since St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands, Robin has sailed the 33-foot sloop "Return of the Dove," acquired with earnings from his writing and photographs.

The future? Patti says he plans to return to school and become an oceanographer.

Actress Eulogized By Robert Stack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "She was one of the beautiful people, the larger-than-life people who filled the screen," said Robert Stack, delivering the eulogy for Anita Louise.

Stack and four other actors—Henry Fonda, Anthony Quinn, Ricardo Montalban and Jim Backus—were among pallbearers Tuesday as the 55-year-old actress was buried at Forest Lawn in Glendale.

Miss Louise made more than 70 movies in a career of nearly 50 years. She had appeared recently in the "Mannix" and "Mod Squad" television series.

She died Saturday of a stroke.

Halt Fighting At Dak Seang

By The Associated Press

Fighting came to a halt around the besieged Dak Seang Special Forces camp in South Vietnam today after the Viet Cong offered to release prisoners it has captured in the month-long siege.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said no POWs had been released by midafternoon. He reported that South Vietnamese observation planes were circling the area but had spotted "nothing unusual."

The Viet Cong radio said Tuesday night it would release its captives in the fighting around the camp in the Central Highlands if U.S. and South Vietnamese forces called off all war activity there today.

Saigon announced a "tactical halt in operations" beginning at noon. A military spokesman said he did not know when the cease-fire would end.

The Viet Cong did not say how many prisoners they would release. Saigon says nine government troops are missing at Dak Seang and 15 in recent fighting at the Dak Pek Special Forces camp 20 miles to the north.

In Cambodia, a military spokesman reported that government forces were battling Viet Cong and North vietnamese troops in two areas north of Phnom Penh.

Maj. Am Rong reported continuing heavy fighting at Chhlong, on the Mekong River 90 miles northeast of the capital, and near Senmonorom, 90 miles to the east and just across the border from South Vietnam.

Wounded Cambodian soldiers returning from the Chhlong area told newsmen they had been shot at by American helicopters near Krek, about 10 miles from the Vietnamese border. The tops of their trucks had bullet holes in them. But a U.S. spokesman in Saigon said he had heard no reports of firing into Cambodia.

Radioactive Fuel Cask Apparently Survived Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A cask of radioactive fuel aboard the Apollo 13 lunar module apparently survived re-entry into the earth's atmosphere and sank in the South Pacific near the Fiji Islands without releasing any radiation.

The Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday no increase in radiation was detected over a 300,000-square-mile test area.

The cask, made of graphite and beryllium, was strapped to the lunar lander, which burned up in the earth's atmosphere. The lander was jettisoned by astronauts James A. Lovell, Fred W. Haise and John L. Swigert shortly before their command ship entered the atmosphere.

The radioactive plutonium 238 in the cask was to have powered an electric generator on the moon.

"The absence of additional radiation indicates that the cask containing the plutonium fuel survived—as designed—the heat of re-entry in the South Pacific intact and sank to the ocean bottom," the AEC said.

Eastern Division Leads American League Race

By The Associated Press

For one day at least—there could be no argument—the East had won the battle over the West in American League divisional skirmishes.

Tuesday was the day the East shone as they swept all six contests against Western opponents.

In the only day game, the Cleveland Indians started the rout with a 3-1 triumph over Minnesota and were soon followed at night by Detroit, an 8-6 victor over Kansas City, Baltimore, 4-2 winners over Chicago, Washington, 9-6 over Milwaukee, New York, with a 7-5 triumph over California and Boston, which swept past Oakland, 2-1.

18-6 Edge

With the six victories Tuesday the Al East took an 18-6 edge over Western opponents this season. The Orioles lead the East pack with a 4-0 record while the Kansas City Royals, 0-4, have yet to beat an Eastern club.

Tony Horton, who said "I was just looking for the first ball that looked good to me," slammed a two-run ninth inning double, gave the Indians their victory over the Twins.

The slugging first baseman got his chance, when after one out, Harmon Killebrew dropped a foul pop hit by Ted Uhlaender. Uhlaender, with another life, slapped a single to center. One out later Vada Pinson singled, setting up Horton's game-winner.

Boog Powell knocked in all four runs in the Orioles victory. Powell, who belted White Sox pitchers for eight homers and a .459 batting average last year, quickly got started this season, slamming a three-run homer in the opening inning and added a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Cuellar Wins

Co-holder of last year's Cy Young Award, Mike Cuellar, benefitted from Cowell's belting, gaining his third victory while scattering eight hits, including a homer by the Sox' Bill Melton.

Frank Howard, Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez poled home runs in the Senators long-ball battle with the Brewers. Ted Savage and Danny Walton connected for Milwaukee. It was Walton's seventh of the season, best in the league.

Rodriguez, playing in only his second game for the Senators since being traded from California, slugged a three-run shot in the fifth inning, giving Washington a 7-2 edge. Howard's sixth of the year came with one on in the sixth while Stroud unloaded in the third. Howard added a run-scoring double.

Yankees Triumph

Fritz Peterson knocked in three runs with a single and his first major league homer and Ron Woods added a two-run shot for the Yanks over the Angels.

Peterson, 2-2, was sailing along on a four-hitter, got within one out of completing New York's first pitching assignment of the season before being rocked. Ken McMullen socked a two-run homer and with two men on base, Steve Hamilton relieved the left-hander. Another run scored before the victory was secured.

Tony Conigliaro and Mike Andrews rapped solo homers to back the pitching of left-hander Bill Lee in Boston's narrow triumph.

Lee had a one-hitter through seven innings before the 23-year-old ran into trouble and needed relief help.

The A's Frank Fernandez singled after two outs and singles by Bob Pena and Bert Campaneris made it 2-1 before Ray Javis came out of the bullpen to put out the fire.

Conigliario slammed his second homer of the season in the fourth and Andrews followed with his third of the year in the fifth.

Perez Sets Major League Record In Reds' Victory

By The Associated Press

His teammates have hot-hitting Tony Perez figured out which is more than you can say for the rest of the National League.

"He's hitting everything and everybody," said Pete Rose, an expert on the subject who has won the NL batting title in each of the last two years.

That's the straight-forward explanation, Bobby Tolan, another Cincinnati slugger, subscribes to a more mystical approach.

"He must be trying," said Tolan, "to get into the next higher league."

Record

Whatever Perez has up his sleeve, he gave Houston more of the same Tuesday night, setting a major league record with his 10th home run this month as the Reds whipped the Astros 4-2.

Elsewhere in the NI Tuesday night, Pittsburgh slugged Chicago 6-1 Atlanta edged St. Louis 3-2, New York dropped San Francisco 5-2, Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings and Montreal swept a doubleheader from San Diego 4-2 and 7-3.

Perez' two-run shot shattered the 48-year-old record for home runs in the month of April established in 1922 by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns who tagged nine. Perez had broken the NL mark of eight shared by Lee Walls and Wally Moon a couple of days ago.

Has .461 Average

In addition to his homer, Perez had an RBI single and boosted his major league leading batting average to .461. He has 26 RBIs.

"I feel strong and I see the ball all the way up there," said Perez. "I feel like I'm going to hit it everytime I step up to the plate."

Gary Nolan rode Perez' heavy hitting to his fourth straight victory with Don Gullett providing ninth inning relief after a pinch homer by John Mayberry.

Cubs Defeated

The Pirates ended Chicago's 11-game winning streak with two home runs by Manny Sanguillen and combined three-hit pitching by Luke Walker, Bruce Dal Canton and Dave Giusti.

Sanguillen tagged a two-run homer over the left field wall in the first inning and then reached the identical spot with the bases empty in the sixth.

Dal Canton rescued Walker from a fifth inning jam, then left the game with a pulled muscle and Giusti finished up. It was the Cubs' first loss since April 12.

Clete Boyer unloaded a two-run homer in the ninth, giving the Braves their victory over St. Louis. Mike Torrez had been riding a 2-1 lead produced by Richie Allen's fifth homer of the year for the Cards until Boyer struck.

Aaron Homers

Hank Aaron tagged his seventh of the season for the Braves in the first inning.

Dave Marshall, an ex-Giant, exploded a first inning grand slam homer and gave the Mets enough of a cushion to beat the Giants.

Marshall's shot keyed a five-run Met first and Gary Gentry went eight innings to earn his second victory of the year. He gave up six hits including the 602nd home run of Willie Mays' career. Tug Mcgraw finished up for New York, striking out two in the ninth.

Larry Hisle's two-out homer in the ninth tied the game and then a pinch homer by Rick Groseph leading off the 10th gave Philadelphia its sixth straight victory and beat the Dodgers.

Billy Grabarkewitz had snapped a 1-1 tie with a leadoff homer in the eighth for LA before Hisle tied it again in the Phils' last gasp. Reliever Dick Selma earned the victory and finished the game at third base when left-hander Joe Hoerner came on to retire left-handed batter Willie Davis with the trying run on second in the bottom of the 10th.

Montreal bunched all its runs in the eighth inning of the opener to beat San Diego. Ron Fairly hammered a two-run homer and Bobby Wine's single drove two more across for the Expos. Steve Huntz homered for the Padres.

Fairly homered again in the nightcap and Steve Renko pitched a six-hitter as the Expos completed the sweep and extended San Diego's losing streak to six games. The Expos have won three straight.

Kaline Belts Homer; Tigers Triumph 8-3

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The long ball finally arrived for Al Kaline.

The veteran Tiger right fielder cracked his first homerun of the season in Detroit's 16th game Tuesday night, highlighting a four-run third inning and launching th Tigers toward an 8-3 win over the Kansas City Royals.

"I usually hit the first one sooner than this," Kaline said, "but it doesn't bother me. I've just been trying to meet the ball and get on base." The homer was the only hit Kaline got in four trips to the plate. He's batting .317 and leading the team.

Kaline said he really wasn't looking for the homer.

"I just wanted to get the man home from third," he said. "The last couple of years I've had good starts, and this spring I feel great. I've had no aches or pains, and I'm hitting pretty good."

Royals General Manager Charlie Metro, meanwhile, was hardly pleased with his two-year-old ball club's performance, which had been studded with errors.

"The biggest disappointment is our pitching," said the Royals no-nonsense manager. "—don't know what to think about Bunker," he said referring to Wally Bunker, the victim of the third-inning explosion, who suffered his fifth straight defeat.

Then Metro, usually tight-lipped, added: "He's supposed to be one of our wheelhorses, a dependable guy. But here lately we're out of the ballgame before we get past our starting pitcher."

Al Kaline

The Tigers are now back on the win trail after two defeats in a row at Minnesota. Detroit meets Kansas City, 6-11, again today in the second of a three-game series.

Kaline's homer came after two runs had been scored on doubles by pitcher Joe Niekro and second baseman Dick McAuliffe and a single by Mickey Stanley.

Stanley doubled home another run in the fourth and McAuliffe brought in a run with his second double in the fifth as the Tigers mounted an 8-0 lead.

Neikro, 3-0, lost his shutout to consecutive homers by Lou Piniella and Paul Schall in the sixth. All of those runs were unearned, however, as Don Wert's error at third let a runner on ahead of Piniella's homer. Neikro finished with an eight-hitter.

As far as Tigers manager Mayo Smith was concerned, the only flaw in his team's performance were the two home runs.

"We hit the ball and Neikro pitched an outstanding game, except those two pitches in that one inning," he said.

Blues Advance In Puck Action

ST. LOUIS AP) — The way Frank St. Marseille looked at it, a rap in the eye may have been the best thing that's happened to him in the National Hockey League.

The 30-year-old center, coming back from an eye injury, was never in better form than Tuesday night while propelling the St. Louis Blues to a 5-0 Stanley Cup semifinals victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

St. Marseille's first NHL hat trick provided the Blues a 3-2 edge in the best-of-7 series with the action shifting next to Pittsburgh Thursday night.

Dabbing gingerly at a sore right eye with a towel, the Blues' shotmaker explained his marksmanship.

"The chances come, and you just put them in," he said. "I like the way we played tonight as a whole. Checking-Wise, we never gave them a chance."

While St. Marselle converted three of his chances, it hadn't been long before he seemingly couldn't bur a goal.

He scored 15 of his 16 regular-season goals during the first half of the campaign, then sank into the throes of a 34-game slump before connecting April 21 against the Penguins.

"You have to be discouraged," he said, "But if I hadn't been getting chances I'd been a lot more discouraged."

"It was just a matter of breaks," chimed in teammate Red Berenson. "He was getting good chances and making good plays. It's hard to believe a guy could go so long without scoring and then get three."

St. Marseille was at first believed seriously hurt when jabbed in the eye by Penguin Ron Schock's stick during the teams' third playoff game in Pittsburgh.

The injury, however, proved to be a laceration of the right eyelid, and the Blues' playmaker was kept out of action only the fourth game.

"I could have played then in that game," Coach Scotty Bowman said, "but he couldn't see to one side. He said he'd be all right on the power play, but I didn't want to take any chances."

As St. Marseille celebrated a scoring renaissance, 41-year-old Blues' netminder Jacques Plante was told the shutout, his 14th in 105 Cup Games, was a record.

The achievement, he said, was a fitting one to commemorate his 21st wedding anniversary Wednesday.

Plante was called on to stop only 21 Pittsburgh shots and called improved checking by the Blues decisive.

Outside Pittsburgh's dressing room, Penguins' Coach Red Kelly said he still felt the Blues, who have won 15 straight at home against West Division NHL playoff rivals, could be had.

"I've said all along that no matter what game it is, we'll still have to beat them here," Kelly insisted, "and now it looks like game no 7.

"We weren't outskated that badly tonight. We just stood around and let them roam all over the ice."

Holy Name Wins 2nd Track Meet

IRON MOUNTAIN — The Holy Name Crusaders raced to their second straight track victory of the season Tuesday afternoon by out-dueling Kingsford and Iron Mountain at the Mountaineers Athletic field.

Jim Dubord, remained undefeated in both the 100 and 220 dashes, as the Crusaders scored 60 points to 48 for Kingford and 40 for Iron Mountain.

Dubord toured the 220 yard dash in a elapsed time of 24.2 seconds, and then came back to take the 100 yard dash in 10.6 seconds. The Crusaders added to their point production in the dashes with Tom Ness finishing second and third in the respective events.

In the shot put, a rare occasion developed when Holy Name took all four places in that event. Dan Young led the way with a throw of 47 feet 11 inches, followed by Gary Corbett, Joe Harvey and Joe Moberg.

The Crusaders also picked up first place points in the pole vault when Nick Knauf made one of his beter jumps, going over the bar at 11 feet, 6 inches.

Don DeGrand added to the Holy Name first place finishes by winning the two mile run in a time of 11:01.

Other point producers for the Crusaders were Kleiman in the high jump, Dubord in the long jump, Gannon and Beauvais in the mile run, Tanguary in the two mile run, Severinsen in the high hurdles, while McGinn and Kobasic scored points in the 880 yard run. Odgers also scored for the Crusaders in the 40.

In the 880 relay, Kingsford just nosed out Holy Name with a time of 1:37.6 to 1:37.65 for the Crusaders.

Coach Doug Bovin said, "that while Paul Guenette is recovering from his leg injury, Degrand and Tanguary are doing excellent jobs.' He also commented on his team, that he was pleased with their performances.

Eastern Division Leads American League Race

By The Associated Press

For one day at least—there could be no argument—the East had won the battle over the West in American League divisional skirmishes.

Tuesday was the day the East shone as they swept all six contests against Western opponents.

In the only day game, the Cleveland Indians started the rout with a 3-1 triumph over Minnesota and were soon followed at night by Detroit, an 8-6 victor over Kansas City, Baltimore, 4-2 winners over Chicago, Washington, 9-6 over Milwaukee, New York, with a 7-5 triumph over California and Boston, which swept past Oakland, 2-1.

18-6 Edge

With the six victories Tuesday the Al East took an 18-6 edge over Western opponents this season. The Orioles lead the East pack with a 4-0 record while the Kansas City Royals, 0-4, have yet to beat an Eastern club.

Tony Horton, who said "I was just looking for the first ball that looked good to me," slammed a two-run ninth inning double, gave the Indians their victory over the Twins.

The slugging first baseman got his chance, when after one out, Harmon Killebrew dropped a foul pop hit by Ted Uhlaender. Uhlaender, with another life, slapped a single to center. One out later Vada Pinson singled, setting up Horton's game-winner.

Boog Powell knocked in all four runs in the Orioles victory. Powell, who belted White Sox pitchers for eight homers and a .459 batting average last year, quickly got started this season, slamming a three-run homer in the opening inning and added a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Cuellar Wins

Co-holder of last year's Cy Young Award, Mike Cuellar, benefitted from Cowell's belting, gaining his third victory while scattering eight hits, including a homer by the Sox' Bill Melton.

Frank Howard, Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez poled home runs in the Senators long-ball battle with the Brewers. Ted Savage and Danny Walton connected for Milwaukee. It was Walton's seventh of the season, best in the league.

Rodriguez, playing in only his second game for the Senators since being traded from California, slugged a three-run shot in the fifth inning, giving Washington a 7-2 edge. Howard's sixth of the year came with one on in the sixth while Stroud unloaded in the third. Howard added a run-scoring double.

Yankees Triumph

Fritz Peterson knocked in three runs with a single and his first major league homer and Ron Woods added a two-run shot for the Yanks over the Angels.

Peterson, 2-2, was sailing along on a four-hitter, got within one out of completing New York's first pitching assignment of the season before being rocked. Ken McMullen socked a two-run homer and with two men on base, Steve Hamilton relieved the left-hander. Another run scored before the victory was secured.

Tony Conigliaro and Mike Andrews rapped solo homers to back the pitching of left-hander Bill Lee in Boston's narrow triumph.

Lee had a one-hitter through seven innings before the 23-year-old ran into trouble and needed relief help.

The A's Frank Fernandez singled after two outs and singles by Bob Pena and Bert Campaneris made it 2-1 before Ray Javis came out of the bullpen to put out the fire.

Conigliario slammed his second homer of the season in the fourth and Andrews followed with his third of the year in the fifth.

Kaline Belts Homer; Tigers Triumph 8-3

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The long ball finally arrived for Al Kaline.

The veteran Tiger right fielder cracked his first homerun of the season in Detroit's 16th game Tuesday night, highlighting a four-run third inning and launching th Tigers toward an 8-3 win over the Kansas City Royals.

"I usually hit the first one sooner than this," Kaline said, "but it doesn't bother me. I've just been trying to meet the ball and get on base." The homer was the only hit Kaline got in four trips to the plate. He's batting .317 and leading the team.

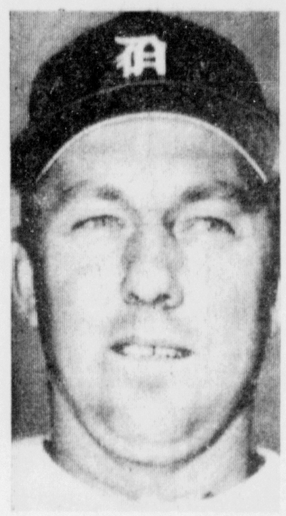
Kaline said he really wasn't looking for the homer.

"I just wanted to get the man home from third," he said. "The last couple of years I've had good starts, and this spring I feel great. I've had no aches or pains, and I'm hitting pretty good."

Royals General Manager Charlie Metro, meanwhile, was hardly pleased with his two-year-old ball club's performance, which had been studded with errors.

"The biggest disappointment is our pitching," said the Royals no-nonsense manager. "—don't know what to think about Bunker," he said referring to Wally Bunker, the victim of the third-inning explosion, who suffered his fifth straight defeat.

Then Metro, usually tight-lipped, added: "He's supposed to be one of our wheelhorses, a dependable guy. But here lately we're out of the ballgame before we get past our starting pitcher."



Al Kaline

The Tigers are now back on the win trail after two defeats in a row at Minnesota. Detroit meets Kansas City, 6-11, again today in the second of a three-game series.

Kaline's homer came after two runs had been scored on doubles by pitcher Joe Niekro and second baseman Dick McAuliffe and a single by Mickey Stanley.

Stanley doubled home another run in the fourth and McAuliffe brought in a run with his second double in the fifth as the Tigers mounted an 8-0 lead.

Neikro, 3-0, lost his shutout to consecutive homers by Lou Piniella and Paul Schall in the sixth. All of those runs were unearned, however, as Don Wert's error at third let a runner on ahead of Piniella's homer. Neikro finished with an eight-hitter.

As far as Tigers manager Mayo Smith was concerned, the only flaw in his team's performance were the two home runs.

"We hit the ball and Neikro pitched an outstanding game, except those two pitches in that one inning," he said.

Perez Sets Major League Record In Reds' Victory

By The Associated Press

His teammates have hot-hitting Tony Perez figured out which is more than you can say for the rest of the National League.

"He's hitting everything and everybody," said Pete Rose, an expert on the subject who has won the NL batting title in each of the last two years.

That's the straight-forward explanation, Bobby Tolan, another Cincinnati slugger, subscribes to a more mystical approach.

"He must be trying," said Tolan, "to get into the next higher league."

Record

Whatever Perez has up his sleeve, he gave Houston more of the same Tuesday night, setting a major league record with his 10th home run this month as the Reds whipped the Astros 4-2.

Elsewhere in the Nl Tuesday night, Pittsburgh slugged Chicago 6-1 Atlanta edged St. Louis 3-2, New York dropped San Francisco 5-2, Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings and Montreal swept a doubleheader from San Diego 4-2 and 7-3.

Perez' two-run shot shattered the 48-year-old record for home runs in the month of April established in 1922 by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns who tagged nine. Perez had broken the NL mark of eight shared by Lee Walls and Wally Moon a couple of days ago.

Has .461 Average

In addition to his homer, Perez had an RBI single and boosted his major league leading batting average to .461. He has 26 RBIs.

"I feel strong and I see the ball all the way up there," said Perez. "I feel like I'm going to hit it everytime I step up to the plate."

Gary Nolan rode Perez' heavy hitting to his fourth straight victory with Don Gullett providing ninth inning relief after a pinch homer by John Mayberry.

Cubs Defeated

The Pirates ended Chicago's 11-game winning streak with two home runs by Manny Sanguillen and combined three-hit pitching by Luke Walker, Bruce Dal Canton and Dave Giusti.

Sanguillen tagged a two-run homer over the left field wall in the first inning and then reached the identical spot with the bases empty in the sixth.

Dal Canton rescued Walker from a fifth inning jam, then left the game with a pulled muscle and Giusti finished up. It was the Cubs' first loss since April 12.

Clete Boyer unloaded a two-run homer in the ninth, giving the Braves their victory over St. Louis. Mike Torrez had been riding a 2-1 lead produced by Richie Allen's fifth homer of the year for the Cards until Boyer struck.

Aaron Homers

Hank Aaron tagged his seventh of the season for the Braves in the first inning.

Dave Marshall, an ex-Giant, exploded a first inning grand slam homer and gave the Mets enough of a cushion to beat the Giants.

Marshall's shot keyed a five-run Met first and Gary Gentry went eight innings to earn his second victory of the year. He gave up six hits including the 602nd home run of Willie Mays' career. Tug Mcgraw finished up for New York, striking out two in the ninth.

Larry Hisle's two-out homer in the ninth tied the game and then a pinch homer by Rick Groseph leading off the 10th gave Philadelphia its sixth straight victory and beat the Dodgers.

Billy Grabarkewitz had snapped a 1-1 tie with a leadoff homer in the eighth for LA before Hisle tied it again in the Phils' last gasp. Reliever Dick Selma earned the victory and finished the game at third base when left-hander Joe Hoerner came on to retire left-handed batter Willie Davis with the trying run on second in the bottom of the 10th.

Montreal bunched all its runs in the eighth inning of the opener to beat San Diego. Ron Fairly hammered a two-run homer and Bobby Wine's single drove two more across for the Expos. Steve Huntz homered for the Padres.

Fairly homered again in the nightcap and Steve Renko pitched a six-hitter as the Expos completed the sweep and extended San Diego's losing streak to six games. The Expos have won three straight.

Blues Advance In Puck Action

ST. LOUIS AP) — The way Frank St. Marseille looked at it, a rap in the eye may have been the best thing that's happened to him in the National Hockey League.

The 30-year-old center, coming back from an eye injury, was never in better form than Tuesday night while propelling the St. Louis Blues to a 5-0 Stanley Cup semifinals victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

St. Marseille's first NHL hat trick provided the Blues a 3-2 edge in the best-of-7 series with the action shifting next to Pittsburgh Thursday night.

Dabbing gingerly at a sore right eye with a towel, the Blues' shotmaker explained his marksmanship.

"The chances come, and you just put them in," he said. "I like the way we played tonight as a whole. Checking-Wise, we never gave them a chance."

While St. Marselle converted three of his chances, it hadn't been long before he seemingly couldn't bur a goal.

He scored 15 of his 16 regular-season goals during the first half of the campaign, then sank into the throes of a 34-game slump before connecting April 21 against the Penguins.

"You have to be discouraged," he said, "But if I hadn't been getting chances I'd been a lot more discouraged."

"It was just a matter of breaks," chimed in teammate Red Berenson. "He was getting good chances and making good plays. It's hard to believe a guy could go so long without scoring and then get three."

St. Marseille was at first believed seriously hurt when jabbed in the eye by Penguin Ron Schock's stick during the teams' third playoff game in Pittsburgh.

The injury, however, proved to be a laceration of the right eyelid, and the Blues' playmaker was kept out of action only the fourth game.

"I could have played him in that game," Coach Scotty Bowman said, "but he couldn't see to one side. He said he'd be all right on the power play, but I didn't want to take any chances."

As St. Marseille celebrated a scoring renaissance, 41-year-old Blues' netminder Jacques Plante was told the shutout, his 14th in 105 Cup Games, was a record.

The achievement, he said, was a fitting one to commemorate his 21st wedding anniversary Wednesday.

Plante was called on to stop only 21 Pittsburgh shots and called improved checking by the Blues decisive.

Outside Pittsburgh's dressing room, Penguins' Coach Red Kelly said he still felt the Blues, who have won 15 straight at home against West Division NHL playoff rivals, could be had.

"I've said all along that no matter what game it is, we'll still have to beat them here," Kelly insisted, "and now it looks like game no 7.

"We weren't outskated that badly tonight. We just stood around and let them roam all over the ice."

Quill, Scroll Group Gets Journalism Tips

By Katharine H. LeBrasseur

John Edmonds, who has just completed 35 years with Field Enterprises of Chicago and is assistant general manager of the Chicago Daily News and associated with the Chicago Sun-Times, discussed the potential growth and career possibilities in the field of journalism at the annual Quill and Scroll banquet Monday night.

"Like what you're doing," Edmonds advised, "since the old adage of copy boy to editor is not true today, unless the copy boy happens to have a college education. Start your journalistic trend in high school; volunteer and become involved with the school paper or year book and then continue in college by taking liberal arts courses and not journalism courses, per se. A study of municipal finance, government, history, political science, literature, English composition, sociology, philosophy and psychology will give you the wide-range of knowledge that is most necessary in the journalistic field," he said.

He gave a pertinent picture of the newspaper business and told of the 74 editions his papers publish daily, requiring 3,000 people in a wide-range of jobs, the 600 printers and the 280 trucks necessary to print and deliver the papers.

Edmonds pointed out that Field Enterprises uses 150,000 tons of newsprint annually of which 17 per cent is supplied by their Manistique mill, a subsidiary of Field Enterprises.

"Get first hand knowledge of a newspaper career by arranging a visit to a newspaper and viewing the many facets of this profitable and stable profession," he concluded.

Edmonds spoke to the 16 Quill and Scroll initiates, their parents, other members of the MHS Crier and Emerald staff and faculty following a 6:30 potluck supper in the MHS main gym.

Initiated into Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society, were Barbara Beaton, Cathy Cooper, Cindy Frenette, Marie Hentschell, Karin Jetty, Erin O'Brien, Mary Stoll, and advisor Bill Carmody, all of the Crier Staff.

Yearbook initiates included Roy Anderson, JoAnn Berger, Sara Brandstrom, Peter Hood, Marie Lesica, Diane Lundwall, Ruth Rogers and advisor Ruben Meyer. The ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur.

Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Carol Marsh with the invocation offered by Barbara Beaton. Fred Cayia II was master of ceremonies. Banquet co-chairmen were Cindy Frenette and Karin Jetty.

Lockwood To Be Speaker At GOP County Dinner

Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, will be the guest speaker at the annual County Republican dinner May 18. The 6:30 dinner will be served in the St. Francis Parish Center.

Congressman Phil Ruppe of Houghton has indicated he will attend, county chairman John Moffat said. Invitations have also been extended to Rep. Charles Varnum, Acting Lieut. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, Rep. Robert Davis and candidate Robert Hazelton.

Ticket information may be had by contacting Moffat or J. Witter Reid.

Briefly Told

The hot lunch menu Thursday at the Manistique Area Schools will include baked bean and meat casserole, celery sticks, banana cream pie and beverage.

Reunion committee of the MHS Class of 1940 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Elks Club.

State Police are investigating the reported breaking and entering of the J. L. LeDuc home at Indian Lake which occurred April 26. Entry was gained by breaking a window, troopers said. Some liquor and money is reported missing. The incident occurred when the owners were absent for a few hours.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Monday were Linda Gillam, Rae Highlund, Amelia Buss, Antone Farley, Edgar Wood, Peggy King and Robert Swisher.

Discharged were Tonya Kendall, Marvin Fleming, Henry Baker, Janice Burns, Estella Howe, Robert Horrall, William Stephens and Rose Nepper.

'Pollution Kit' May Be Answer To U.S. Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman's offer of a do-it-yourself pollution enforcement kit has brought into being a small army of militant conservationists to do battle in federal courts against industrial stream-foulers.

The kit was assembled by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., after he uncovered a rarely-used 1899 law banning the discharge of wastes into streams —and invited citizens to start action against polluters and be rewarded with half of any fines that result.

Reuss kicked things off by invoking the law in affidavits filed with U.S. attorneys in Wisconsin alleging violations by 149 firms.

After he announced his action April 2, mail from conservation-minded citizens began coming in. To reply, Reuss had the kit produced in quantity.

It contains pertinent sections of the 1899 law, a House Committee report further explaining the provisions, directions for invoking it and a list of officials throughout the country.

So far, 338 kits have been sent to inquirers from 35 states and the District of Columbia, Reuss said in an interview. About 50 more went to colleges and organizations.

The 1899 law prohibits discharging refuse—except liquid drainage and sewage—into navigable streams or their tributaries.

"That covers just about every creek," Reuss remarked.

"What I really hope," he said, "is that actions under this law will accelerate efforts by industry to eliminate pollution. I am much more interested in having that happen than in getting fines.

"But as it stands now, most state laws are inadequate and federal actions have resulted in little more than slaps on the wrist."

'Church Pillars' Cited At Dinner

The Bethel Baptist Church hosted their "church pillars" at a turkey dinner Monday night. Guests were members and friends of the church 60 years or older.

Pastor Robert Haring, in the guise of an "old bard," complete with scroll, turban and beard, reminisced in original poetry and song about the early years of the Bethel Church and the contributions of the "pillars." Copies of the presentation were distributed to all in attendance.

Rev. Ingmar Levin, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church, delivered his award-winning Toastmaster speech "You've Got to Laugh, Mrs. Thompson." Music was provided by Carol Beckman, Sandy LaBar, Carol Marsh and Betty Salter, who entertained with a medley of guitar selections, and Mrs. G. Lesile Bouschour who played several accordion melodies.

Ragnar Carlson and Mrs. Freda Brolin were honored as the oldest church members present. Miss Betty Salter presented a framed original charcoal drawing of the church entitled "The Beginning." The first Bethel Church was built in 1889 and was known then as the First Scandinavian Baptist Church.

Program booklet covers were decorated with white silhouettes of the original church.

The 35 "pillars" and other guests viewed a photographic exhibit, spannind several decades, of themselves and their families.

Several photographs were taken during the evening by Pastor Haring and will soon be on display in the church parlors.

Award-Winning Art Exhibits Now On Display

Art students in the Manistique Area Schools have some of their award-winning entries in the Youth Art Salon on exhibit at the Manistique School and Public Library.

The Upper Peninsula Art Teachers Association sponsored a week-long U. P. Youth's Art Salon at Northern Michigan University's Olson Library. The exhibit was climaxed by a reception Saturday for the award winners and their parents.

High school students who received recognition were Russell Musselman, Mary Stoll, Barbara Beaton and Steve Johnson. Area grade school children receiving outstanding excellence awards included Kathy Ostlund and Steve Sabinash, Lakeside School; Boni MacGregoor and Mark Salo, Fairview School; Mike Knopp of Lincoln School; and James Marks, Hiawatha School.

The public is invited to view the exhibit.

Quill, Scroll Group Gets Journalism Tips

By Katharine H. LeBrasseur

John Edmonds, who has just completed 35 years with Field Enterprises of Chicago and is assistant general manager of the Chicago Daily News and associated with the Chicago Sun-Times, discussed the potential growth and career possibilities in the field of journalism at the annual Quill and Scroll banquet Monday night.

"Like what you're doing," Edmonds advised, "since the old adage of copy boy to editor is not true today, unless the copy boy happens to have a college education. Start your journalistic trend in high school; volunteer and become involved with the school paper or year book and then continue in college by taking liberal arts courses and not journalism courses, per se. A study of municipal finance, government, history, political science, literature, English composition, sociology, philosophy and psychology will give you the wide-range of knowledge that is most necessary in the journalistic field," he said.

He gave a pertinent picture of the newspaper business and told of the 74 editions his papers publish daily, requiring 3,000 people in a wide-range of jobs, the 600 printers and the 280 trucks necessary to print and deliver the papers.

Edmonds pointed out that Field Enterprises uses 150,000 tons of newsprint annually of which 17 per cent is supplied by their Manistique mill, a subsidiary of Field Enterprises.

"Get first hand knowledge of a newspaper career by arranging a visit to a newspaper and viewing the many facets of this profitable and stable profession," he concluded.

Edmonds spoke to the 16 Quill and Scroll initiates, their parents, other members of the MHS Crier and Emerald staff and faculty following a 6:30 potluck supper in the MHS main gym.

Initiated into Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society, were Barbara Beaton, Cathy Cooper, Cindy Frenette, Marie Hentschell, Karin Jetty, Erin O'Brien, Mary Stoll, and advisor Bill Carmody, all of the Crier Staff.

Yearbook initiates included Roy Anderson, JoAnn Berger, Sara Brandstrom, Peter Hood, Marie Lesica, Diane Lundwall, Ruth Rogers and advisor Ruben Meyer. The ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur.

Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Carol Marsh with the invocation offered by Barbara Beaton. Fred Cayia II was master of ceremonies. Banquet co-chairmen were Cindy Frenette and Karin Jetty.

Lockwood To Be Speaker At GOP County Dinner

Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, will be the guest speaker at the annual County Republican dinner May 18. The 6:30 dinner will be served in the St. Francis Parish Center.

Congressman Phil Ruppe of Houghton has indicated he will attend, county chairman John Moffat said. Invitations have also been extended to Rep. Charles Varnum, Acting Lieut. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, Rep. Robert Davis and candidate Robert Hazelton.

Ticket information may be had by contacting Moffat or J. Witter Reid.

Briefly Told

The hot lunch menu Thursday at the Manistique Area Schools will include baked bean and meat casserole, celery sticks, banana cream pie and beverage.

Reunion committee of the MHS Class of 1940 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Elks Club.

State Police are investigating the reported breaking and entering of the J. L. LeDuc home at Indian Lake which occurred April 26. Entry was gained by breaking a window, troopers said. Some liquor and money is reported missing. The incident occurred when the owners were absent for a few hours.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Monday were Linda Gillam, Rae Highlund, Amelia Buss, Antone Farley, Edgar Wood, Peggy King and Robert Swisher.

'Pollution Kit' May Be Answer To U.S. Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman's offer of a do-it-yourself pollution enforcement kit has brought into being a small army of militant conservationists to do battle in federal courts against industrial stream-foulers.

The kit was assembled by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., after he uncovered a rarely-used 1899 law banning the discharge of wastes into streams —and invited citizens to start action against polluters and be rewarded with half of any fines that result.

Reuss kicked things off by invoking the law in affidavits filed with U.S. attorneys in Wisconsin alleging violations by 149 firms.

After he announced his action April 2, mail from conservation-minded citizens began coming in. To reply, Reuss had the kit produced in quantity.

It contains pertinent sections of the 1899 law, a House Committee report further explaining the provisions, directions for invoking it and a list of officials throughout the country.

So far, 338 kits have been sent to inquirers from 35 states and the District of Columbia, Reuss said in an interview. About 50 more went to colleges and organizations.

The 1899 law prohibits discharging refuse—except liquid drainage and sewage—into navigable streams or their tributaries.

"That covers just about every creek," Reuss remarked.

"What I really hope," he said, "is that actions under this law will accelerate efforts by industry to eliminate pollution. I am much more interested in having that happen than in getting fines.

"But as it stands now, most state laws are inadequate and federal actions have resulted in little more than slaps on the wrist."

'Church Pillars' Cited At Dinner

The Bethel Baptist Church hosted their "church pillars" at a turkey dinner Monday night. Guests were members and friends of the church 60 years or older.

Pastor Robert Haring, in the guise of an "old bard," complete with scroll, turban and beard, reminisced in original poetry and song about the early years of the Bethel Church and the contributions of the "pillars." Copies of the presentation were distributed to all in attendance.

Rev. Ingmar Levin, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church, delivered his award-winning Toastmaster speech "You've Got to Laugh, Mrs. Thompson." Music was provided by Carol Beckman, Sandy LaBar, Carol Marsh and Betty Salter, who entertained with a medley of guitar selections, and Mrs. G. Lesile Bouschour who played several accordion melodies.

Ragnar Carlson and Mrs. Freda Brolin were honored as the oldest church members present. Miss Betty Salter presented a framed original charcoal drawing of the church entitled "The Beginning." The first Bethel Church was built in 1889 and was known then as the First Scandinavian Baptist Church.

Program booklet covers were decorated with white silhouettes of the original church.

The 35 "pillars" and other guests viewed a photographic exhibit, spannind several decades, of themselves and their families.

Several photographs were taken during the evening by Pastor Haring and will soon be on display in the church parlors.

Award-Winning Art Exhibits Now On Display

Art students in the Manistique Area Schools have some of their award-winning entries in the Youth Art Salon on exhibit at the Manistique School and Public Library.

The Upper Peninsula Art Teachers Association sponsored a week-long U. P. Youth's Art Salon at Northern Michigan University's Olson Library. The exhibit was climaxed by a reception Saturday for the award winners and their parents.

High school students who received recognition were Russell Musselman, Mary Stoll, Barbara Beaton and Steve Johnson. Area grade school children receiving outstanding excellence awards included Kathy Ostlund and Steve Sabinash, Lakeside School; Boni MacGregoor and Mark Salo, Fairview School; Mike Knopp of Lincoln School; and James Marks, Hiawatha School.

The public is invited to view the exhibit.

If you're interested in a solid career, a "fantastic opportunity" (as one of our men recently described it) and an amount of money that will probably surprise even you — then you're reading in the right place.

We need a man (or woman), and a good one, to serve John Hancock policy owners. How does it pay? Well, we have two men who earned $10,090 in commissions in their first year. And that's only the beginning.

If you'r a doer, mature, educated, have had no previous life insurance sales experience, and are looking for a truly rewarding career (in every sense) with no relocation, then write or give us a call right now.

'Emergency Operation' Slated For St. Louis Housing Project

Editor's Note: "Pruitt-Igoe is the end of the road." That's how one government expert describes the troubled public housing complex in St. Louis. In this article, an urban affairs reporter examines what's wrong and ruinous about Pruitt-Igoe — and the nation's whole public housing program.

By KEN HARTNETT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — That high-rise hell Pruitt-Igoe, a shattered and torn symbol of all that's wrong and ruinous in the nation's public housing program, is about to undergo another emergency operation.

This time, there is a glimmer of hope that the 15-year-old housing project, built at a cost of $36 million, will be, at the least, made livable.

No Guarantees

But no one is guaranteeing anything.

Hopes of the 10,000 residents who survive in the tombstone-like 11-story buildings have been raised before only to be dashed in continuing waves of murder, rape, robbery and unremitting vandalism.

Now, a new coalition of labor, business and civic leaders has taken charge of St. Louis public housing after a rent strike drove the housing authority to the brink of bankruptcy.

May Demolish Homes

The coalition, working in tandem with the tenants themselves, hopes to turn Pruitt-Igoe around, perhaps by thinning out its high density, modifying its design or even demolishing some of its 33 buildings.

The key element in whatever plan evolves will be the tenants themselves.

"The biggest problem in public housing is maintenance, vandalism and security," said the Rev. Kirk Walsh, a Jesuit serving as a special consultant in the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). "And the only ones who can control vandalism are the people who live there. But they must have a say so they can determine what happens there.

Vandalism High

"Unless the people band together, they're not going to get security. Right now it's costing them $1,700 a day in vandalism in St. Louis."

Last year, Pruitt-Igoe endured 10 murders, 14 reported rapes, 129 reported assaults. Gunfire sounded regularly from the half-abandoned project's upper reaches.

The marks of violence are everywhere in Pruitt-Igoe. Far more windows are smashed than remain intact. Heavy steel doors lie crumpled and unhinged. Thick concrete walls are battered through with sledge-hammers. Even the copper flashing protecting the roofs is stripped away.

The vandalism brought disaster last winter—one of the coldest in city history.

Pipes Freeze

Pipes, exposed to the frigid temperatures because of the thousands of broken windows, froze. When they thawed, they cracked and the project was flooded. Heat and power failed.

Scores of families lost their meager possessions as water poured into living rooms, bedrooms and closets.

It was an unusually severe and dramatic emergency, but for residents of Pruitt-Igoe, all of them black and 70 per cent of them on welfare, life is a continuing emergency, dull, depressing and dangerous.

"Pruitt-Igoe is the end of the road," said Miss Elizabeth Wood, a HUD public housing specialist.

Unique In Degree

But Pruitt-Igoe is unique, not in kind, but in degree.

The seeds that produced Pruitt-Igoe have been sown in virtually every major city in America as the poorest of the poor—with no place else to go—are shunted into public housing projects.

Builts beginning in 1952 at a barebones cost of $2,089 per room, Pruitt-Igoe was planned as two projects—one, Pruitt, for Negroes; the other, Igoe, for whites.

A law suit torpedoed the intended black-white separation, but the result was never integration. Instead, Pruitt-Igoe became overwhelmingly black.

Trouble From Start

Charles Farris, who became executive director of the St. Louis Land Clearance and Housing Authority shortly after the project was fully open in 1956, said Pruitt-Igoe was troubled from the start.

The stairways, virtually soundproof, soon became havens for muggers and rapists. They also became public toilets for the thousands of Pruitt-Igoe children unable to get to their apartments in time.

Children—one-half the project's population is under 16—left without recreational facilities, soon found a favorite pastime—sticking the elevators. One variation was to make an elevator door swing open while the elevator was floors above or below.

The unwary could—and did—fall to their deaths.

Paradise For Thieves

Three years after the project opened, the St. Louis Globe Democrat was referring to it editorially as "a paradise for thieves, thugs and rapists and a nightmare for police."

Despite its newness, Pruitt-Igoe was acquiring a reputation as a place to avoid. Its vacancy rate in housing-poor St. Louis climbed to 15 per cent by the fall of 1960. It now stands at 50 per cent.

Trying to maintain the abandoned apartments became an almost impossible task as vandals, undeterred by the police or a frightened resident population, smashed their way inside and looted whatever could be carted away.

Cost Squeeze Tightens

The cost squeeze drew tighter. By 1968, the housing authority disbanded its private security force to save $130,000 a year.

"With all those empty apartments, the project became an ideal place for a dope pusher to get lost," said the Rev. John A. Shocklee, who joined the St. Louis Housing Commission in 1965.

HUD's Miss Wood visited Pruitt-Igoe in 1966 to report on an ill-fated attempt to coordinate federal social services in the project.

In three years, $5 million was spent for social services, but the effort fizzled.

"It became a place to breathe and breed and that was the limit to it," said Father Shocklee.

List Key Aim

The job of abating that rate and uniting Pruitt-Igoe's still warring elements is a key aim of the new St. Louis Civic Alliance for Housing.

Eventually, the alliance, headed by Teamsters official Harold Gibbons, would like to phase out all high-rise family units and create instead a less concentrated pattern of living for those families most in need.

The alliance also hopes someday to turn over the ownership and management of St. Louis's nine projects to tenant cooperatives.

But in the short run, the alliance must first stabilize Pruitt-Igoe, the heaviest drain on the housing authority's resources. Vacancies there cost the St. Louis Authority almost $500,000 in 1968.

Organization Eyed

Efforts are being made to beef up tenant organization and lay the ground work for tenant security patrols. Already, foot patrolmen are back in the project. Before the alliance, they had entered Pruitt-Igoe only in response to emergency calls.

Some plans call for converting some of the 33 buildings to another public use, demolishing others. There is also some sentiment for turning the project into a city within a city—a community that would have ownership as well as rentals, its own stores and churches, and its own elected officials.

The latter idea is favored by Father Shocklee. But he is not sure it would work because he believes that basically the tragedy of Pruitt-Igoe is the tragedy of poverty in America.

"Perhaps we should level it and place a plaque," he said ruefully. 'This was Pruitt-Igoe,' It would be like Hiroshima."

SPARE THE ROD

LONDON (AP)—An organization appropriately named STOPP has complained to the British Education Ministry that corporal punishment still is rampant in British schools despite majority opinion against it.

STOPP stands for the "Society of Teachers Opposed to Physical Punishment." It says some teachers cane pupils, often secretly and without reporting even to their superiors.

'Emergency Operation' Slated For St. Louis Housing Project

Editor's Note: "Pruitt-Igoe is the end of the road." That's how one government expert describes the troubled public housing complex in St. Louis. In this article, an urban affairs reporter examines what's wrong and ruinous about Pruitt-Igoe — and the nation's whole public housing program.

By KEN HARTNETT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — That high-rise hell Pruitt-Igoe, a shattered and torn symbol of all that's wrong and ruinous in the nation's public housing program, is about to undergo another emergency operation.

This time, there is a glimmer of hope that the 15-year-old housing project, built at a cost of $36 million, will be, at the least, made livable.

No Guarantees

But no one is guaranteeing anything.

Hopes of the 10,000 residents who survive in the tombstone-like 11-story buildings have been raised before only to be dashed in continuing waves of murder, rape, robbery and unremitting vandalism.

Now, a new coalition of labor, business and civic leaders has taken charge of St. Louis public housing after a rent strike drove the housing authority to the brink of bankruptcy.

May Demolish Homes

The coalition, working in tandem with the tenants themselves, hopes to turn Pruitt-Igoe around, perhaps by thinning out its high density, modifying its design or even demolishing some of its 33 buildings.

The key element in whatever plan evolves will be the tenants themselves.

"The biggest problem in public housing is maintenance, vandalism and security," said the Rev. Kirk Walsh, a Jesuit serving as a special consultant in the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). "And the only ones who can control vandalism are the people who live there. But they must have a say so they can determine what happens there.

Vandalism High

"Unless the people band together, they're not going to get security. Right now it's costing them $1,700 a day in vandalism in St. Louis."

Last year, Pruitt-Igoe endured 10 murders, 14 reported rapes, 129 reported assaults. Gunfire sounded regularly from the half-abandoned project's upper reaches.

The marks of violence are everywhere in Pruitt-Igoe. Far more windows are smashed than remain intact. Heavy steel doors lie crumpled and unhinged. Thick concrete walls are battered through with sledge-hammers. Even the copper flashing protecting the roofs is stripped away.

The vandalism brought disaster last winter—one of the coldest in city history.

Pipes Freeze

Pipes, exposed to the frigid temperatures because of the thousands of broken windows, froze. When they thawed, they cracked and the project was flooded. Heat and power failed.

Scores of families lost their meager possessions as water poured into living rooms, bedrooms and closets.

It was an unusually severe and dramatic emergency, but for residents of Pruitt-Igoe, all of them black and 70 per cent of them on welfare, life is a continuing emergency, dull, depressing and dangerous.

"Pruitt-Igoe is the end of the road," said Miss Elizabeth Wood, a HUD public housing specialist.

Unique In Degree

But Pruitt-Igoe is unique, not in kind, but in degree.

The seeds that produced Pruitt-Igoe have been sown in virtually every major city in America as the poorest of the poor—with no place else to go—are shunted into public housing projects.

Builts beginning in 1952 at a barebones cost of $2,089 per room, Pruitt-Igoe was planned as two projects—one, Pruitt, for Negroes; the other, Igoe, for whites.

A law suit torpedoed the intended black-white separation, but the result was never integration. Instead, Pruitt-Igoe became overwhelmingly black.

Trouble From Start

Charles Farris, who became executive director of the St. Louis Land Clearance and Housing Authority shortly after the project was fully open in 1956, said Pruitt-Igoe was troubled from the start.

The stairways, virtually soundproof, soon became havens for muggers and rapists. They also became public toilets for the thousands of Pruitt-Igoe children unable to get to their apartments in time.

Children—one-half the project's population is under 16—left without recreational facilities, soon found a favorite pastime—sticking the elevators. One variation was to make an elevator door swing open while the elevator was floors above or below.

The unwary could—and did—fall to their deaths.

Paradise For Thieves

Three years after the project opened, the St. Louis Globe Democrat was referring to it editorially as "a paradise for thieves, thugs and rapists and a nightmare for police."

Despite its newness, Pruitt-Igoe was acquiring a reputation as a place to avoid. Its vacancy rate in housing-poor St. Louis climbed to 15 per cent by the fall of 1960. It now stands at 50 per cent.

Trying to maintain the abandoned apartments became an almost impossible task as vandals, undeterred by the police or a frightened resident population, smashed their way inside and looted whatever could be carted away.

Cost Squeeze Tightens

The cost squeeze drew tighter. By 1968, the housing authority disbanded its private security force to save $130,000 a year.

"With all those empty apartments, the project became an ideal place for a dope pusher to get lost," said the Rev. John A. Shocklee, who joined the St. Louis Housing Commission in 1965.

HUD's Miss Wood visited Pruitt-Igoe in 1966 to report on an ill-fated attempt to coordinate federal social services in the project.

In three years, $5 million was spent for social services, but the effort fizzled.

"It became a place to breathe and breed and that was the limit to it," said Father Shocklee.

List Key Aim

The job of abating that rate and uniting Pruitt-Igoe's still warring elements is a key aim of the new St. Louis Civic Alliance for Housing.

Eventually, the alliance, headed by Teamsters official Harold Gibbons, would like to phase out all high-rise family units and create instead a less concentrated pattern of living for those families most in need.

The alliance also hopes someday to turn over the ownership and management of St. Louis's nine projects to tenant cooperatives.

But in the short run, the alliance must first stabilize Pruitt-Igoe, the heaviest drain on the housing authority's resources. Vacancies there cost the St. Louis Authority almost $500,000 in 1968.

Organization Eyed

Efforts are being made to beef up tenant organization and lay the ground work for tenant security patrols. Already, foot patrolmen are back in the project. Before the alliance, they had entered Pruitt-Igoe only in response to emergency calls.

Some plans call for converting some of the 33 buildings to another public use, demolishing others. There is also some sentiment for turning the project into a city within a city—a community that would have ownership as well as rentals, its own stores and churches, and its own elected officials.

The latter idea is favored by Father Shocklee. But he is not sure it would work because he believes that basically the tragedy of Pruitt-Igoe is the tragedy of poverty in America.

"Perhaps we should level it and place a plaque," he said ruefully. 'This was Pruitt-Igoe,' It would be like Hiroshima."

SPARE THE ROD

LONDON (AP)—An organization appropriately named STOPP has complained to the British Education Ministry that corporal punishment still is rampant in British schools despite majority opinion against it.

STOPP stands for the "Society of Teachers Opposed to Physical Punishment." It says some teachers cane pupils, often secretly and without reporting even to their superiors.

Ouster Asked

Agnew Attacks Yale President In New Clash

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Blaming campus violence on faculties that fail to guide students, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has singled out Yale University and called for the replacement of its president.

Speaking at a $250-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner Tuesday night, Agnew declared:

"The true responsibility for these aberrations and the nurturing of arrogance and contempt for constitutional authority rests not with the young people on campuses, but with those who so miserably fail to guide them.

Strike Endorsed

"I can well understand the attitude of the majority of the student body at Yale University when most of the Yale faculty voted to endorse a strike in support of members of an organization dedicated to criminal violence, anarchy and the destruction of the United States of America."

This was a reference to the Black Panthers, eight of whose members face trial on murder and kidnaping charges in New Haven.

Ouster Suggested

"And," Agnew added, "when the president of that respected university describes the election of a president of the United States by the people of the United States as a 'hucksterized process' under which they could not expect much better 'whichever package was bought or sold,' it is clearly time for the alumni of that fine old college to demand that it be headed by a more mature and responsible person.

"President Kingman Brewster of Yale has also stated that he does not feel that black revolutionaries can get a fair trial within our judicial system.

"I do not feel that the students of Yale University can get a fair impression of their country under the tutelage of Kingman Brewster."

No Immediate Comment

There was no immediate comment from Brewster.

The vice president said American univerisities have become a spawning ground and sanctuary for revolution and rebellion. He proposed a nine-point program for handling what he called "the criminal left."

Agnew's proposals included:

—Establish a clear set of rules for campus conduct with immediate expulsion for serious violations.

—End open door enrollment policies for unqualified students.

—Eliminate amnesty for lawlessness or violence.

—Bar campus organizations which publicly declare intention to violate the rules of an academic community and then do so.

Agnew said campus radicals are the offspring of "affluent, permissive upper middle class parents who learned their Dr. Spock and threw discipline out the window—when they should have done the opposite.

Soviets Flying Missions For Egypt: Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel charged today that Soviet pilots are flying operational missions for Egypt's air force but said so far they have stayed west of the Suez Canal combat zone.

The Israeli command also announced that Egyptian gunfire across the Suez Canal killed three Israeli soldiers and wounded 18 Tuesday, the highest one-day casualty toll on the waterway this year. A spokesman said artillery exchanges took place on the northern and central sectors of the canal.

The claim that Soviet pilots are flying in Egypt was made in a special announcement which said the development was "viewed with deep gravity" and "must cause concern not only to Israel but to all freedom-loving peoples."

A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman in Moscow said: "We have no information on this."

There was no immediate comment from Egypt.

The announcement indicated that the Soviet pilots were flying most of their missions over the Nile Delta, where Egypt reportedly has installed advanced Soviet SA3 ground-to-air missiles.

Israeli warplanes have been conducting an intensive campaign of raids against the missile sites but have not made any deep penetrations into the delta since April 13, when they struck positions east of the Nile near Cairo and Port Said.

New Laser Beam

BURLINGTON, Mass. (AP) — A new laser beam altimeter is being built for Apollo 16 to enable the spacecraft to make far more accurate maps of the moon's surface.

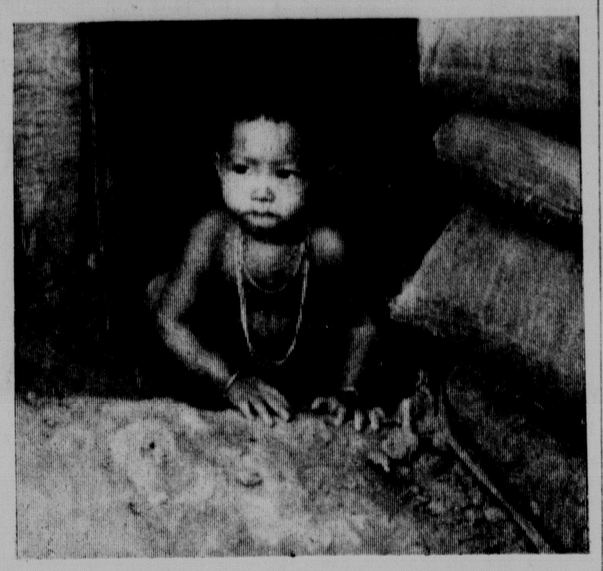
Reduction Seen In Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Vietnam troop withdrawals may lead to a reduction in draft calls this year to as few as 150,000 men, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says.

The Pentagon chief told a group of business and civil leaders Tuesday "We will be able to further reduce the draft calls for this calendar year" to between 150,000 and 180,000 men.

The 150,000 figure is the lowest estimate yet made and it comes, according to Laird, as "a direct result" of progress in Vietnamization—turning more of the fighting role over to the Saigon government.

Nearly 290,000 men were drafted last year, but the rate has been sharply cut since late 1969 and induction calls through May of this year total 84,500.



A MONTAGNARD BABY sits in the entrance of his parents' bunker, which is heavily fortified by sandbags, at Dak Seang Special Forces Camp, 226 miles northeast of Saigon. The sandbag fortification is due to the constant threat of enemy rockets and mortars. The camp is five miles from the Laotian border and has been under seige since the beginning of April. Asks Arms Fund Cut

Solon Says Russian Threat Exaggerated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House military spending critic, firing opening salvos against a $20 24 billion defense bill, charges it exaggerates the Soviet missile threat and would escalate the arms race.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., made the charges Tuesday in a prelude to opponents' efforts to knock all $1 billion for MIRV multiple nuclear warheads and $660 million for the Safeguard antimissile system out of the weapons procurement authorization.

But House Armed Services Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said an expanding threat that could put the Soviets ahead of the United States in technology and strategic power in the mid-1970s makes the bill "the minimum that could safely be approved."

He cited figures released by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird last week that the Soviets are pulling even with the 1,710 U.S. missiles and have quadrupled their nuclear megatonnage. At the same time, Rivers said, U.S. megatonnage has decreased 40 per cent.

But Fraser accused Laird of misleading Congress with a graph showing a rapid, straight line Soviet missile buildup when the administration's own figures show the Soviet buildup has leveled off in the last two years.

Fraser said Laird's own figures show the Soviet buildup dropped from 320 missiles a year in 1966 and 1967 to 160 in 1968 and President Nixon recently announced the rate was 122 missiles a year.

Fraser said the $1 billion in the defense bill for MIRVs—Multiple Independently Targetable Re-entry Vehicles—is the start of a buildup that would give the United States nearly 10,000 nuclear warheads when it now has 4,200 to the Soviets' 1,350.

"If the United States plunges straight on building up this kind of arsenal," he said, "the Soviets instead of leveling off are going to have to go to a second round of armaments."

Long-Awaited Kennedy Case Records Due

BOSTON (AP) — The courtroom record unfolds at last today on the inquiry into events of the summer night Mary Jo Kopechne died in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's automobile.

Suffolk County Superior Court was to release the transcript and the findings of a secret inquest held in January into the drowning of the 28-year-old secretary.

She was killed last July 18 when Kennedy's car plunged from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and overturned into a pond below.

Kennedy failed to report the accident for more than 10 hours, a delay he later termed indefensible. He pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident, received a two-month suspended jail sentence and a year's probation.

The 764-page transcript and the 12-page report of Judge James A. Boyle, who presided behind the closed doors of Edgartown District Court, represent the last official installment in a case that shook American politics.

Wales Wins Long Border Struggle

LONDON (AP) — Wales won a border fight with England Tuesday after more than 400 years of skirmishing.

Monmouthshire, which was seized for England by King Charles II, will soon be a part of Wales officially, the House of Commons was told by George Thomas, Secretary of State for Wales.

S. Vietnamese Launch Offensive; U.S. Helps

Operation Inside Cambodia Pushed

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government announced thousands of its troops with U. S. combat support launched a new operation inside Cambodia today.

A Communique of the Defense Ministry did not make clear what it meant by combat support of American forces.

It said that in the operation South Vietnam's joint general staff "has requested and has got the support of American forces in combat support, logistics assistance and medical evacuation, etc."

The U. S. Command here and the White House and State Department in Washington declined to comment.

The South Vietnamese communique said the forces would pull out of Cambodia as soon as their mission was completed.

Seek To Neutralize

The Defense Ministry said the operation was launched "with a view to neutralize the North Vietnamese Communists' scheme of using the Cambodian territory as operation bases to infiltrate, shell and attack the territory of the Republic of Vietnam."

The operation is centered in an area inside Cambodia shown on military maps as the "Parrot's Beak," west and northwest of Saigon.

The communique gave no details of the opening stage of the effensive, though newsmen along the border region had recently observed a massive buildup of South Vietnamese troops and armored personnel carriers operating out of Tay Ninh City, 50 miles northwest of Saigon. The Cambodian operation is centered southwest of Tay Ninh City.

First Official Raid

It was the first official acknowledgment of armed forays into Cambodia by the South Vietnamese forces, although they have conducted at least half dozen others since the March 18 overthrow of the Cambodian chief of state, Norodom Sihanouk.

The communique said, "This operation is also a necessary measure in the framework of the policy of the Republic of Vietnam to gradually take more of the responsibility to defend its land and to replace American troops by Vietnamese troops."

The U.S. Command had no immediate comment on the South Vietnamese announcement.

The communique did not elaborate further on American involvement. It did not say exactly what the U.S. troops were doing. The U.S. Command has said that no American forces are authorized to cross into Cambodia for the purpose of taking part in military operations. In previous South Vietnamese operations into Cambodia, American forces have given support by flying supplies as far as the border where they then have been transferred to South Vietnamese transports.

GIs Blocking Force

American infantrymen also have acted as blocking forces just on the South Vietnamese side of the border in order to trap any enemy forces that might move back across the frontier while attempting to elude South Vietnamese units in Cambodia.

Decision Near On Blackmun

WASHINGTON (AP) — A friendly Senate Judiciary Committee called Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Minnesota today before what shaped up as a one-day hearing on his nomination to the Supreme Court.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Judiciary chairman, said with no opposition witnesses expected, he would call a meeting Thursday to act on the 61-year-old judge's nomination.

Blackmun, a member of the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals for 11 years, has the endorsement of all his fellow judges on the circuit and of the American Bar Association's federal judiciary committee.

The ABA committee reported in a letter to Eastland Tuesday that Blackmun "meets high standards of professional competence, temperament and integrity," its highest recommendation.

Blackmun was chosen by President Nixon to fill the seat vacated by Abe Fortas after the Senate rejected his first two nominees, Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., and G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Cambodia Aid Could Backfire On GOP, Belief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's impending decision on Cambodia's military aid request comes against the reemergence of Vietnam as an important national political issue.

Although many political leaders in Washington have said Nixon's Vietnamization policy has neutralized the political impact of the war, a recent swing through five Western states indicates the war lurks as a potential hazard for the President and the Republican party.

Vietnam always has been a key issue in such states as New York and California, but now it appears to be resurfacing in smaller, more conservative states.

"People feel that something is being done to de-escalate," said Max Rich, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce in Salt Lake City. But he added any reversal in the withdrawal process, or anything indicating an extension of U.S. commitmenst in Southeast Asia, could carry political dynamite for the GOP.

Granting aid to Cambodia carries just such a risk for the GOP, many politicians believe.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said one panel member cautioned Secretary of State William P. Rogers Monday of the potential political effect of U.S. aid to Cambodia.

"If you do this, we can't elect a dog catcher," Fulbright quoted the unidentified GOP senator as telling the secretary.

Yet, many Republican leaders say Vietnam as a political issue is more help than danger to the Republicans.

Ex-Teacher Wants More Bicycles On Nation's Streets

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Miss Caroline Killeen is pedaling her way to Detroit to try and talk automakers into making bicycles available for city travel.

The 44-year-old former teacher left Tucson, Ariz., March 7 and reached St. Louis Monday. She plans to arrive in Detroit about the second week in May.

She wants the manufacturers to buy bicycles and finance a multitude of relay stations where city dwellers can get a bike for a small fee and ride it to their local destination.

"Automobiles have their place on the open road, bicycles should be used for inner city travel," she said. "I think bicycles should be used to supplement automobiles."

Miss Kileen describes herself as a longtime "bicycle addict," having made several long-distance trips. She said the use of bicycles instead of autos would help reduce smog, traffic congestion and waistlines.

Pentagon Says Aid Needed To Protect GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today the United States will send advisers, tactical air strikes and other support for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. It called the move "a necessary and effective measure" to have U. S. and other allied lives.

The Pentagon thus confirmed an announcement by the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry in Saigon that U.S. combat and other support for a major operation in the "parrot beak" area of Cambodia jutting into South Vietnam about 35 miles from Saigon.

President Nixon moved quickly to explain the move to the American people. The White House said he has asked the television and radio networks for air time Thursday evening to discuss the situation "as it relates to both Cambodia and to U.S. forces in Vietnam."

Asst. Secretary of Defense Daniel Z. Henkin read a statement to newsmen saying:

"The United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV) in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support" for the South Vietnamese operations.

"This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation, and some logistics assistance."

"Before the Republic of Vietnam armed forces launched its current operations on the Cambodian border, the United States government was fully consulted. The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and strengthen the Vietnamization program."

Thus, the Pentagon—speaking for the Nixon administration—cast the new development in terms of supporting the over-all objective of shifting the Vietnam war burden to the South Vietnamese and gradually withdrawing U.S. troops.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., long a critic of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, took a different view, calling the action "a great mistake" and a "major escalation" of the Indo-Chinese warfare.

Decline Noted In Wholesale Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department today reported tentative figures showing the first decline in wholesale prices of food and a broad range of industrial raw materials in nearly two years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Wholesale Price Index declined one-tenth of one per cent this month in the preliminary calculation and that "If later confirmed by more complete figures, the decrease would be the fifrst since August 1968."

The reported decline brought the index down to 116.5 per cent of its 1957-59 base. The fifgure means it cost $116.50 in April on the average for wholesale commodities worth $100 in 1957-59.

However, the decline was based entirely on a sharp drop in wholesale prices for farm products, processed foods and feeds, which can fluctuate sharply from time to time.

Industrial commodities, including metals, rubber, lumber, textiles and many other raw materials, rose an average of three-tenths of one per cent, the bureau said.

Farm products declined 2.8 per cent while processed foods and feeds dropped two-tenths, the report said.

River Rouge Tension Still Running High

RIVER ROUGE, Mich. (AP) —Police remained on guard today in this industrial city on the Detroit River, where two days of skirmishes involving whites, blacks and police have left raw nerves of racial unrest exposed.

River Rouge High School, focal point of two months of unrest punctuated by incidents of violence, is closed indefinitely. The community of 18,147 remains under a 6 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

Black youths and about 200 police, fought running skirmishes through the day Tuesday.

Police used teargas to disperse a crowd gathered in the streets near the high school in the afternoon. Tear gas was used again to break up a group at the high school and then again and again along Visger Street, where stores were looted and three were burned the night before.

Passers-by and police were pelted with rocks and bottles on streets in the area. There were no reports of serious injuries, although one Detroit policeman was hit in the mouth with a rock.

A total of 34 persons were arrested in River Rouge Tuesday, 19 of them for curfew violation, said Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas. Another 20 were arrested in Detroit, said Detroit Chief Inspector Anthony Bertoni. The Detroit city line is about three blocks from the center of trouble in River Rouge.

Many of those arrested were juveniles, but there was no immediate breakdown of those arrested by age or charges.

Calm returned after heavily armed officers moved through the area at dusk, ordering everyone inside and arresting those who stayed on the streets.

Changes Are Minor:

Commission Issues Final Mead Permit

LANSING — The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission Tuesday gave the final approval for a construction permit for a $65.9 million kraft pulp mill for the Escanaba Paper Co.

Action came a week after a temporary permit had been issued by the commission.

Vote on the final permit was 7 to 1 with Commissioner Morton Sterling of Detroit opposing on a technical point.

There were few changes in the stipulations attached to the temporary permit, according to John Soet, chairman of the commission and chief of the division of occupational health of the Michigan Dept. of Public Health.

The most significant change, Soet said, was the change of the word "any" to "unlawful" in the first special condition attached to the permit regarding pollution.

Word Changed

In the temporary permit, the language read that the "facility is to be designed, installed and operated so as not to cause any nuisance and/or odor problems or visability interference problems in the community."

The final permit reads that the "facility is to be designed, installed and operated so as not to cause unlawful nuisance and/or odor problems or visability interference problems in the community."

Soet conceded that the change liberalized the permit in favor of the Mead Corp., parent company of the Escanaba Paper Co., but pointed out that the word "unlawful" ties the corporation to state, federal and local laws and standards incorporated in them.

Local Ordinance

The Delta County Board of Supervisors adopted a local air pollution control ordinance last month. The legal status of the ordinance is currently being reviewed by the staff of the Michigan Attorney General.

Besides the change to the word "unlawful," the final permit includes a seventh provision not included on the temporary permit, Soet said.

The provision specifies that notwithstanding the stipulations in the permit, Mead cannot violate the Air Pollution Control Commission's Rule 46, a general nuisance clause. Under the clause, if at any time a citizen or group of citizens wishes to complain that Mead is causing a general nuisance through operation of the new pulp mill, the individual or group can return to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission for a hearing.

No "Numbers" Changed

Soet said all of the other changes made in the final permit were minor, primarily language changes suggested by legal counsel.

There were no changes made in the "numbers" of the permit, he said.

Members of the Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air had objected to specifying 10 parts per million emission of hydrogen sulfide as a "serious condition which shall be permitted for a maximum time of six hours."

The committee had urged the standard to be lowered to 3 parts per million, a level which under the final permit will be considered an "alert condition."

Mead officials said the control equipment is designed to operate at less than 1 part per million.

Under the final stipulations, "in the event that the applicant (Mead) is unable to reduce the hydrogen sulfide condition to less than 10 parts per million within the six hour period the furnace will be shut down until such time as satisfactory conditions can be attained."

There was no action Tuesday by the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission on the Chicago & North Western Railway Co. situation in Escanaba because of a time problem, Soet said. The proposal of the C&NW for dust control equipment at its Escanaba iron ore terminal will be considered at the commission's May 19 meeting in Lansing.

Black Student Counsellor Gets Term In Prison

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A University of Michigan black student counsellor was sentenced Tuesday to 12 days in jail for four counts of contempt of court stemming from perjuries committed in circuit court during the past two weeks.

Circuit Court Judge Ross W. Campbell said that the contempt citations given Shawn Tarrant were for Tarrant's statements that he never attended Northwestern High School in Detroit, that he has never been convicted of a criminal offense and that he holds degrees from Michigan State University and Hunter College of New York.

Campbell said that, in fact, Tarrant did graduate from Northwestern, has been convicted of a felony and other offenses, and never graduated from MSU or even attended Hunter.

Despite Market Decline

Nixon Still Optimistic About Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid growing concern over the stock market's long and sharp decline, President Nixon again has expressed optimism the nation's economy will pick up steam this summer after a painful leveling off process.

"Frankly, if I had any money I'd be buying stocks right now," Nixon told a visiting business group Tuesday in an informal 35-minute chat on the troubled economy.

Economy Report Due

The President, said a spokesman for the group, said he will make a major report to the nation dealing with the economy and other matters in about two weeks.

As Nixon exuded confidence in the economy, Dr. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said in Dallas the economic slowdown that began last year should mean price increases will begin to level off later this year.

In contrast to the administration's optimism, the gloom on Wall Street continued. The stock market dove again Tuesday and reached the lowest point in six years for the second day in a row.

Lowest Since JFK Death

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 10.82 points to 724.33, the lowest since the day President Kennedy was assassinated in November 1963. The industrial average had fallen Monday by 12.14 points.

The market slump has been blamed in part on the business community's growing concern about the Nixon administration's ability to bring inflation under control—and also over generally poor earnings by major companies.

Another sign of the slowdown appeared Tuesday when the nation's big three steel companies announced their profits had dipped by more than 30 per cent despite increased revenues during the first quarter of the year.

U.S. Steel said profits dropped just over 30 per cent, Bethlehem 34 per cent, and Republic Steel 34 per cent.

Profits Decline

The nation's largest automakers have reported similar profit declines.

On Wall Street, analysts said traders were becoming more concerned with the state of the economy. "We have discovered that inflation is bad for stocks," said Sidney Homer, an economist for a New York investment banking firm.

In Washington, Nixon's message to the executive committee of the American Society of Association Executives was: "keep your faith in the American economy."

Don't Lose Faith: Nixon

John L. Spafford, Houston, Tex., president of the society, saying Nixon told them they were free to pass on his words, quoted the President as saying:

"I'm going to urge the people not to let such factors as employment being down, business being off and the stock market being down cause you to become deeply concerned to the point where you lose faith in the economy.

"It is a leveling off process. I'll tell you what is going to happen: You will begin to see, in the third quarter of the year, the economy leveling off. It will begin to turn, then in the fourth quarter you will begin to see more encouraging signs of the upturn."

Action Promised

As for the economy's troubles, Nixon was reported to have said, "The administration won't let it get out of hand."

A White House spokesman said no time has been fixed for Nixon's address.

In Dallas, McCracken told a meeting of the Financial Analysts Federation the administration's moves to control inflation will begin to reap benefits later in the year.

The same prediction was made by Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz in a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington. The secretary also spoke out against labor-management agreements which, he said, feed inflation at the expense of the rest of the nation.

But the government's index of leading indicators designed to predict what the economy may do in the future declined slightly in March.

The Commerce Department said the index fell one-tenth of one per cent, after an increase of eight-tenths of one per cent in February. The slight decrease brought the index to 150.8 per cent of the 1963 average.

The latest report continues the indicators' up-and-down behavior, which began last September after reaching an all-time high point of 153.4 per cent.

Reorganization Plan Of GOP Worries Some

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House reorganization plan has brought congressional concern that it will raise a screen between the executive and legislative branches.

The proposal to establish an Office of Management and Budget and a Domestic Council to handle at-home affairs similar to the way the National Security Council deals with foreign problems was outlined Tuesday at a House government operations subcommittee hearing.

Reps. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, and Chet Holifield, D-Calif., indicated doubt at the hearing that the new organizations would be responsive to Congress.

"What concerns me is that the chairman of this council could be someone whose testimony could not be required by Congress," Brown said.

Holifield said "today we can get the Budget Bureau up here to get the straight of it, but the executive director of the council could claim executive privilege and not be called."

Behind the proposal is the frustration, expressed by several presidents, that plans, programs and policies are made with little or no guarantee that they can be carried out.

The OMB would fold the present Bureau of the Budget into a super agency that would, in the view of the planners, combine the latest techniques of management and cost effectiveness.

Roy L. Ash, president off Litton Industries and chief of the advisory group that drew up the proposal, told the subcommittee:

"No one adequately sees to it that organization form continues to fit the intended purpose. The result is to lock the executive branch into patterns of disorganization that persist into the future.

"Almost every president in this century has commented that resistance to organization changes is one off the chief obstacles to effective government," Ash said.

The Domestic Council would consolidate several existing White House groups into a series of study agencies and a permanent staff.

The reorganization plan did draw some support during the hearing.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., said the President should be allowed to make whatever changes he sees fit, he should be able to "speak with one voice."

Besides evaluation and monitoring of programs, Ash said at another point, the council would tie together inter-agency planning, valuable since so many programs today cross department lines.

'Earth' Poster Winners Named

The Student Council of Escanaba Area High School today announced the winners in its "Mother Earth" poster contest.

Sue Denoo, a high school senior, was awarded the $10 first prize for her poster expressing the theme "Let The Sunshine In." Her poster will be displayed in Escanaba stores.

Second place went to Ronese Nantelle and third place was awarded to Karen Kigand.

Judges for the competition were John Gustafson, Mrs. Herbert Nicholson, Dennis Foltman and Fredrick Jurmu.

At its regular meeting today, the Student Council, sponsor of "Mother Earth" activities, expressed its appreciation for the student participation in the Ludington Park cleanup operation Sunday. Jurmu estimated that about 200 Escanaba and Holy Name high school students cooperated in the effort.

Student Council representatives also recommended that the City of Escanaba refrain in the future from using the park as a winter snow dumping area. Complaints were made over the amount of glass, broken rock and other debris which covered a large area of the park.

The schedule of "Mother Earth" activities will end May 9 with the close of the Delta County photo contest sponsored by Escanaba merchants, labor unions and the Student Council.

Scotland Yard Busy As Kidnap Rumors Erupt

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard put security guards on five more children of Britain's royal family today as it continued investigating an anonymous report of a plot to kidnap Princess Margaret's 8-year-old son.

Police sources said the guard was precautionary and there was no definite sign the children were in danger.

The 19-year-old daughter of a rich member of Parliament also was guarded after a report that she, too, was marked for kidnaping.

Young Viscount Linley, Princess Margaret's son, returned to Ashdown House boarding school south of London Tuesday under what were said to be the strictest security rules ever put around a royal child. Police manned a roadblock at the school gates and patrolled the grounds with walkie-talkies and a dog. A detective slept in a room near the boy's.

Two Men Arrested After City Chase

City Police officers were involved in a wild chase Tuesday trying to apprehend a vehicle and its occupants for reckless driving.

After chasing the car at speeds of up to 85 miles per hour in the city, police officers stopped the car on Stephenson Ave., and were attempting to talk to the driver, Charles Carlson, 22, of Menominee and a passenger, Richard J. Konkel, 24, also of Menominee, when the two men ran from the scene.

Officers caught up and were bringing Carlson and Konkel back to the patrol car for questioning but when Konkel was asked for his identification, he reached into his pocket for his wallet and then bolted away again.

One of the officers gave chase and caught Konkel after he tripped and fell. Police said Konkel was put in the back seat of the patrol car, but then tried to get into the front seat. He stepped on the officers' hats and when the officers tried to control him, he began kicking and swinging at the officers, police said.

Konkel was arrested for being drunk and disorderly and Carlson was charged with reckless driving.

In another incident, a patrol car was stopped for a stop light on Ludington St. and 10th, heading west, when officers noticed a car on the other side of the intersection heading east.

Police said the car made a left turn over four lanes of traffic and officers noticed that the driver was almost laying on the seat and could not see where he was driving. The car then hit four legally parked vehicles. James F. Botrow, 47, 601 S. 11th St., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol. He will be arraigned in District Court.

Mercury Study

Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) strayed a little away from his northern Michigan district last week to recommend to President Nixon a five-point federal program to deal with mercury pollution of the Great Lakes.

The congressman pointed out the recent mercury pollution problems in the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and Lake Erie and said he fears "mercury pollution may represent an international threat to sports and commercial fishing . . ."

He suggests the following actions:

1, a high-level blue ribbon science commission launch a crash, research oriented investigation on the possible hazardous effects of mercury pollution; 2, The federal government expand the current investigation of the Great Lakes and launch a national mercury concentration identifications program to determine how widespread the problem may be. In conjunction, the federal government should survey all companies and organizations who use mercury in their process and may be contributing to this kind of pollution; 3, Existing statutes should be used to force all offending companies to end mercury pollution; 4, That the Corps of Engineers determine whether it is possible to dredge, pump or otherwise recover deposits of mercury which otherwise could take 30 to 50 years to be eliminated by natural processes, and 5, that the State Department enter negotiations with Canada and launch an international program for ending this new threat to our environment.

★ ★ ★

Ruppe's suggestions for a federal investigation make sense, but it's harsh testimony on the state of current knowledge and environmental control procedures that they should be needed at all.

Ruppe points out that the results of fish testing are inconclusive.

"We don't know exactly what a dangerous level of mercury is," he says.

Not long ago, there was another situation in regard to DDT which was not entirely different from the current problems with mercury. The pesticide was showing up in substantial concentrations in coho salmon caught in Lake Michigan. The government at that time, too, seemed to be quite confused about what was a dangerous level.

In the mercury case, Michigan didn't even have laboratory facilities to analyize the mercury content of fish to be tested. Tests had to be completed in Wisconsin and in Canada.

If the president elects to act on Ruppe's suggestions, he would be wise to expand the investigation to include any and all chemical or bacteriological contamination of Great Lakes fish. A couple of years ago it was DDT. A couple of weeks ago it was mercury. A few weeks from now it might be something else.

Contamination of the environment is nothing new, but the mercury case only serves to point out how ill-equipped the environment is to deal with the problem. Michigan Department of Natural Resources might take the hint.

If damaging effects to the environment are to be controlled, someone is going to have to determine exactly what they are. Banning DDT, cyanide and mercury may not help a bit, if another chemical unchecked will produce the same results in the end.

Invasion Of Privacy

Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, has been a longtime champion of the individual's right to privacy.

His first campaign against snooping by the federal government was directed at the 1970 census which already has been distributed to the American people. Betts felt that many questions asked things about people which the government has no right to know. He managed, with the help of conservatives and liberals, to remove some of the more objectionable questions but many of them still remain.

His second compaign has been directed at the possible threat of federal data banks which would keep intimate files on millions of Americans who have had dealings with the government, for example, service personnel and welfare recipients. Several proposals have been brought forward, the most recent in Nixon's welfare "reform," to computerize and store information that the government has on people. The data would be sorted in center facilities which any federal agency might have access to.

Betts warned that the individual would have little protection under current laws to provide him with safe-guards against indiscriminate snooping into his files. He would, in fact, have little way of knowing that the confidentiality of his files had been violated. Perhaps worse, he might never know if his file contained incorrect information on which he was judged.

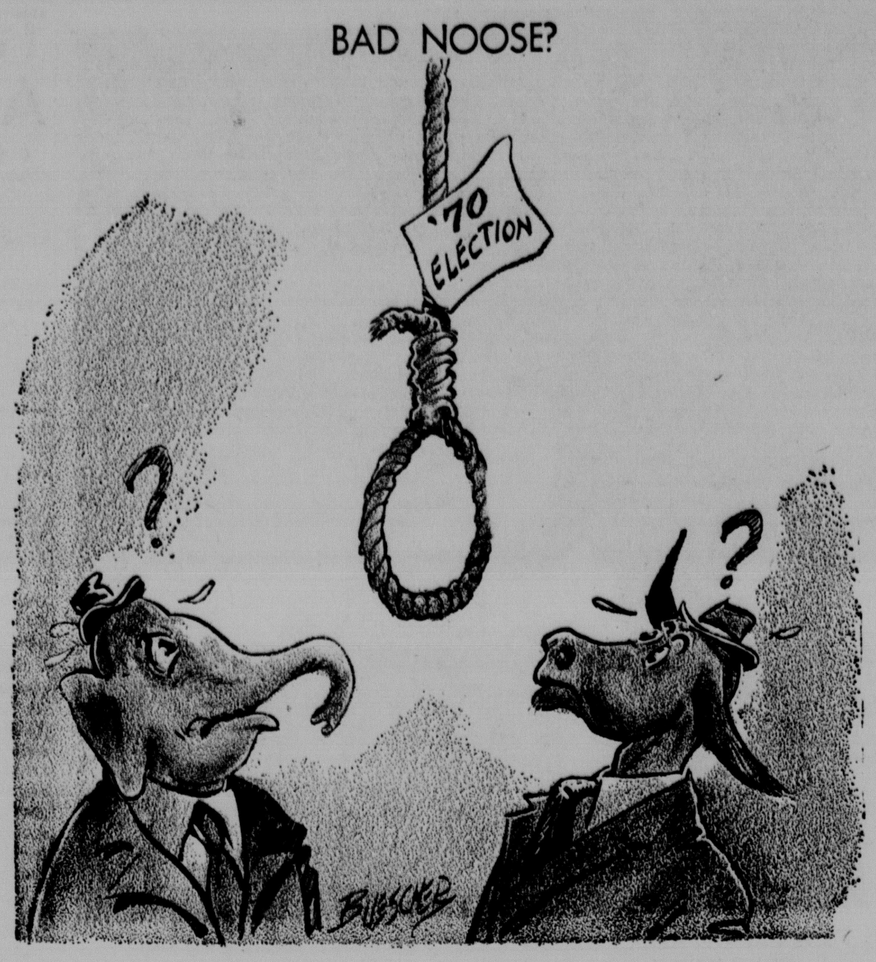
In some cases, as with the Nixon proposal for collecting and retaining information on welfare recipients in order to help them find jobs, the data bank has a good purpose. But the potential for abuse is great and far too tempting.

It would be a relatively easy matter to use a person's file in order to find out his financial status, his family problems, his habits, etc. His file, in fact, could be used to destroy him.

The public should be alerted to the attempts to establish federal data banks. The government already has invaded the individual's privacy far too much without still further intrusion. Many of the things a person thinks and does are just plain none of the government's business.

Peninsula Potpourri

Vacationland Enterprises and Rudolph J. Dalpra of Crystal Falls have filed a lawsuit against the City of Crystal Falls in which they claim that the levy of 2.03 mills spread on the tax roll for county hospital purposes was an illegal levy. They ask that the payment covering the millage, made under formal protest, be refunded. The complaint charged that "a municipal bond is not outstanding until it is actually sold and delivered to a holder and, for that reason, the defendant had no authority to levy taxes on the plaintiffs' property.



Educational Voucher Plan Fails To Move

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When the White House temporizes on issues that seriously divide Republicans, it is understandable. Yet when President Nixon takes no action on a program that would be acceptable to both the conservative and liberal wings of the Republican Party, it is another story.

In the whole area of what Peter Drucker has called "reprivatization" there is, actually, very little quarrel between the conservatives and the liberals. Take, for example, the subject of promoting competition between public and private schools.

The so-called "voucher system," which would allow individuals to receive tuition vouchers from the state and use them to help pay the cost of a child's education in any school, whether public, private or parochial, commends itself to Republicans all across the spectrum.

On the right, the American Conservative Union, Young Americans for Freedom and the writers who contribute to the Washington publication, "Human Events," have all advocated the idea of government subsidization of schooling rather than schools. Professor Milton Friedman, one of Nixon's economic advisers, was, if I am not mistaken, the first person in this country to suggest the use of educational vouchers.

Before that the idea had a run in England, where people have become disillusioned about the cost and the quality of state education. Surprisingly, the Ripon Society, an organ of the Republican left, has also supported a voucher system.

Indeed, there has been some talk of getting up a right-left manifesto favoring the voucher idea and presenting it to Nixon as a "total" Republican demand.

According to the White House grapevine, Roger Freeman, the economist who is one of Nixon's special assistants, has been working up a paper that would let the individual take his share of the education tax money for use in the school of his choice. But Pat Moynihan, according to the same grapevine, has been sitting on the Freeman proposal. So nothing stirs.

Recourse to the voucher idea would automatically end the fear of state domination of education. It would take the sting out of the issue of giving state support to religious schools.

With every parent free to select an institution of his own choice, nobody could complain of forced indoctrination.

The competition would be in the field of excellence; the private school would have to come up with good teachers and good subject matter in order to compete with the public school system. The educators would have to be on their toes; nobody would be able to take refuge in bureaucratic domination of the educational scene.

There has been concern that the voucher idea would encourage the expansion of schools designed to perpetuate segregation. However, the state would still have the duty of licensing schools to operate. Certain standards would have to be met by the individual school in order to qualify for the right to cash the vouchers for money. A voucher system would enable a black parent to take advantage of private education in many places where the possibility of now doing so is precluded for economic reasons.

The voucher idea does not satisfy those who are ideologically committed against state-supported education of any type. However, the ideologues have long since lost the battle against the idea of the public school.

The best possible compromise in this day and age is to establish some sort of open competition between the public and the private idea. With vouchers, the state would not be limited to subsidizing schools; it would, so to speak, be subsidizing pupils.

Dr. John Howard, the president of Rockford College in Illinois, has suggested that Federal aid to higher private education should take the form of tax rebates to those who give money to the college of their choice. This is an extension of voucher idea thinking.

Since the Republican Party is committed to adventures in "reprivatization," there is no good reason why the months go by without Administration action in this sphere.

Let's hear something on the subject from the White House before Nixon's second term is upon us.

Democrats Seek Financial Data Of Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detailed records of the financial interests of Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun have been requested by four Democratic senators.

Sens. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Joseph D. Tydings of Mafyland made the request in a letter to Senate Judiciary Committee chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The committee begins hearings on the nomination Wednesday, and sources said Blackmun was scheduled today to visit privately with members of the committee.

The committee has been advised by the Justice Department that Blackmun took part in three court cases involving companies in which he held stock.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said, however, that the stock interest held by Blackmun, an 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge since 1959, was insignificant.

Productivity Gains Low Despite Boom In 1960s

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — During the boom years of the 1960s, when jobs were so plentiful that employers were forced to relax standards, some workers prematurely instituted the four-day week: They got "sick" on Fridays or Mondays.

One effect of such deception was to help ruin a good thing: productivity per manhour went down, prices went up, inflation caught hold, the government forced a slowdown, layoffs began. . .

Productivity Down

The country is now being forced to recognize the embarrassing and dangerous fact that the productivity gains of the American worker, on average, fell to less than one per cent last year, or about one-quarter of the average postwar rate.

Absenteeism was't the only cause, of course. There were many other factors, among them:

—Industry was forced to employ marginal workers in order to keep pace with the boom. Their skills were few, their output below average.

—Management became lax in its habits and permitted all sorts of costly inefficiencies to develop. Some managements were not innovative. They failed to develop technology and methods that would have improved productivity.

Workers Change Jobs

—Secure in the knowledge that their skills were tradeable, workers felt free to change jobs frequently. During their periods of adaptation, their skills were lost to both the old and the new employer.

One result of this slackening in the rate of productivity was to put both worker and management on a treadmill. Despite higher sales, corporate profits ceased to keep pace. Because of higher prices, pay increases evaporated.

No matter how many reasons are given for the declining rate of productivity absenteeism must be high among them. A report by Morgan Guaranty Trust notes that nonagricultural absenteeism last year was 77 per cent higher than in 1961.

Absenteeism High

Disturbed by the trend, General Motors Chairman James Roche commented recently:

"Many have suggested that higher absenteeism is a byproduct of the affluence of the '60s. If so, I suggest that it is time the fundamentals of our affluence be recognized for what they are.

"Our ability to improve our standard of living depends directly on our willingness to work to create the goods and services we enjoy."

So long as production increases, wages can be raised without any inflation resulting. But productivity hasn't kept pace with wage and price increases. The result: inflation.

Remedies Difficult

The remedies for this laxness by both management and labor are going to be difficult. First off, one remedy entails jobs; unemployment is rising steadily after being near an all-time low late in the 1960s.

As unemployment continues to rise—a direct result of government attempts to wring inflation out of the economy—management is going to be in a better position to crack the whip. "Illness" will be a less acceptable excuse.

Eye More Efficiency

Attempts will be made also to root out inefficiency at the management level. White collar laxness, although better disguised, has a more pervasive effect on prices than that of skilled labor; one manager's actions might affect 1,000 blue collar workers.

The goal of these attempts is more efficiency, more productivity per manhour.

Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has named retired Adm. George W. Anderson Jr. to succeed retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor as chairman of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board.

Newspaper Want Ads are a big sell! One billion, twenty-one million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all magazine advertising combined and more than 300 million more than radio advertising.

Opening lead—four of diamonds.

In tournaments you run into all kinds of bidding. Players may use any system or convention they want to, if it can be readily explained to their opponents. Private understandings are taboo, just as in rubber bridge.

It is entirely normal for a pair to announce that they play Gerber, or Texas, or Stayman, or Kaplan-Sheinwold, or anything else that pleases their fancy.

Once upon a time I was playing in a national championship when a pair came to our table and said they were playing "Goldschmidt." This was a brand new one to us. They started to explain the convention, but we suggested that they hold it until the situation to which Goldschmidt applied came up.

It never did come up. On the first of the two deals we played, our opponents overbid a little, got doubled, and went down four vulnerable—1,110. On the next deal, the one shown, they got to one notrump doubled.

I was East. I won the diamond lead with the king and returned the three. My partner cashed the A-J and continued with the five. I won with the seven and shifted to the jack of hearts, not bothering to cash my fifth diamond.

West took the queen with the king and returned a heart, my nine forcing the ace. When declarer now led the king of clubs, I took the ace and cashed two hearts and a diamond.

When I cashed the diamond, South—who had the K-J-10 of spades and queen of clubs left—was squeezed. West at this point had the A-Q-9 of spades and the jack of clubs. South discarded a spade, West a club, and my spade return gave us the rest of the tricks.

So the outcome was that South took only one trick, the ace of hearts. He went down six — 1,110 points — again.

Never did find out about Goldschmidt!

Nurse Gives Advice On Cleaning The Ears

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are read and quoted by millions of people will you please say something to the thousands of ignorant fools who are wrecking their ears? As an otologist's nurse I can vouch for that old saying, "nothing smaller than the elbow should go into ears" — but hardly anyone listens. People insist on "cleaning" their ears with cotton swabs, hairpins, keys, pencils, pins, wires, etc., ect. As a result we get several calls a day from people who are suffering the tortures of the damned. The doctor gives them a lecture and prescribes medication but they keep coming back time after time for the same old thing. The most pathetic cases are infants who are brought in for treatment. Cotton swabs not only pack the ear wax tighter and clog the canal but carelessly used, they can scratch the fine lining of the canal and start infections.

Infections can lead to chronic draining and a loss of hearing. Please tell your readers that the normal ear cleans itself and does not require anyone digging ir. it. If, by chance, the ears do not secrete their own wax and debris, they should be cleaned by a doctor, not an amateur.

You do a lot of good in this world, Ann. Do a little more and print this. — Office Nurse

Dear Nurse: Here 'tis and I hope somebody listens.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I decided on the spur of the moment to have my fortune told. The fortune teller was a woman who worked with a deck of cards.

The very first thing she said was, "I see something very bad here. Your husband is going to die young. He will not live to raise his small children."

I felt as if someone had hit me in the head with a brick. She asked me if I wanted to know more and I said, "No — that's enough." I staggered out of the tent and had to sit down on a bench for ten minutes before I could go on home.

I've talked to several people about this and they all say" Forget it!" But I can't erase that horrible experience from my mind. It haunts me night and day.

When my husband complains of a slight headache I'm sure he has the begining of a brain tumor. If he has a little stomach upset I'm certain he is having a heart attack. If he is ten minutes late for dinner I imagine he has been killed in a car accident.

Please give me some help. How can I free myself from this prison of fear? — Alice

Dear Alice: That "fortune teller" did a cruel piece of mischief. She must be a sadist, as well as a charlatan. I suggest professional help. You need to talk out this obsession until you are free of it.

Timber Wolf Now Official State Animal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The timber wolf survived the japes and jokes of Michigan Senators Tuesday and came out with the designation — "official animal of the State of Michigan."

The Senate approved 21-11 and sent to the House a measure making the timber wolf Michigan's state animal.

Michigan has a state bird (robin), state flower (apple blossom), state fish (trout) and state stone (Petoskey), but no official animal.

Under the bill, sponsored by Sen. Oscar Bouwsma, R-Muskegon, Michigan would maintain its "wolverine State" nickname, but would adopt the timber wolf as its own.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, didn't mention the University of Michigan "Wolverines" at Ann Arbor, but told colleagues "the timber wolf is subject to bounty in Canada.

"I think this makes us look a little strange," Bursley said, "having a bountied animal as our official state animal."

Besides, he added, "the only place there are any timber wolves" is in the northern part of the state. "There are six wolverines in the Detroit Zoo," Bursley said, "and no timber wolves."

Bursley suggested also that the Senate should decide on a "state mammal" rather than a "state animal." "Someone might want to suggest a state insect someday," he said.

Police Seeking 4 On Ferris College Narcotics Charge

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — State Police are still seeking four persons on narcotics charges in connection with a series of raids which led to the arrest of 14 Ferris State students in the Big Rapids area and a 15th person in Ypsilanti on drug charges.

The 14, one of whom was the daughter of a Big Rapids district judge, were arraigned Tuesday in Mecosta County District Court before Judge Frank Miltner of Cadillac on charges which included the sale and possession of narcotics, hashish, marijuana and LSD.

Miltner became involved in the case after Big Rapids District Judge George Worcester, whose 18-year-old step-daughter Sara was among the 14 charged, disqualified himself from case.

Bond on the 14 was set at $1,000 and preliminary examinations were scheduled to start next Tuesday.

Douglas Bruce of Ypsilanti, arrested by Ypsilanti State Police, was to be arraigned today in Big Rapids. He was charged with the sale and possession of both marijuana and LSD.

State Police Det. Wayne Johns said there are unserved warrants for the arrest of four more youths and that the investigation is continuing.

The arrests took place Monday night and early Tuesday.

Being Bachelor Puts Alvin In Spotlight

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a bachelor gets tired of hearing:

"What's the matter with you, Alvin, are you afraid of women?"

"How about borrowing your pad tomorrow night, old pal? An old girl friend of mine blew into town and I'd like a quiet place where we could just sit and talk quietly together alone."

"Well, if the worst comes to the worst, we can ask Alvin. He's always available."

"You'll like this girl, Alvin. She's a real swinger-plays the harp and everything."

"Our regular baby sitter is tied up this evening, Alvin. Can't you come over and take her place just this once? It's a real emergency-honest."

"Oh, yes, he can sew on buttons and everything."

"Boy, I bet if your apartment could speak, it could tell a lot-eh, Alvin, you dog, you:"

"It must be lonely for you coming home every night to an empty apartment. After all, you can't put your arms around a television set."

"I hear Alvin lost his girl in kindergarten to a better man and has been sour on the ladies ever since."

"Me jelous of Alvin, Jan? That's a laugh. I'd sooner be jealous of a coatrack."

"You'll really go for this girl, Alvin. She got a degree in Greek from Radcliffe and likes to go bike riding in Greenwich Village after midnight."

"It isn't so much fun being single when you have to pay your income tax, is it, Alvin?"

"Often a best man, never the bridegroom."

You may be having the time of your life now, young man, but have you ever given thought to what it will be like when you're old and gray and have no one to take care of you?"

"It's nice having you as an escort, Alvin. A woman feels so safe with you."

"You'll be simply mad about this girl, Alvin. She has a fine mind, can dance up a windstorm, and has preactically completely, whipped her drinking problem."

"What makes Alvin think he'd be such a catch? I wouldn't marry him if I could get him free by sending away a box top."

"Did you see in the papers, Alvin, that bachelors don't live as long as either married men or widowers?"

"About the only worthwhile thing you can say about Alvin is that he is certainly doing his bit to keep down the population explosion."

"You'll go absolutely ga-ga about this girl, Alvin. She's a bit bowlegged, I'll admit, but all her family are. They get that way carring their loot to the bank."

Set Crackdown On Billboards

LANSING (AP) — A crackdown on illegal billboards along Michigan highways has been announced by the attorney general's office and the State Highway Department.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Highway Director Henrick Stafseth said owners of 19 signs along a 55 - mile stretch of I 96 and I 496 between Lansing and Farmington have been ordered to remove the signs within 30 days.

If they do not, the state can take them down at the owners' expense.

Kelley said only one of the owners has been found to be a resident of Michigan.

Stafseth said the next targets will be signs along I 69 on a 39 - mile stretch from the Indiana border north to I 94 near Marshall and a part of I 75 between Standish and Alger in Arenac County.

The signs under attack are those which have been erected since Jan. 1, 1968, and are within 660 feet of the roadway. They fall under a 1966 act regulating outdoor advertising. Kelley and Stafseth said signs erected before then and which violate other statutes may be ordered removed, but the state must reimburse the owners and does not now have the funds for that purpose.

Stafseth said an inventory in 1966 showed more than 38,000 billboards within 660 feet of Interstate and primary right-of-way in Michigan. He said another inventory completed this month shows an additional 2,077 billboards have gone up since then.

He said several hundred of these undoubtedly are illegal.

The announcement said the illegal signs generally are the work of "outlaw" or "wildcat" operators and are "not the responsibility of the legitimate billboard industry in this state. That industry has to a great extent carefully followed the new law..."

Kelley said a court challenge is expected from some billboard owners.

"We are prepared to meet that legal attack," he added.

Kelley said the illegal signs "seems to be proliferating more on the interstate roads because of the greater traffic there."

Gov. William Milliken issued a release saying the crackdown should help combat "visual pollution" in Michigan.

Group Seeks Release Of Marquette Inmate

LANSING (AP)—The family and followers of imprisoned White Panther party leader John Sinclair came to the capitol Tuesday to plead their case for his release from a narcotics sentence and for revision of Michigan's marijuana laws.

Seated behind the gleaming wooden bench for the former State Supreme Court Chamber, Sinclair's wife, carrying their infant daughter and five members of the Ann Arbor-based political party, pleaded for Sinclair's release.

Sinclair is serving a 9½-to-10-year term in Northern Michigan Prison at Marquette for possession of two marijuana cigarettes.

Followers of sinclair's political action group plan a demonstration Thursday at the Capitol to urge support for revision of narcotics laws. Panthers said the demonstration would draw some 100 persons "if they all come."

Pending bills, supported by Gov. William Milliken, propose to remove marijuana from narcotics laws and reduce sentences for having it.

"We've waited too long already," said Mrs. Sinclair. "We just want to advise these people in this building to move fast on this issue."

Skip Taube, Panther information minister, said the planned demonstration would be peaceful.

He said he doubted if it would involve a "smoke-in."

"We would never announce anything like that," Taube said. "It's illegal."

Sinclair's brother, David, White Panther chief of staff, said "I think it would be appropriate, however."

State Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, who arranged for the group to use the former courtroom, now a legislative hearing room, called marijuana a generation-gap issue and compared its abuses to those of alcohol.

"I don't think the burning social issue of our time is legalization of marijuana," Craig said. "I don't want my 14-year-old daughter smoking marijuana, I don't want her drinking liquor, even beer.

"But we are more concerned with the outside of people's heads than with the inside," Craig said.

Craig called Sinclair's sentence absurd.

"Two Detroit policemen got no penalty or prosecution for paying off a rape charge with a $5,000 check," Craig said, "But John Sinclair got 9½ to 10 years for giving away one marijuana cigarette.

"It is my firm conviction that he is in prison only because he was a funny looking person who said funny things," Craig added.

Eyes Third Term

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Hal W. Ziegler, R-Jackson, says he will seek a third consecutive term in the Michigan Legislature. Ziegler is assistant Republican floor leader.

Report Recovery Of 4,000 Frozen Pizzas In State

LANSING (AP) — Concentrated efforts by federal, state and local authorities have resulted in the recovery of over 4,000 frozen pizzas in Michigan that may have been contaminated with deadly botulism poisoning.

Officials said Tuesday an estimated 10,000 pizzas were believed distributed in Michigan since April 1, with the heaviest concentration in the Lansing, Saginaw and Grand Rapids areas.

It is believed the remaining 6,000 pizzas may have already been consumed although there are no reports of any illnesses. The botulism comes from canned mushrooms adorning the pizzas.

Over 1,000 wholesale customers of the Roman Pizza Company of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, have been notified by the Federal Food and Drug Administration and the state agriculture department. Acting F-D-A district director Arthur Beebe says now the "situation is well in hand."

FIFTEEN OF 24 freight cars of a Penn Central freight train were derailed just east of Albion early last week. There were no injuries and no toxic cargo was carried by the train. A Calhoun County sheriff's deputy said a broken wheel caused the wreck. Dead power and telephone lines are being removed by clean-up crews. (AP Wirephoto)

Veteran Actor, Ed Begley, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ed Begley, the veteran character actor who won an Academy Award for his portrayal of a Southern political boss in "Sweet Bird of Youth," died Tuesday night. He was 69.

Spokesmen said Begley dropped dead at a party. Details weren't immediately available.

His movies included "Twelve Angry Men," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," "It Happens Every Spring" and "Sorry, Wrong Number."

He appeared on the stage in "Inherit the Wind," "Look Homeward, Angel," "Advise and Consent," "All My Sons," "What Price Glory" and "John Loves Mary."

New Mayor

PONTIAC (AP) — Pontiac city commissioners have chosen as mayor Robert Jackson, 43, a self-employed real estate appraiser. He succeeds William Taylor Jr., who did not run for re-election as a commissioner. Jackson was elected last week to his second two-year term on the commission.

GERALD E. PLANTE, Garden, was promoted from Airman First Class to the rank of Sergeant on April 1. He is now stationed at Forbes Air Force Base in Kansas after spending a 15-day leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Plante, and visiting other relatives in the Garden area.

William O. Douglas Samuel Chase

THE HULLABALOO surrounding Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas recalls that only once before has a justice been impeached. That was Samuel Chase, and he was acquitted in 1805. Discontentment with Douglas revolves around some of his "offbeat" decisions and the $12,000-a-year pay he received from a foundation with financial roots in Las Vegas gambling. He resigned that post in May 1969.

Atoms May Aid Cancer Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of four nations are rushing to complete powerful new atom smashers that may prove useful in treating cancer and desalting and purifying water.

The devices, nuclear accelerators, are designed to create new superheavy chemical elements that scientists hope will have many practical uses.

But how these elements are to be produced may give science bonus benefits in medicine and in making salt water drinkable, reports at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society revealed.

The machines sport powerful beams of subnuclear "bullets" of a chemical element to bombard another element in an effort to produce new superheavy material.

But Dr. H. Marshall Blann of the University of Rochester told in his report how the subnuclear beams hold promise in other fields.

"Outside of nuclear physics there is great interest in the beams for possible applications ranging from radiotherapy (against cancer and other diseases) to water desalinization and purification," he said.

The nations involved in the race to complete the machines are the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Germany.

Tasty Tidbits

CADILLAC (AP) — Mushroom hunters can begin tracking down the tasty tidbits in the Cadillac area this weekend but local mushroom experts say the crop should be at its peak about May 8. warmer weather and steady rains have sped mushroom growth.

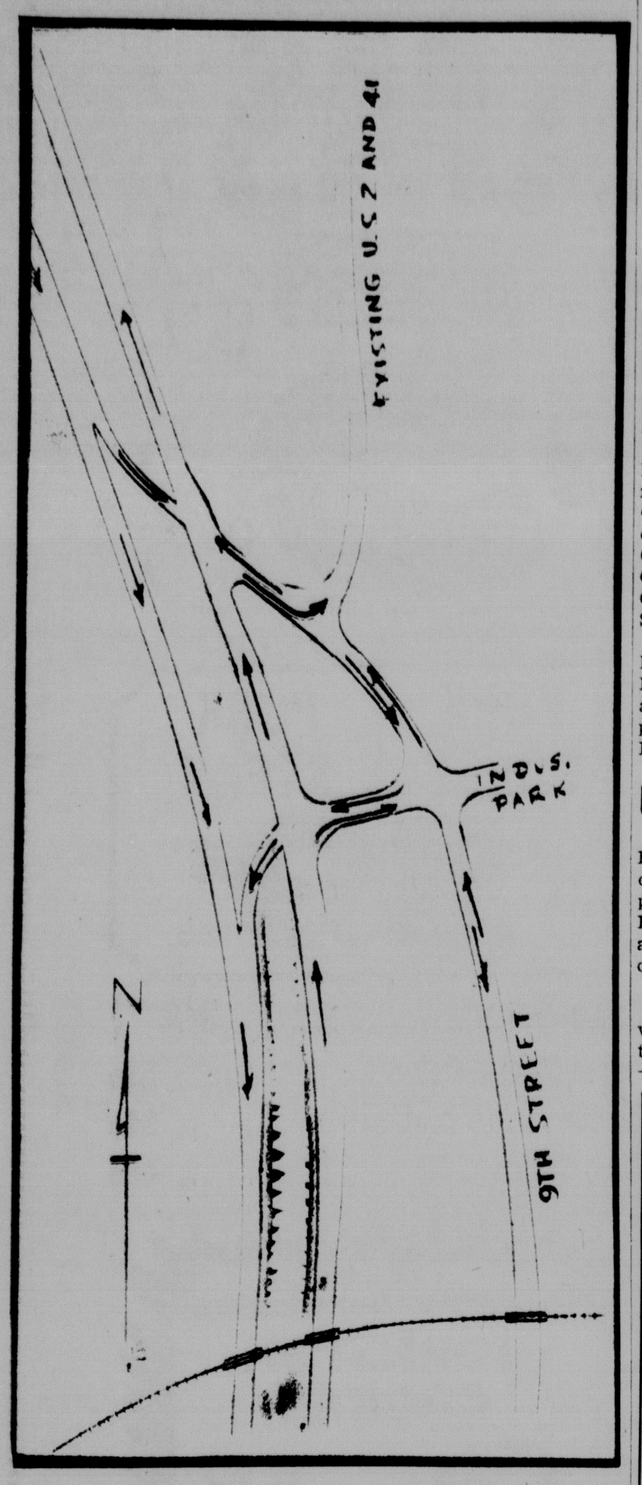
GLADSTONE



THIS IS A DRAWING prepared by the Michigan Highway Dept. staff in Escanaba of the planned intersection at north Gladstone for the Gladstone to Rapid River Freeway. Motel owners in the North Gladstone Area objected to the plan Monday night at the City Commission meeting, pointing out that southbound traffic would have to make a right angle turn left across the northbound lanes and then have to turn another 120 degrees to reach the existing roadway into the resort area. Arrows on the map indicate traffic flow in the area of the planned interchange, which would be constructed at grade level. Another exit from the planned controlled-access freeway is provided at the north city limits road. It is not shown on this map. Bids for the project are scheduled to be let in June.

Prizes Awarded In Recent Bike Safety Rodeo

Combination locks: Joanne Burton, Cheryl Campbell, Larry Carignan, Bruce Collins, Charles Myers, Janet Shandonay, Randy Vincent and Cheryl Weeter. Iights: Joel Carlson, Tom Demeuse, Carol Gerard, Diane Richards, Tom Seronko and Gesele Thennes.

Mirrors: Rose Aird, John Hermanson, Jeff Johnson, Jean LaFave, Troy John McCully and Rosemary Trotter. Air pumps were awarded to Cathy Brow and Todd Davis.

School To Host 'Magic Of Stage'

"The Magic of the Stage," survey of theatre from the time of the ancient Greeks to modern poetic drama, will be presented in Gladstone by a troupe of young professional players from the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program May 15.

The presentation is sponsored by the Community School at 10:30 a.m. in the high school gym under a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

This year's presentation consists of scenes from Sophocles' "Antigone", Carlo Goldoni's "The Servant of Two Masters", Shakespeare's "Othello", Moliere's "The Misanthrope", Edmund Rostand's "Cyrano De Bergerac" and Edgar Lee Master's "Spoon River Anthology."

"The Magic of the Stage" features a company of young professional actors selected by the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program at nation-wide auditions. They are James Baffico, Donna Haley, James Hosbein, Kathleen McGill, and William Tate.

This new production of "The Magic of the Stage" was conceived by the production's co-directors James Hosbein and Kathleen McGill. Scenic design is by Stuart K. McDaniel.

All of the "Magic" personnel are currently graduate students in theatre at the University of Michigan, and have had extensive background with theatre organizations around the country.

Manager for the troupe is J. Roland Wilson, administrative assistant to the director of the Professional Theatre Program at the University of Michigan.

The presentation in Gladstone is part of a month-long tour of Michigan which will take the company to 20 different communities, including many in the Upper Peninsula.

Keeton Rules Out Leaves In Street

Gladstone residents are asked not to rake leaves into the street for removal as the city street sweeper is not equipped to remove piles of rakings.

City Manager Howard Keeton said rakings should be placed in plastic bags and put out where the garbage truck stops for the regular collection.

The program will include Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Einar Olson, and selections by a vocal trio composed of Susie Holmstrom, Sharon Brady and Marla Bengston, accompanied by Mrs. William Holmstrom. Hostesses will be Mrs. J. R. Olson and Mrs. Lloyd Nyberg.

DEAD DUCK—Clyde Bolin, Interior Department game management agent, holds a dead duck near Fremont, Ohio, a victim of oil and industrial waste in a pond. Gladstone Bands To Feature NBC Trumpet Artist

Gladstone's Senior High Concert Band which earned a first division rating last Saturday in the Upper Peninsula Band and Orchestra festival at Menominee will present a concert of band music Sunday, May 17, in the GHS physical education building.

Featured soloist with the band will be Clark Terry, trumpet and flugelhorn virtuoso often featured on nationally-televised "Tonight" show.

A total of 17 bands and two orchestras participated in the Upper Peninsula festival and Gladstone's excellent performance of the Class A required number from the Michigan list, "First Suite In E Flat" by Gustav Holst earned compliments and a first division rating from both judges.

Terry is one of the great contemporary individualists in jazz, according to Paul F. Cowen, director of the Gladstone band.

The seventh child and youngest boy in a large St. Louis family, Terry became fascinated at an early age by the trumpet and realized his ambition to play the instrument when he joined his high school band.

Terry's background includes work with Charlie Barnet, Charlie Ventura and Eddin Vinson bands, several years with Count Basie and eight years with Duke Ellington. In 1959, he went to Europe with the Quincy Jones band and in 1960 joined the National Broadcasting Co. staff, playing with Doc Severinsen's band.

The concert will include selections by both the Junior High and Senior High Concert Bands. Tickets can be purchased from any Junior or Senior high school band member.

Army Engineers Get Notice On Lake Dumpings

LANSING (AP) — The dumping of polluted dredge material into open waters of the Great Lakes should be stopped, Gov. William Milliken has told an Army Engineers official in Chicago.

Milliken said Tuesday in a letter to Brig. Gen. William Watkin Jr., of the North Central Army Engineer Division at Chicago that "the threat to the water environment is too great to continue such practices."

The governor said the disposal "should properly be a project cost and therefore not borne by state and local entities."

Milliken said that in regard to future disposal:

The nature and extent of pollution of bottom sediments should be examined by the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the Federal Water Quality Administration.

The amount of such material which needs to be dredged should be re-examined.

Michigan and Army Engineer staff should jointly determine the necessity of dredging polluted material this season.

An analysis should be made of the economic consequences of not dredging.

"Where it appears that dredging must proceed," the governor said, "I will ask the president for emergency funding to develop acceptable alternate disposal sites for polluted materials."

Priests To Run Family Movie House In City

DETROIT (AP)—Two priests in downtown Detroit parishes are planning to open their own family movie house to give moviegoers in their churches "an alternative to skin movies that dominate the downtown screens."

For openers, they're offering two films starring that noted drunk, swindler and misanthrope, W.C. Fields.

Father Richard J. Ward, pastor of St. Aloysius Church and Father John E. Nader of St. Mary's Church are renting a luxurious movie hall now closed.

They say their opening day offering of "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man" and "The Bank Dick" are "just to test the market for classics."

The two priests plan to follow with "Romeo and Juliet" and a mixture of classics with good modern films.

They promise good hot popcorn and low prices as part of the deal. It will cost kids and retired people 75 cents, adults $1.50.

"People in my parish, Catholics and non-Catholics, alike, have been telling me for years they are tired of sitting home because there is no alternative to the skin movies that dominate the downtown screens," Father Ward said.

The only films to be censored are what Father Ward describes as "pious piffle."

Hunger, Malnutrition Set Mark Among Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hunger and malnutrition in the United States strikes preschool children and adolescents from povery-ridden families the hardest, resulting in reduced growth and possible mental retardation, a federal scientist reported.

In a survey prepared for the Senate Committee on Hunger and Human Needs, Dr. Samuel E. Schaefer said "by far the most frequently malnourished age groups are preschool children and adolescents.

Young Key Contributor

"The younger population is the key contributor to the finding of serious malnutrition in the sample population as a whole," said Schaefer, chief of the nutrition program of the U.S. Health Services and Mental Health Administration.

Schaefer also said "There is no longer any doubt that the incidence of malnutrition is related to poverty-level incomes. The poorer you are the more likely you are to suffer from serious malnutrition."

10 States In Survey

Schaefer's study, conducted under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, surveyed 10 states—large nd small, urban and rural, North and South.

As an example of the study's findings Schaefer said a survey of 13,373 persons in Louisiana and Texas—two of the 10 states included in the report—discovered malnutrition's symptoms in widespread growth retardation, anemia, and unacceptable levels of vitamins A and C and riboflavin.

He said the results of the survey have prompted state officials to act to improve welfare and food distribution programs.

Program Planned

"There are indications that the survey in the other eight states will stimulate similar action programs," he said.

But at the time of the survey, he said, less than 10 per cent of those surveyed in Texas participated in either the Food Stamp or Commodity Distribution programs, both federally financed. In Louisiana, he said, 29 per cent of those surveyed took part in the food stamp program and 12 per cent got surplus foods under the commodities programs.

Drawbacks Noted

"Lack of transportation to the source of the program, lack of understanding and eligibility regulations all exerted an influence on participation," he said.

In preliminary findings last year, Schaefer said, most children between one and three years of age were below the average height recorded for wellnourishd American children. In the final study most children between the ages of six months and six years were retarded in growth and some showed signs of retarded bone growth as well, he said.

Physical Growth Hindered

"Growth retardation is one of the first indications of malnutrition and reduced physical growth can be indicative of mental and neurological retardation," he added.

"The incidence of serious malnutrition—multiple nutritional deficiencies—is five times as high in persons at the bottom of the income scale," Dr. Schaefer said, adding that the bottom was considered $1,800 a year and below and the top $7,400 annually and above.

"The incidence of serious malnutrition among those persons in the middle of the poverty range—$1,800 to $3,600—was two times as high as those at the top," he said.

State Recreation Bond Sales OK'd

LANSING (AP)—Sale of $36 million in state bonds for recreation and clean water projects at an interest rate of slightly under 6 per cent was approved Tuesday by the State Administrative Board.

In a session lasting only a few seconds, the Board accepted the only bid offered for the bonds, from Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.; Salomon Brothers and Hutzler; and John Nuveen and Co., Inc., and Associates, all of New York.

The $36 million includes $21 million in recreation bonds and $15 million in water bonds.

The proceeds will be used to finance payments by the Department of Natural Resources to communities for recreational purposes and the control of water pollution.

The bid was at an annual interest rate of 5.9965 per cent. The net interest cost will be $18.9 million.

Puerto Rico Eyes Star On United States Flag

By GREGORY NOKES

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, its highways jammed with Detroit's cars and its beaches crowded with New York's tourists, appears set on a course aimed at putting its star on Old Glory as the 51st U.S. state.

The event may be 10 or more years off, or may never occur at all, but there's a "statehood" governor in the 450-year-old La Fortaleza mansion and many people regard it as a foregone conclusion. Some of those who favor statehood also fear it.

Approach Of Death?

"It's like the approach of death," says the wife of a San Juan architect. "You always know you will die some day, and we always knew we would eventually become a state. But the closer it gets, the more you dread it."

Many Puero Ricans fear complete Americanization of the island under statehood. They think all or most of what they hold dear from the Spanish heritage will he lost, especially the language. Gov. Luis A. Ferre, a leading advocate of statehood, insists this does not have to happen.

Statehood Opposed

One of those who opposes statehood, and favors independence, said in a recent speech that Puerto Rico's population growth is one of the last lines of resistance against the United States.

"Never should the density of our population be weakened, that wall which resists the destruction of our personality and our race," said Eladio Rodriguez Otero, president of the Ateneo Puertorriqueno, a cultural organization.

A current birth control program, he said, is primarily financed by federal funds and is "an anti-Puerto Rican plan." He asked, "What right is there to impede the increase of our population when there is no check on the entry, which is every day greater, of the thousands of people who arrive from the outside to our land to take up residence here?"

Eye Stronger U. S. Ties

The trend in Puerto Rico today, however, is toward stronger ties with the mainland. President Nixon and Gov. Ferre have a joint committee to study whether to let Puerto Ricans vote for president. There are one million registered voters in a population of about three million.

In 1973, Puerto Rico will pass through its 75th year of domination by the United States. The island was one of the spoils of the Spanish-American War.

Americans Puzzled

Few visiting Americans understand it. The island has operated under a commonwealth form of government since the 1940s, and only in recent years has there been major interest in statehood.

The debate over statehood, commonwealth and independence, the three status alternatives, is the major topic in Puerto Rico today, and every decision and every act by the government, no matter how trivial in appearace, is judged in that context.

Given U.S. citizenship and drafted into the U.S. armed forces, the Puerto Rican nevertheless lacks voting representation in Congress. He thinks of himself as something different from his fellow citizens to the north. He calls English-speaking mainlanders Americans or Americanos, while he refers to himself, with pride, as a Puerto Rican or Puertorriqueno.

200 Killed In War

More than 200 islanders have been killed in the Vietnam war.

Never independent since conquest by Spain's Ponce de Leon in the early 1500s, Puerto Rico is a product of the Spanish culture and a captive of the U.S. life-style.

The estimated 50,000 mainlanders living in Puerto Rico refer to themselves as "continentals." Most occupy well-paying jobs in industry, finance, the media and government, and most get along fine without knowing any Spanish. They send their children to private English-speaking schools, read an English newspaper, watch the English-language television or listen to one of the several English-language radio stations.

English Tourists Visit

They attend English-language churches and can even hear Ferre deliver an English-language speech when he is addressing a group of them

Several hundred thousand English-speaking tourists, mostly from the New York area, visit the island each year.

There is a large and growing bilingual Puerto Rican middle class. These people live in characterless suburbs which stretch through once fertile valleys south of San Juan. With 400,000 vehicles already crowding island roads, officials are considering a subway system.

Pope To Issue New Marriage Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI will issue new papal regulations permitting Catholics to marry non-Catholics without the presence of a priest, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops has announced.

In a statement Tuesday, the conference said the Pope would list 17 norms on mixed marriages in a 2,400-word letter to be issued Thursday.

The conference added the Pope took the action "on his own initiative." According to the conference, the two major deveolpments in the letter are:

—"Diocesan bishops may now permit mixed marriages involving Catholics to take place without the presence of a Catholic priest, provided there is some public form of marriage service. This dispensation from the required form of Catholic marriage may be granted only for serious reasons.

"In recent years such concessions had been made on an individual basis, but only by the Holy See. The new rule recognizes the local bishops' authority . . ."

—"The 1966 instruction on mixed marriages, now in force, asked that the non-Catholic party to a mixed marriage 'be invited to promise sincerely and openly that he will in no way impede' the obligation of the Catholic 'to guard, preserve, profess his (her) own faith and to baptize and educate the offspring in that faith.'

"The new regulation . . . eliminates any demand for a promise on the part of the non-Catholic. Instead it first affirms the Catholic party's responsibility: '. . . the Catholic party shall declare that he is ready to remove dangers of falling away from the faith.

'He is also gravely bound to do all in his power to have all the children baptized and brought up in the Catholic Church . . . . At an opportune time the non-Catholic party must be informed of these promises . . . so . . . he is cognizant of the promise and obligation on the part of the Catholic.' "

Mixed-faith marriages will continue to be discouraged by the Pope, the conference added, and he will state the marriages "do not, except in some cases, help in re-establishing unity among Christians."

The last major papal document on mixed marriages was issued in 1966 and lifted excommunication of Roman Catholics who married outside their church.

Battle Lines Form In Abortion Hassle

LANSING (AP) — Emotional battle lines formed today as the Michigan Senate debated a bill aimed at liberalizing current state abortion law, condemned as "archaic, barbaric and hypocritical" by the only woman senator.

Members of the Michigan Organization for Repeal of Abortion Laws (MORAL) planned a morning demonstration—dubbed an "abort-in"—on the steps of the Capitol.

Another group, called "the right to life movement," took a half-page advertisement on the Lansing State Journal's Capitol Affairs Page Tuesday,printing an article it headlined: "Abortion—Killing Children—A Doctor Tells How It's Being Done."

Senators received stacks of telegrams from pro and anti-abortion reform forces. One urged a lawmaker to "please protect the lives of defenseless children by opposing abortion bill. Do not legalize infant murder."

The Senate began discussion, but took no formal action, Tuesday on the abortion reform question.

Awaiting consideration was a committee - approved substitute to a bill sponsored by Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor.

The substitute, which closely follows provisions of a reform measure endorsed by Gov. William Milliken, would allow a woman who had lived in Michigan for at least 90 days to have an abortion for any reason during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

Her doctor would have to take "all reasonable and diligent steps to notify the husband" if the woman were living with her spouse. The operation would be performed in a hospital, clinic or any other facility approved by the Michigan Public Health Department.

The bill, reported to the Senate floor by the Committee on Health, Social Services and Welfare, also includes provisions for pregnant women under 18 to have the consent of a parent or legal guardian for the operation.

Doctors would be exempt from criminal prosecution under a "conscience clause" and those pregnant for more than 90 days might obtain legal abortions if there were "significant risk" to the child.

Current law allows abortion only when the life of the mother is endangered.

The Senate defeated a less liberal abortion reform measure last year.

Altrusa Club Hosts South American Girls

On Monday, April 27, the Altrusa Club was host to five young ladies from South America. They were the senoritas Angelica Mellado of Concepcion, Chile, Patricia Schuffeneger of Santiago, Chile, Ximena Soza of Vina del Mar, Chile, and Christa Aranha and Valeria Loureiro, both of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Arrangements were made by the International Relations committee, Mrs. Ivan Wood chairman, Mrs. O. W. Brookes and Mrs. Donald Haapala.

Toured Escanaba

During the day the girls visited several places of interest in Escanaba. Conducted tours featured the Medicenter facilities and the First National Bank. The Board of Directors of Altrusa hosted a buffet-supper at the home of Mrs. Wood.

Seeking to promote intercultural understanding, an informal discussion was held in the evening for Altrusans and invited guests who were welcomed by President Vera Clairmont. The program was moderated by Mrs. Haapala and was held in the Hospitality Room of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Many of the the interesting slides shown pointed out the sharp geographical contrasts between Chile and Brazil. However, the discussion that followed, left the impression that the two countries are similar in many ways.

University Education

In both countries there is a growing middle class and a trend to seek a university education. The goals of the young people are much like those of the teenagers in the United States. More and more women are pursuing college degrees, although, if they marry, they are less likely to work than are women in the USA.

For centuries, it had been traditional for Latin-American families of European descent to send their children to Europe to be educated. Now there is a sharp increase in the number of young people who study in the USA. This has a great impact on mutual understanding, because students are returning to their native countries with a very real, first-hand knowledge of life in the United States.

The exchange-student programs offer an excellent opportunity for a youth to gain command of the English language. Though Portuguese is the national language of Brazil and Spanish of Chile, there is a growing use of English in the business world of South America.

Space Program

The girls said that the space program has created much interest in their countries, but their countrymen are also aware of our need to solve our social problems.

Though contact with returning exchange students had given them an accurate picture of American life, in general, they were not aware of our problems of pollution, the dangers of smoking or alcoholism.

Many differences between the countries are due to geography. Brazil is on the Atlantic where surfing is a popular pasttime. Chile's Pacific coastline is more rugged and the snowcapped mountains invite many ski fans.

Following the program, the women enjoyed visiting with the young ladies. The coffee hour was arranged by Miss Tyne Kangas and her committee.

ON MONDAY, five young ladies from South America were guests of the Altrusa Club of Escanaba. During the day the girls toured various places of interest in Escanaba and later were guests at a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Ivan Wood, which was hosted by the Board of Directors of the club. Companies Given Warnings About New Generation

LONDON (AP) — Students who have demanded and won the right to participate in running their universities are going to demand the same thing when they take jobs in industry, Jack Straw, president of Britain's National Union of Students, said Tuesday.

"Industrialists would be naive if they did not take student demands seriously," he told a conference for businessmen and educators.

"Some of the ideas students develop in university are likely to rub off on industry," he added. "Industry will be faced with the same problems" as university authorities.

Straw urged businessmen to begin discussing now how to handle such problems.

Youth Charged In Auto Theft

Anthony J. Stevens, 17, of 1617 Lake Shore Dr., Gladstone, was arraigned in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman Monday on charges of auto theft and leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Police said Stevens was arrested after investigation into the theft Friday night of a car owned by Jeanette LaCrosse, 1323 Sheridan Rd. The car was taken from behind her home and involved in a series of accidents in the area, officers said.

Stevens requested a court appointed attorney and preliminary examination will be held within 10 days.

Police alleged that Stevens entered the LaCrosse home, opened a purse on a table, took the keys and went to the car. Officers said he backed the car into a fence belonging to Leslie Porath, ran into a storage shed at Nelson's Cash Store, and hit a tree, utility pole, and a car owned by Mary Kobasic.

Frost Damages Some Crops On Western Coast

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Frost did extensive damage overnight Tuesday to grape vines, fruits and row crops in the northern San Joaquin Valley, one of the nation's major agricultural regions. Money estimates were not yet available.

In the Hughson - Waterford area in eastern Stanislaus County the temperature was 29 degrees for much of the night and Walter Haatman of the U.S. Fruit Frost Warning Service said peaches and almonds were damaged.

Ex-Admiral, 104, Relates His Present Views

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The nation's oldest admiral has a glint in his blue eyes as he chuckles over women's fashions, criticizes the "now" generation and urges modernization of the fleet

"Women's fashions are like ocean waves," says Richard H. Jackson, who is two weeks away from his 104th birthday. "Their hemlines go up and come down again with a kind of predictable regularity."

Of sea power, he says: "We used to think the Russians were a pretty powerful land power but now they're using their new navy in a geat show of force.

"We want a fleet that can be in the right place at the right time and with the right weapons. We can't afford to have too many ships scattered about that can't do the job."

The American Battleship Association is arranging Jackson's May 10 birthday party, with President Nixon among those invited.

Jackson, who was 64 when he retired in 1930 as commander of the U.S. battle fleet, said of America's "now" generation:

"They think they know it all, but a lot of the old salts around know they don't. It takes a lot of years to learn the difference between opinion and experience."

Market Making Upward Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market began moving fractionally upward early today in very active trading.

A few minutes after the opening bell, the New York Stock Exchange tape was running one minute late.

At 10:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.25 to 725.58.

Declines outnumbered advances, however, by a good margin.

The stock market Tuesday declined sharply for the second day, throwing the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials once again to a new six year low.

The Dow average fell 10.82 to 724.33, lowest closing level since President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963, when the average closed at 711.49.

The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks dropped .66 to 44.08, the lowest since Jan. 4, 1967, when it stood at 43.82.

Analysts attributed the decline to the same factors that have caused the Dow average to fall nearly 50 points in the past five sessions. Lower first quarter earnings reports, concern over the Cambodian situation and fears of inflation. Also, the government reported Tuesday that its index of leading economic indicators—which tend to foreshadow broad movements in the economy—fell in March after showing a gain in February.

Volume was active, with 12.62 million shares changing hands.

Briefly Told

The U. P. Chiefs Motorcycle Club will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Trenary Townhall.

Gregory Viau, 21, Rte. 1 Rapid River, received minor injuries Tuesday when the handle bars broke on the motorcycle he was driving causing the motorcycle to upset, according to State Police. Officers said the accident occurred about 7:40 p.m. on U.S. 2 just east of Rapid River, and Viau was the only one invloved. Viau sought his own treatment for injuries, police said.

Round-The-World Sailor Nears Goal

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — With only four cats for company on a tossing sea, a tousled blond youth tacked his way up the coast today, almost within sight of his goal: To become the youngest person ever to travel alone around the world in a sailboat.

His parents and the attractive, now pregnant California girl he met and married during his trip expect to greet Robin Lee Graham here Thursday afternoon. He told the Coast Guard by radio Tuesday he was 150 miles away.

Robin was 16 when he set out from Long Beach four years and nine months ago in his 24-foot sloop "Dove."

Last March 5 he spent his 21st birthday painting the bottom of his newer, larger boat, "Return of the Dove," in the Galapagos Islands. His last, 3,600-mile leg started there.

He started out with two cats as companions, but one jumped ship in Samoa and the other was run over by a truck in Fiji. In South Africa he acquired two more cats, which two months ago had two kittens.

"I'll be relieved when he arrives," said Robin's father, Lyle Graham, a real estate man. The Grahams live in nearby Newport Beach.

Patti, his blue-eyed, smiling wife, said, "I'm very excited, of course." Has she been worried? "No, I have full confidence in his abilities. I believe there's a guardian angel on his shoulder."

Patti's father manages a marine hardware store in Long Beach. Now in her early 20s, she developed a taste for travel after attending Santa Monica City College.

A mutual friend introduced her and Robin in Fiji.

"Seven months later we met in Australia, where I was planning to stay," she said. "But he talked me into going to South Africa. I took a passenger liner."

After their marriage, Patti followed by ship and air and met him at Barbados in the Caribbean and more recently in the Galapagos Islands. Why didn't she accompany him on his voyage?

"He started out singlehanded, and he wanted to finish singlehanded," said the smiling wife.

She confided: "Robin will be a father in July."

Why did Robin undertake his solo journey? Because, he has explained, he wanted to see the world but not as a typical tourist.

In 1965 his father bought him the used, 24-foot fiberglass "dove" for his dream trip. They spent the summer outfitting it and charting a course that would take advantage of winds, currents and weather patterns.

Since St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands, Robin has sailed the 33-foot sloop "Return of the Dove," acquired with earnings from his writing and photographs.

The future? Patti says he plans to return to school and become an oceanographer.

Actress Eulogized By Robert Stack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "She was one of the beautiful people, the larger-than-life people who filled the screen," said Robert Stack, delivering the eulogy for Anita Louise.

Stack and four other actors—Henry Fonda, Anthony Quinn, Ricardo Montalban and Jim Backus—were among pallbearers Tuesday as the 55-year-old actress was buried at Forest Lawn in Glendale.

Miss Louise made more than 70 movies in a career of nearly 50 years. She had appeared recently in the "Mannix" and "Mod Squad" television series.

She died Saturday of a stroke.

Halt Fighting At Dak Seang

By The Associated Press

Fighting came to a halt around the besieged Dak Seang Special Forces camp in South Vietnam today after the Viet Cong offered to release prisoners it has captured in the month-long siege.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said no POWs had been released by midafternoon. He reported that South Vietnamese observation planes were circling the area but had spotted "nothing unusual."

The Viet Cong radio said Tuesday night it would release its captives in the fighting around the camp in the Central Highlands if U.S. and South Vietnamese forces called off all war activity there today.

Saigon announced a "tactical halt in operations" beginning at noon. A military spokesman said he did not know when the cease-fire would end.

The Viet Cong did not say how many prisoners they would release. Saigon says nine government troops are missing at Dak Seang and 15 in recent fighting at the Dak Pek Special Forces camp 20 miles to the north.

In Cambodia, a military spokesman reported that government forces were battling Viet Cong and North vietnamese troops in two areas north of Phnom Penh.

Maj. Am Rong reported continuing heavy fighting at Chhlong, on the Mekong River 90 miles northeast of the capital, and near Senmonorom, 90 miles to the east and just across the border from South Vietnam.

Wounded Cambodian soldiers returning from the Chhlong area told newsmen they had been shot at by American helicopters near Krek, about 10 miles from the Vietnamese border. The tops of their trucks had bullet holes in them. But a U.S. spokesman in Saigon said he had heard no reports of firing into Cambodia.

Radioactive Fuel Cask Apparently Survived Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A cask of radioactive fuel aboard the Apollo 13 lunar module apparently survived re-entry into the earth's atmosphere and sank in the South Pacific near the Fiji Islands without releasing any radiation.

The Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday no increase in radiation was detected over a 300,000-square-mile test area.

The cask, made of graphite and beryllium, was strapped to the lunar lander, which burned up in the earth's atmosphere. The lander was jettisoned by astronauts James A. Lovell, Fred W. Haise and John L. Swigert shortly before their command ship entered the atmosphere.

The radioactive plutonium 238 in the cask was to have powered an electric generator on the moon.

"The absence of additional radiation indicates that the cask containing the plutonium fuel survived—as designed—the heat of re-entry in the South Pacific intact and sank to the ocean bottom," the AEC said.

Eastern Division Leads American League Race

By The Associated Press

For one day at least—there could be no argument—the East had won the battle over the West in American League divisional skirmishes.

Tuesday was the day the East shone as they swept all six contests against Western opponents.

In the only day game, the Cleveland Indians started the rout with a 3-1 triumph over Minnesota and were soon followed at night by Detroit, an 8-6 victor over Kansas City, Baltimore, 4-2 winners over Chicago, Washington, 9-6 over Milwaukee, New York, with a 7-5 triumph over California and Boston, which swept past Oakland, 2-1.

18-6 Edge

With the six victories Tuesday the Al East took an 18-6 edge over Western opponents this season. The Orioles lead the East pack with a 4-0 record while the Kansas City Royals, 0-4, have yet to beat an Eastern club.

Tony Horton, who said "I was just looking for the first ball that looked good to me," slammed a two-run ninth inning double, gave the Indians their victory over the Twins.

The slugging first baseman got his chance, when after one out, Harmon Killebrew dropped a foul pop hit by Ted Uhlaender. Uhlaender, with another life, slapped a single to center. One out later Vada Pinson singled, setting up Horton's game-winner.

Boog Powell knocked in all four runs in the Orioles victory. Powell, who belted White Sox pitchers for eight homers and a .459 batting average last year, quickly got started this season, slamming a three-run homer in the opening inning and added a run-scoring single in the fifth.

Cuellar Wins

Co-holder of last year's Cy Young Award, Mike Cuellar, benefitted from Cowell's belting, gaining his third victory while scattering eight hits, including a homer by the Sox' Bill Melton.

Frank Howard, Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez poled home runs in the Senators long-ball battle with the Brewers. Ted Savage and Danny Walton connected for Milwaukee. It was Walton's seventh of the season, best in the league.

Rodriguez, playing in only his second game for the Senators since being traded from California, slugged a three-run shot in the fifth inning, giving Washington a 7-2 edge. Howard's sixth of the year came with one on in the sixth while Stroud unloaded in the third. Howard added a run-scoring double.

Yankees Triumph

Fritz Peterson knocked in three runs with a single and his first major league homer and Ron Woods added a two-run shot for the Yanks over the Angels.

Peterson, 2-2, was sailing along on a four-hitter, got within one out of completing New York's first pitching assignment of the season before being rocked. Ken McMullen socked a two-run homer and with two men on base, Steve Hamilton relieved the left-hander. Another run scored before the victory was secured.

Tony Conigliaro and Mike Andrews rapped solo homers to back the pitching of left-hander Bill Lee in Boston's narrow triumph.

Lee had a one-hitter through seven innings before the 23-year-old ran into trouble and needed relief help.

The A's Frank Fernandez singled after two outs and singles by Bob Pena and Bert Campaneris made it 2-1 before Ray Javis came out of the bullpen to put out the fire.

Conigliario slammed his second homer of the season in the fourth and Andrews followed with his third of the year in the fifth.

Boxing Tourney At Bark River

Over eighty boys from grades three through eight have expressed their interest in participating in the Second Annual Bark River Boxing Tournament. The tournament will be staged this Thursday April 30 at 7:30 p. m. and on Sunday May 3 at 2 p. m. at the High School gym.

All boy's who participate in the tournament are required to wear head gear and 10 ounce gloves to minimize the chance of a boy getting hurt.

Referee LeRoy Sovey, who is aided by four judges, will terminate a bout should they see the slightest chance of a boy being injured.

The length of the round is reduced to one minute rather than the customary 3 minutes and no participant will be allowed to box more than 3 rounds.

These bouts demonstrate skill in the art of self defense and good sportsmanship, as well as with considerable humor.

Trophies will be awarded to those boys demonstrating the most skill and sportsman like conduct.

Last year the tournement was very well received by the public and this year a good turnout is expected.

Advance adult tickets may be purchase at the following business places:Jerry's Barber Shop in Escanaba, the Shell Station and Pat's Cafe in Bark River, Big R Cafe and Jim's Barber Shop in Powers, Greenwoods Grocery in Schaffer and the Red Owl in Perronville.

Proceeds from the tournament will go to the Bark River Ski Club.

Perez Sets Major League Record In Reds' Victory

By The Associated Press

His teammates have hot-hitting Tony Perez figured out which is more than you can say for the rest of the National League.

"He's hitting everything and everybody," said Pete Rose, an expert on the subject who has won the NL batting title in each of the last two years.

That's the straight-forward explanation, Bobby Tolan, another Cincinnati slugger, subscribes to a more mystical approach.

"He must be trying," said Tolan, "to get into the next higher league."

Record

Whatever Perez has up his sleeve, he gave Houston more of the same Tuesday night, setting a major league record with his 10th home run this month as the Reds whipped the Astros 4-2.

Elsewhere in the Nl Tuesday night, Pittsburgh slugged Chicago 6-1 Atlanta edged St. Louis 3-2, New York dropped San Francisco 5-2, Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings and Montreal swept a doubleheader from San Diego 4-2 and 7-3.

Perez' two-run shot shattered the 48-year-old record for home runs in the month of April established in 1922 by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns who tagged nine. Perez had broken the NL mark of eight shared by Lee Walls and Wally Moon a couple of days ago.

Has .461 Average

In addition to his homer, Perez had an RBI single and boosted his major league leading batting average to .461. He has 26 RBIs.

"I feel strong and I see the ball all the way up there," said Perez. "I feel like I'm going to hit it everytime I step up to the plate."

Gary Nolan rode Perez' heavy hitting to his fourth straight victory with Don Gullett providing ninth inning relief after a pinch homer by John Mayberry.

Cubs Defeated

The Pirates ended Chicago's 11-game winning streak with two home runs by Manny Sanguillen and combined three-hit pitching by Luke Walker, Bruce Dal Canton and Dave Giusti.

Sanguillen tagged a two-run homer over the left field wall in the first inning and then reached the identical spot with the bases empty in the sixth.

Dal Canton rescued Walker from a fifth inning jam, then left the game with a pulled muscle and Giusti finished up. It was the Cubs' first loss since April 12.

Clete Boyer unloaded a two-run homer in the ninth, giving the Braves their victory over St. Louis. Mike Torrez had been riding a 2-1 lead produced by Richie Allen's fifth homer of the year for the Cards until Boyer struck.

Aaron Homers

Hank Aaron tagged his seventh of the season for the Braves in the first inning.

Dave Marshall, an ex-Giant, exploded a first inning grand slam homer and gave the Mets enough of a cushion to beat the Giants.

Marshall's shot keyed a five-run Met first and Gary Gentry went eight innings to earn his second victory of the year. He gave up six hits including the 602nd home run of Willie Mays' career. Tug Mcgraw finished up for New York, striking out two in the ninth.

Larry Hisle's two-out homer in the ninth tied the game and then a pinch homer by Rick Groseph leading off the 10th gave Philadelphia its sixth straight victory and beat the Dodgers.

Billy Grabarkewitz had snapped a 1-1 tie with a leadoff homer in the eighth for LA before Hisle tied it again in the Phils' last gasp. Reliever Dick Selma earned the victory and finished the game at third base when left-hander Joe Hoerner came on to retire left-handed batter Willie Davis with the trying run on second in the bottom of the 10th.

Montreal bunched all its runs in the eighth inning of the opener to beat San Diego. Ron Fairly hammered a two-run homer and Bobby Wine's single drove two more across for the Expos. Steve Huntz homered for the Padres.

Fairly homered again in the nightcap and Steve Renko pitched a six-hitter as the Expos completed the sweep and extended San Diego's losing streak to six games. The Expos have won three straight.

Kaline Belts Homer; Tigers Triumph 8-3

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The long ball finally arrived for Al Kaline.

The veteran Tiger right fielder cracked his first homerun of the season in Detroit's 16th game Tuesday night, highlighting a four-run third inning and launching th Tigers toward an 8-3 win over the Kansas City Royals.

"I usually hit the first one sooner than this," Kaline said, "but it doesn't bother me. I've just been trying to meet the ball and get on base." The homer was the only hit Kaline got in four trips to the plate. He's batting .317 and leading the team.

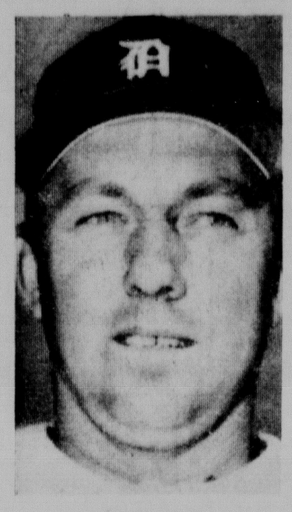
Kaline said he really wasn't looking for the homer.

"I just wanted to get the man home from third," he said. "The last couple of years I've had good starts, and this spring I feel great. I've had no aches or pains, and I'm hitting pretty good."

Royals General Manager Charlie Metro, meanwhile, was hardly pleased with his two-year-old ball club's performance, which had been studded with errors.

"The biggest disappointment is our pitching," said the Royals no-nonsense manager. "— don't know what to think about Bunker," he said referring to Wally Bunker, the victim of the third-inning explosion, who suffered his fifth straight defeat.

Then Metro, usually tight-lipped, added: "He's supposed to be one of our wheelhorses, a dependable guy. But here lately we're out of the ballgame before we get past our starting pitcher."



Al Kaline

The Tigers are now back on the win trail after two defeats in a row at Minnesota. Detroit meets Kansas City, 6-11, again today in the second of a three-game series.

Kaline's homer came after two runs had been scored on doubles by pitcher Joe Niekro and second baseman Dick McAuliffe and a single by Mickey Stanley.

Stanley doubled home another run in the fourth and McAuliffe brought in a run with his second double in the fifth as the Tigers mounted an 8-0 lead.

Neikro, 3-0, lost his shutout to consecutive homers by Lou Piniella and Paul Schall in the sixth. All of those runs were unearned, however, as Don Wert's error at third let a runner on ahead of Piniella's homer. Neikro finished with an eight-hitter.

As far as Tigers manager Mayo Smith was concerned, the only flaw in his team's performance were the two home runs.

"We hit the ball and Neikro pitched an outstanding game, except those two pitches in that one inning," he said.

Blues Advance In Puck Action

ST. LOUIS AP) — The way Frank St. Marseille looked at it, a rap in the eye may have been the best thing that's happened to him in the National Hockey League.

The 30-year-old center, coming back from an eye injury, was never in better form than Tuesday night while propelling the St. Louis Blues to a 5-0 Stanley Cup semifinals victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

St. Marseille's first NHL hat trick provided the Blues a 3-2 edge in the best-of-7 series with the action shifting next to Pittsburgh Thursday night.

Dabbing gingerly at a sore right eye with a towel, the Blues' shotmaker explained his marksmanship.

"The chances come, and you just put them in," he said. "I like the way we played tonight as a whole. Checking-Wise, we never gave them a chance."

While St. Marselle converted three of his chances, it hadn't been long before he seemingly couldn't bur a goal.

He scored 15 of his 16 regular-season goals during the first half of the campaign, then sank into the throes of a 34-game slump before connecting April 21 against the Penguins.

"You have to be discouraged," he said, "But if I hadn't been getting chances I'd been a lot more discouraged."

"It was just a matter of breaks," chimed in teammate Red Berenson. "He was getting good chances and making good plays. It's hard to believe a guy could go so long without scoring and then get three."

St. Marseille was at first believed seriously hurt when jabbed in the eye by Penguin Ron Schock's stick during the teams' third playoff game in Pittsburgh.

The injury, however, proved to be a laceration of the right eyelid, and the Blues' playmaker was kept out of action only the fourth game.

"I could have played him in that game," Coach Scotty Bowman said, "but he couldn't see to one side. He said he'd be all right on the power play, but I didn't want to take any chances."

As St. Marseille celebrated a scoring renaissance, 41-year-old Blues' netminder Jacques Plante was told the shutout, his 14th in 105 Cup Games, was a record.

The achievement, he said, was a fitting one to commemorate his 21st wedding anniversary Wednesday.

Plante was called on to stop only 21 Pittsburgh shots and called improved checking by the Blues decisive.

Outside Pittsburgh's dressing room, Penguins' Coach Red Kelly said he still felt the Blues, who have won 15 straight at home against West Division NHL playoff rivals, could be had.

"I've said all along that no matter what game it is, we'll still have to beat them here," Kelly insisted, "and now it looks like game no 7.

"We weren't outskated that badly tonight. We just stood around and let them roam all over the ice."

Quill, Scroll Group Gets Journalism Tips

By Katharine H. LeBrasseur

John Edmonds, who has just completed 35 years with Field Enterprises of Chicago and is assistant general manager of the Chicago Daily News and associated with the Chicago Sun-Times, discussed the potential growth and career possibilities in the field of journalism at the annual Quill and Scroll banquet Monday night.

"Like what you're doing," Edmonds advised, "since the old adage of copy boy to editor is not true today, unless the copy boy happens to have a college education. Start your journalistic trend in high school; volunteer and become involved with the school paper or year book and then continue in college by taking liberal arts courses and not journalism courses, per se. A study of municipal finance, government, history, political science, literature, English composition, sociology, philosophy and psychology will give you the wide-range of knowledge that is most necessary in the journalistic field," he said.

He gave a pertinent picture of the newspaper business and told of the 74 editions his papers publish daily, requiring 3,000 people in a wide-range of jobs, the 600 printers and the 280 trucks necessary to print and deliver the papers.

Edmonds pointed out that Field Enterprises uses 150,000 tons of newsprint annually of which 17 per cent is supplied by their Manistique mill, a subsidiary of Field Enterprises.

"Get first hand knowledge of a newspaper career by arranging a visit to a newspaper and viewing the many facets of this profitable and stable profession," he concluded.

Edmonds spoke to the 16 Quill and Scroll initiates, their parents, other members of the MHS Crier and Emerald staff and faculty following a 6:30 potluck supper in the MHS main gym.

Initiated into Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society, were Barbara Beaton, Cathy Cooper, Cindy Frenette, Marie Hentschell, Karin Jetty, Erin O'Brien, Mary Stoll, and advisor Bill Carmody, all of the Crier Staff.

Yearbook initiates included Roy Anderson, JoAnn Berger, Sara Brandstrom, Peter Hood, Marie Lesica, Diane Lundwall, Ruth Rogers and advisor Ruben Meyer. The ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur.

Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Carol Marsh with the invocation offered by Barbara Beaton. Fred Cayia II was master of ceremonies. Banquet co-chairmen were Cindy Frenette and Karin Jetty.

Lockwood To Be Speaker At GOP County Dinner

Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, will be the guest speaker at the annual County Republican dinner May 18. The 6:30 dinner will be served in the St. Francis Parish Center.

Congressman Phil Ruppe of Houghton has indicated he will attend, county chairman John Moffat said. Invitations have also been extended to Rep. Charles Varnum, Acting Lieut. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, Rep. Robert Davis and candidate Robert Hazelton.

Ticket information may be had by contacting Moffat or J. Witter Reid.

Briefly Told

The hot lunch menu Thursday at the Manistique Area Schools will include baked bean and meat casserole, celery sticks, banana cream pie and beverage.

Reunion committee of the MHS Class of 1940 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Elks Club.

State Police are investigating the reported breaking and entering of the J. L. LeDuc home at Indian Lake which occurred April 26. Entry was gained by breaking a window, troopers said. Some liquor and money is reported missing. The incident occurred when the owners were absent for a few hours.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Monday were Linda Gillam, Rae Highlund, Amelia Buss, Antone Farley, Edgar Wood, Peggy King and Robert Swisher.

Discharged were Tonya Kendall, Marvin Fleming, Henry Baker, Janice Burns, Estella Howe, Robert Horrall, William Stephens and Rose Nepper.

'Pollution Kit' May Be Answer To U.S. Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman's offer of a do-it-yourself pollution enforcement kit has brought into being a small army of militant conservationists to do battle in federal courts against industrial stream-foulers.

The kit was assembled by Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., after he uncovered a rarely-used 1899 law banning the discharge of wastes into streams —and invited citizens to start action against polluters and be rewarded with half of any fines that result.

Reuss kicked things off by invoking the law in affidavits filed with U.S. attorneys in Wisconsin alleging violations by 149 firms.

After he announced his action April 2, mail from conservaton-minded citizens began coming in. To reply, Reuss had the kit produced in quantity.

It contains pertinent sections of the 1899 law, a House Committee report further explaining the provisions, directions for invoking it and a list of officials throughout the country.

So far, 338 kits have been sent to inquirers from 35 states and the District of Columbia, Reuss said in an interview. About 50 more went to colleges and organizations.

The 1899 law prohibits discharging refuse—except liquid drainage and sewage—into navigable streams or their tributaries.

"That covers just about every creek," Reuss remarked.

"What I really hope," he said, "is that actions under this law will accelerate efforts by industry to eliminate pollution. I am much more interested in having that happen than in getting fines.

"But as it stands now, most state laws are inadequate and federal actions have resulted in little more than slaps on the wrist."

'Church Pillars' Cited At Dinner

The Bethel Baptist Church hosted their "church pillars" at a turkey dinner Monday night. Guests were members and friends of the church 60 years or older.

Pastor Robert Haring, in the guise of an "old bard," complete with scroll, turban and beard, reminisced in original poetry and song about the early years of the Bethel Church and the contributions of the "pillars." Copies of the presentation were distributed to all in attendance.

Rev. Ingmar Levin, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church, delivered his award-winning Toastmaster speech "You've Got to Laugh, Mrs. Thompson." Music was provided by Carol Beckman, Sandy LaBar, Carol Marsh and Betty Salter, who entertained with a medley of guitar selections, and Mrs. G. Lesile Bouschour who played several accordion melodies.

Ragnar Carlson and Mrs. Freda Brolin were honored as the oldest church members present. Miss Betty Salter presented a framed original charcoal drawing of the church entitled "The Beginning." The first Bethel Church was built in 1889 and was known then as the First Scandinavian Baptist Church.

Program booklet covers were decorated with white silhouettes of the original church.

The 35 "pillars" and other guests viewed a photographic exhibit, spannind several decades, of themselves and their families.

Several photographs were taken during the evening by Pastor Haring and will soon be on display in the church parlors.

Award-Winning Art Exhibits Now On Display

Art students in the Manistique Area Schools have some of their award-winning entries in the Youth Art Salon on exhibit at the Manistique School and Public Library.

The Upper Peninsula Art Teachers Association sponsored a week-long U. P. Youth's Art Salon at Northern Michigan University's Olson Library. The exhibit was climaxed by a reception Saturday for the award winners and their parents.

High school students who received recognition were Russell Musselman, Mary Stoll, Barbara Beaton and Steve Johnson. Area grade school children receiving outstanding excellence awards included Kathy Ostlund and Steve Sabinash, Lakeside School; Boni MacGregoor and Mark Salo, Fairview School; Mike Knopp of Lincoln School; and James Marks, Hiawatha School.

The public is invited to view the exhibit.

If you're interested in a solid career, a "fantastic opportunity" (as one of our men recently described it) and an amount of money that will probably surprise even you — then you're reading in the right place.

We need a man (or woman), and a good one, to serve John Hancock policy owners. How does it pay? Well, we have two men who earned $10,000 in commissions in their first year. And that's only the beginning.

If you'r a doer, mature, educated, have had no previous life insurance sales experience, and are looking for a truly rewarding career (in every sense) with no relocation, then write or give us a call right now.

'Emergency Operation' Slated For St. Louis Housing Project

Editor's Note: "Pruitt-Igoe is the end of the road." That's how one government expert describes the troubled public housing complex in St. Louis. In this article, an urban affairs reporter examines what's wrong and ruinous about Pruitt-Igoe — and the nation's whole public housing program.

By KEN HARTNETT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — That high-rise hell Pruitt-Igoe, a shattered and torn symbol of all that's wrong and ruinous in the nation's public housing program, is about to undergo another emergency operation.

This time, there is a glimmer of hope that the 15-year-old housing project, built at a cost of $36 million, will be, at the least, made livable.

No Guarantees

But no one is guaranteeing anything.

Hopes of the 10,000 residents who survive in the tombstone-like 11-story buildings have been raised before only to be dashed in continuing waves of murder, rape, robbery and unremitting vandalism.

Now, a new coalition of labor, business and civic leaders has taken charge of St. Louis public housing after a rent strike drove the housing authority to the brink of bankruptcy.

May Demolish Homes

The coalition, working in tandem with the tenants themselves, hopes to turn Pruitt-Igoe around, perhaps by thinning out its high density, modifying its design or even demolishing some of its 33 buildings.

The key element in whatever plan evolves will be the tenants themselves.

"The biggest problem in public housing is maintenance, vandalism and security," said the Rev. Kirk Walsh, a Jesuit serving as a special consultant in the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). "And the only ones who can control vandalism are the people who live there. But they must have a say so they can determine what happens there.

Vandalism High

"Unless the people band together, they're not going to get security. Right now it's costing them $1,700 a day in vandalism in St. Louis."

Last year, Pruitt-Igoe endured 10 murders, 14 reported rapes, 129 reported assaults. Gunfire sounded regularly from the half-abandoned project's upper reaches.

The marks of violence are everywhere in Pruitt-Igoe. Far more windows are smashed than remain intact. Heavy steel doors lie crumpled and unhinged. Thick concrete walls are battered through with sledge-hammers. Even the copper flashing protecting the roofs is stripped away.

The vandalism brought disaster last winter—one of the coldest in city history.

Pipes Freeze

Pipes, exposed to the frigid temperatures because of the thousands of broken windows, froze. When they thawed, they cracked and the project was flooded. Heat and power failed.

Scores of families lost their meager possessions as water poured into living rooms, bedrooms and closets.

It was an unusually severe and dramatic emergency, but for residents of Pruitt-Igoe, all of them black and 70 per cent of them on welfare, life is a continuing emergency, dull, depressing and dangerous.

"Pruitt-Igoe is the end of the road," said Miss Elizabeth Wood, a HUD public housing specialist.

Unique In Degree

But Pruitt-Igoe is unique, not in kind, but in degree.

The seeds that produced Pruitt-Igoe have been sown in virtually every major city in America as the poorest of the poor—with no place else to go—are shunted into public housing projects.

Builts beginning in 1952 at a barebones cost of $2,089 per room, Pruitt-Igoe was planned as two projects—one, Pruitt, for Negroes; the other, Igoe, for whites.

A law suit torpedoed the intended black-white separation, but the result was never integration. Instead, Pruitt-Igoe became overwhelmingly black.

Trouble From Start

Charles Farris, who became executive director of the St. Louis Land Clearance and Housing Authority shortly after the project was fully open in 1956, said Pruitt-Igoe was troubled from the start.

The stairways, virtually soundproof, soon became havens for muggers and rapists. They also became public toilets for the thousands of Pruitt-Igoe children unable to get to their apartments in time.

Children—one-half the project's population is under 16—left without recreational facilities, soon found a favorite pastime—sticking the elevators. One variation was to make an elevator door swing open while the elevator was floors above or below.

The unwary could—and did—fall to their deaths.

Paradise For Thieves

Three years after the project opened, the St. Louis Globe Democrat was referring to it editorially as "a paradise for thieves, thugs and rapists and a nightmare for police."

Despite its newness, Pruitt-Igoe was acquiring a reputation as a place to avoid. Its vacancy rate in housing-poor St. Louis climbed to 15 per cent by the fall of 1960. It now stands at 50 per cent.

Trying to maintain the abandoned apartments became an almost impossible task as vandals, undeterred by the police or a frightened resident population, smashed their way inside and looted whatever could be carted away.

Cost Squeeze Tightens

The cost squeeze drew tighter. By 1968, the housing authority disbanded its private security force to save $130,000 a year.

"With all those empty apartments, the project became an ideal place for a dope pusher to get lost," said the Rev. John A. Shocklee, who joined the St. Louis Housing Commission in 1965.

HUD's Miss Wood visited Pruitt-Igoe in 1966 to report on an ill-fated attempt to coordinate federal social services in the project.

In three years, $5 million was spent for social services, but the effort fizzled.

"It became a place to breathe and breed and that was the limit to it," said Father Shocklee.

List Key Aim

The job of abating that rate and uniting Pruitt-Igoe's still warring elements is a key aim of the new St. Louis Civic Alliance for Housing.

Eventually, the alliance, headed by Teamsters official Harold Gibbons, would like to phase out all high-rise family units and create instead a less concentrated pattern of living for those families most in need.

The alliance also hopes someday to turn over the ownership and management of St. Louis's nine projects to tenant cooperatives.

But in the short run, the alliance must first stabilize Pruitt-Igoe, the heaviest drain on the housing authority's resources. Vacancies there cost the St. Louis Authority almost $500,000 in 1968.

Organization Eyed

Efforts are being made to beef up tenant organization and lay the ground work for tenant security patrols. Already, foot patrolmen are back in the project. Before the alliance, they had entered Pruitt-Igoe only in response to emergency calls.

Some plans call for converting some of the 33 buildings to another public use, demolishing others. There is also some sentiment for turning the project into a city within a city—a community that would have ownership as well as rentals, its own stores and churches, and its own elected officials.

The latter idea is favored by Father Shocklee. But he is not sure it would work because he believes that basically the tragedy of Pruitt-Igoe is the tragedy of poverty in America.

"Perhaps we should level it and place a plaque," he said ruefully. 'This was Pruitt-Igoe,' It would be like Hiroshima."

SPARE THE ROD

LONDON (AP)—An organization appropriately named STOPP has complained to the British Education Ministry that corporal punishment still is rampant in British schools despite majority opinion against it.

STOPP stands for the "Society of Teachers Opposed to Physical Punishment." It says some teachers cane pupils, often secretly and without reporting even to their superiors.
